RELIEF FOR EACH FEDERAL TAXPAYER PROVIDED IN NEW REVENUE DRAFT

House Committee to Present to Congress on Dec. 7 Measure for Reductions Totaling $336,236,000.

SOME CHANGES ON FLOOR LIKELY

Chairman Green Confident That Measure Will Be Cleared Before the Christmas Recess.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The tax reduction bill as completed and unanimously approved by the Ways and Means Committee will go to the House providing for an estimated cut of $336,236,000 annually in the Federal tax burden.

The measure, which will be presented to the House on the opening day of Congress, Dec. 7, provides relief for every Federal Taxpayer and through increased personal exemptions would relieve more than a million persons from payment of any Federal tax.

The principal portion of reduction is given to income taxpayers, whose annual burden would be cut by $193,575,000, beginning with taxes to be paid in the next calendar year. Cuts in the normal rates and surtaxes account for most of this.

Chairman Green of the committee is confident that the measure will be disposed of in the House before the Christmas recess. Chairman Smoot of the Senate Finance Committee predicts early action when it reaches that body and leaders hope to have the measure enacted into law by March 1, 15 days before the first income tax payments of the new year are due.

Changes on Floor Likely.

While the bill was framed by the committee on a nonpartisan basis and was given unanimous approval, members reserved the right to press for changes when it is considered on the floor of the House. Fights are expected to be made there against the proposed cuts in the inheritance tax rates, included the provision for a retroactive reduction in this levy, and for repeal of the automobile passenger car tax, which the committee cut from 5 to 3 per cent.

While the revisions voted by the committee are estimated by the Treasury to carry the total reduction $36,236,000 over the figure originally set by the committee, it approved this total after receiving later reports from the Treasury that the surplus this fiscal year would reach $330,000,000, instead of $290,000,000, as first estimated.

The committee voted yesterday to make the revised excise taxes, many of which were repealed, effective upon enactment of the bill into law, and to make the revised occupational levies effective July 1, 1926.

Tax on Operas Eliminated.

The committee voted yesterday to exempt the spoken drama and opera from the 10 per cent admission tax. No other change was made in this levy, which now applies on admissions of more than 50 cents, nor was the tax on dues altered. The exemption agreed upon specifies "spoken drama," which is termed legitimate or standard drama, or an opera, or musical comedy, as distinguished from ephemeral productions of the stage, such as revues, burlesques and extravaganzas.

Chairman Green will call the committee together Dec. 2 to ratify the work of drafting clerks and a subcommittee charged with clearing up some details of the general provisions.

Principal Cuts.

The principal tax-reducing provisions of the now completed bill include:

Reduction of the normal income taxe rates from 2 to 1 per cent on the first $4000 of taxable income; from 4 to 3 per cent on the next $4000 and from 6 to 5 per cent on the remainder.

Reduction of the surtax rates, beginning with incomes of $10,000, so that the graduated scale would have a maximum of 20 per cent applying on the amount of income in excess of $100,000. The present maximum is 40 per cent applying on $500,000 and over.

Increase of personal exemptions from $1000 to $1500 for single persons and from $2500 to $3500 for married persons.

Increase of the amount of income on which the 25 per cent credit for "earned income" is allowed from $10,000 to $20,000.

Repeal of the gift tax, involving $2,000,000 revenue annually.

ITALIANS PILE UP GIFTS TO FUND TO PAY U. S. DEBT

Factory Hands, Unable to Give $1, Contribute Half a Day's Wages.

Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

MILAN, Nov. 24.—Milan has responded in the heartiest way to Premier Mussolini's appeal for contribution of $1,000,000 for war debt payment to America. Everywhere posters urge citizens to give one dollar (25 lire each) and the $1,000,000 will be subscribed several times over by December.

Women's organizations especially are joining in the campaign, stressing their gratitude for Mussolini's support of the women's municipal suffrage bill, which former governments had systematically rejected. Factory hands, who are unable to give dollars, are contributing one-half of a day's wages. In fact, never since the first war loan was launched has Italy shown such wholehearted enthusiasm for shouldering a financial burden. The attitude is quite irrespective of class or party.

Roberto Farinacci, secretary general of the Fascist party, went to Cremona and held a meeting for the benefit of the fund, charging a dollar admission; other Fascist chiefs are following his example. Two points in Fariacci's speech on this occasion are especially interesting.

He expressed worry at the huge numbers asking to become Fascists and stated his intention of making new applicants for Fascist membership cards wait a long time as penance for their former opposition to Fascism.

BESIEGED FRENCH FORCE IN SYRIAN TOWN RELIEVED

Beleaguered in Citadel, Garrison Bombarded Rasheiya, Set Afire by Tribesmen.

By the Associated Press.

BEIRUT, Syria, Nov. 24.—The French post at Rasheiya, west of Damascus, was relieved this afternoon, after its garrison of 250 men had put up a strong defense, holding off several Druse attacks. Beleaguered in the citadel, the French defenders resorted to a bombardment of the town, to which the tribesmen had set fire.

The Druses retired in the direction of Damascus. It is reported that they suffered heavy casualties.

Ten naturalized Americans make their home in Rasheiya, consulate registrations show.

MARSEILLES, France, Nov. 24.—Henry de Jouvenal, new French High Commissioner in Syria, is starting for Beirut today to assume his post.

FAMILY PERMITS TO MAKE WINE ORDERED WITHDRAWN

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—All prohibition permits allowing householders to manufacture annually 200 gallons of wine were ordered withdrawn today.

The action, which was forecast earlier in the week, sweeps aside one of the few remaining practices of pre-prohibition days. There are more than 200,000 of the permits outstanding.

Under the practice, any family could obtain license for the manufacture of fruit juices, other than cider, without payment of tax and without giving bond.

The treasury holds now that the permit granted authority in violation of the Volstead act.

FASCIST SALUTE IN U. S.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—At a luncheon given by the New York Italian Chamber of Commerce, in Hotel Plaza, attended by Count Volpi and other members of the Italian Debt Commission, American citizens yesterday joined with Italian subjects in giving the Fascist salute to Mussolini.

Each time the Premier's name was mentioned the assemblage stood with arms upraised, palms toward the speakers' table and an ovation followed. Recently in an edict Mussolini ordered this salute to be tendered to him as a mark of obedience.

MITCHELL QUITS WITNESS STAND, RETRACTS NONE OF HIS CHARGES

He Defines "Treason" and Gives Examples of "Criminal Neglect" and "Incompetence."

ACCUSES BUREAUS OF BREACH OF TRUST

Planes Still Flaming Coffins, More Dangerous Than Ever, He Answers Army Prosecutor.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—After two days of testimony, during which he reiterated and defended the public utterances leading to his trial, Col. William Mitchell late today was excused from the witness stand in his trial by court-martial.

In the course of a long cross-examination, the accused air service officer maintained that he was right in most details, as well as in general principle, in accusing those in charge of Government aviation of criminal neglect and almost treasonable conduct.

Just as he left the witness stand the Court itself asked him to give a definition of what he meant by "almost treasonable" conduct of the national defense.

"I mean the people have put their trust in the War and Navy Departments to guarantee a proper national defense," he said, "and they have failed in that trust."

Recites Examples.

A few minutes before, under questioning by his counsel, Representative Reid, the Colonel had recited as examples of his meaning the leaving of foreign possessions unprotected; the lack of adequate defense in the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippine Islands, the Panama Canal, Alaska; lack of proper coast protection in the United States, and the allowing of a foreign flight organization to get a foothold in Central America.

The "criminal negligence" charge, he said, covered the sending of the Shenandoah on her disastrous voyage, the absence of adequate meteorological data; obsolete equipment; lack of parachutes; the holding of the 1921 bombing tests 60 nautical miles off shore, and night flying in bad places.

Under the charge of "incompetence," he included the direction of flying activities by non-flying officers, and their inability to direct, which led to the lowering of morale and dissatisfaction.

Taking the witness stand this morning for conclusion of his cross-examination by Maj. Allen Gullion, assistant trial Judge Advocate, the Colonel insisted there had been no increase in safety for the flying men.

Maj. Gullion developed by questioning that the number of flying hours a fatality for the fiscal year 1921 was 934, while for the fiscal year 1925 the number was 5269.

"Doesn't this prove that the safety of flying has increased from 1921 to 1925, inclusive, about 550 per cent?" Maj. Gullion asked.

"It is a very misleading statement," Col. Mitchell replied. "There is no increase in safety. There s a decrease in safety. Our personnel is better trained now than it was in 1921 and flying has been much more restricted. The machines are still flaming coffins."

"Figures Can Be Twisted."

"Do you not know that flying in the United States is twice as safe as it is in Great Britain?" the witness was asked. "No."

"Do you not know that flying in the United States is four times as safe as it is in Italy?" "No. Figures can be twisted, and moreover our pilots are the best in the world. They can fly faulty machines with less danger than other pilots."

"You said in your statement of Sept. 5 that the pilots know they are going to be killed if they stay in the service, using old flaming coffins." "I did."

"What old flaming coffins did you have reference to?"

"D. H's. It constitutes criminal negligence to keep using flying ships of that kind." (The De Havland machine is the one referred to. It is a type developed during the war.)

Col. Mitchel attributed the recent death of Capt. McAvoy at Old Point, Va., who fell with a D. H plane, to faulty equipment, and Maj. Gullion produced the report of the investigating board showing that the machine was flying at a "dangerously low altitude."

Taking up the death of Capt.

COOLIDGE MESSAGE TO TAKE UP WATERWAY DEVELOPMENT

With Convening of Congress Only Two Weeks Away, President Begins Work on It.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINTON, Nov. 24.—With less than two weeks remaining before Congress convenes, President Coolidge today began the actual preparation of his annual message to the exclusion of all but pressing official business.

A wide range of subjects will be discussed in the message, among them being development of inland waterways, which the President has emphasized on several occasions.

The message also will include comprehensive recommendations on the merchant marine problem, although no definite indication has been given as to how far he will go in his suggestions. For his guidance he has the recommendations of H. G. Dalton of Cleveland, who surveyed the situation at his request and recommended, among other things, divorcement of the Shipping Board and Emergency Fleet Corporation.

OPPOSITION OF LAST PRESS FOE BROKEN BY MUSSOLINI

Premier Forces Anti-Fascist Senator Out of the Newspaper Corriere Della Sera.

Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

PARIS, Nov. 24.—The Corriere Della Sera of Milan, the only newspaper in Italy which for months has had the courage to criticise the Mussolini Government, has capitulated before Fascist onslaughts. Attacked frequently by Fascist gangs, suppressed frequently for publishing news the Fascisti objected to, the Corriere continued until yesterday its courageous lone battle.

Mussolini was determined to break it, because it has the largest circulation in Italy. At last he has succeeded. Senator Albertini, an anti-Fascist, was forced out of the newspaper by the Crispi brothers, joint owners. They bought Albertini's interest in the paper, worth 60,000,000 lire.

ERROR HALTS TRIAL OF M'CUTCHAN AT WARRENSBURG

Case Against Four Bank of Ladue Officers Sent Back to Clinton Circuit.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CLINTON, Mo., Nov. 24.—The Bank of Ladue case, charging the officers of the defunct bank with embezzlement, which came up at Warrensburg yesterday, was stricken from the docket and reverted back to this judicial circuit. The four defendants asked for a change of venue and through an error this case was sent to a different judicial circuit.

E. E. Weeks, S. C. Goff, Ralph E. Paige and J. B. McCutchan, the accused, were officers of the Bank of Ladue, charged in 10 indictments with embezzlement and with receiving deposits while knowing the bank was in a failing condition.

FIRE DESTROYS OLD RESIDENCE

Grenshaw Home Was Built Near Springfield, Mo., in 1850.

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 24.—Fire destroyed the picturesque residence of the Crenshaw estate, four miles southwest of this city, Sunday morning, causing damage estimated at $25,000.

Antique furniture valued at $5000 was destroyed in the blaze. The Crenshaw home was erected in 1850 by L. A. D. Crenshaw, who died in 1885. The home was considered one of the best of the old mansions in this section of the State, and received quite a bit of notoriety in the Keet baby kidnaping case here in 1917, as the kidnapers hid the baby's body in a cistern at the Crenshaw home.

COMPLETE RIVER WORK IN 5 YEARS, VALLEY MEN SAY

Demand to Be Made on Congress and the President Will Be Respectfully Urged to Act.

CONVENTION HERE VOICES PURPOSES

Present Traffic Facilities Inadequate and Correlation of All Agencies Must Be Devised.

Basis for the universal demand, by those interested in utilization of rivers for cheap transportation, of completion of all projected waterways improvements in five years and an outline of national benefits which might be expected to accrue, were forcefully presented at the close of the Mississippi Valley Association's convention here today.

This "Statement of Purposes" summed up the views of several hundred business men, civic leaders, traffic experts, engineers, representing 460 organizations in 46 states. Further, in doing so it epitomized probably the most enlightened opinion available on this subject, for these delegates were led by pioneers who have been largely responsible for whatever progress inland water transportation in the United States has made so far.

Two Self-Evident Facts.

"As a premise for the conclusions herein contained, and the demands which we conceive it our just right to make upon our representatives in the Congress of the United States," the statement began, "we assert the following facts, which we believe will be accepted without controversy or dispute by all informed persons:

"1. That adequate and economical transportation is essential to the continued growth and progress of the nation, and hence involves the welfare of the whole people.

"2. That existing transportation facilities are not sufficient in character or extent to insure the uninterrupted and unhampered continuance of the nation's growth and progress.

"These two propositions will appear self-evident to those familiar with the facts.

"Railroad mileage extention throughout the nation is practically at a standstill. Yet progress continues apace until the point of saturation of facilities has about been reached. The nation's commerce is growing at a rate approximately five times greater than its population. From an annual total of 1,000,000,000 tons 25 years ago, it has now reached the astounding figure of 2,500,000,000 tons a year. And that rate of growth continues.

Facilities Now Inadequate.

"In face of these facts, it is obvious that existing facilities must be materially augmented and substantially increased without delay if the nation's progress is to continue and if, indeed, the nation's business is to be saved from the inevitable catastrophe certain to result when our present means of transport are incapable of rendering the service required of them.

"And that time has now arrived.

"This dangerous situation has not been precipitated without warning. It has been foreseen for many years by forward-looking business men and thoughtful railroad executives. Thirteen years ago the late James J. Hill, with prophetic vision, declared:

"'Nature indicates that the commerce ofthe Middle West, with the rest of the world, should be carried in part by the Mississippi River and its navigable tributaries. The burden which the railroad cannot carry will be shared by the waterways. The congestion arising from a steadily increasing volume of commerce will be relieved by turning over a share of the business to the towboats and the barges. Here lies the most practical exit from our national transportation dilemma.'

Congress Not Unmindful.

"Moreover, the Congress of the United States has not been unmindful of the gravity of the situation, although it has been tardy in applying the remedy to relieve it."

Recounting river projects already approved by the Government which "will create the grandest inland navigation system in the world," the statement continued:

"In their present uncompleted state, many of these projects are even now rendering service of incalculable value as evidenced, for example, by the operations of the United States Inland Waterways Corporation, which, though hampered by insufficient facilities and inadequate and undependable cha-

RHINELANDER'S WIFE PLANNED SOCIETY PARTY

Part Negro Bride Was to Have Been Presented to Social Register Group, Witness Testifies.

PLAINTIFF RESTS, WIFE MAY TESTIFY

Counsel Changes Plan to Call Her at Afternoon Session Because of Weakened Condition.

By The Associated Press.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 24.—The plaintiff in the Rhinelander annulment trial rested at 1:30 this afternoon. Alice Beatrice Jones, quadroon defendant in the suit, brought by her husband, Leonard Kip Rhinelander, will not take the witness stand today, as had been planned.

Lee Parsons Davis, defense counsel, said he had intended to call her to testify but that his plans had to be changed becaue of her breakdown last night, following the ordeal yesterday when she appeared, partly disrobed, before the jurors so that they could see the color of her skin. This was done at the request of Davis, who sought to prove that Rhinelander must have known that she was part negress.

Davis made the usual motion that the case be dismissed on the ground of insufficient evidence and asked that the question be withdrawn from the jury.

Case to Go to Jury.

"I'll let it go to the jury,' 'said Justice Morschauser, in denying the motion. He cautioned the jury not to be influenced by his ruling on the motion.

Rhinelander had been recalled to the stand by the defense. He was asked if he and Alice were questioned as to their color by the clerk who issued their marriage license.

"No, he just wrote it down," answered Rhinelander. Alice was described as "white" on the marriage license.

Mrs. Mary Rich, who took the stand for the plaintiff this morning, said that Alice had told her of a surprise party to which Philip Rhinelander, Leonard's father, and other friends of Leonard, selected from the social register, were to be invited. At this party, the marriage was to be announced. The plan, however, fell through when the newspapers published details of the wedding and Leonard left his wife.

Mrs. Rich's testimony was concerned chiefly with what Alice told her during the four days in November when young Rhinelander left her. On the night of Nov. 20, Mrs. Rich said, Leonard called up the Rich home and said:

"I'll never forget your taking care of Alice and helping her like this." On cross-examination, it was brought out that apparently Leonard had left his wife temporarily to avoid notoriety. Alice was under this impression, Mrs. Rich said.

"Questioned as to Alice's color, Mrs. Rich said she thought she was white until recently. "Alice may be nervous and rundown now," Mrs. Rich remarked, "but she was a fine looking girl then. I have seen lots of Spanish senoritas on the stage, but none of them as charming as Alice. Alice led me to believe that because she was a poor girl and dark in color, that the millionaires didn't want her." She did not explain whom she meant by "millionaires."

Mrs. Rich testified that she had dined at the Jones home in December, 1924, in company "with about 20 ladies and gentlemen of very refined appearances."

Isaac N. Mills, counsel for Rhinelander, late today sought to amend the original complaint so as to charge the defendant with defrauding young Rhinelander as to her color through her silence on that question. Mills' request introduced such a knotty legal tangle that Justice Moschauser declined to pass on it until tomorrow. A possibility was seen by some of the legal talent interested in the case that the new issue might cause a mistrial.

INVESTIGATION OF SIDENER'S OFFICE BY GRAND JURY ORDERED

SLAYER AND WIFE HE KILLED IN QUARREL

MRS. JEANETTE WILSON McCULLY.

JOHN M. McCULLY.

Circuit Judge Mix Acts to Ascertain Why Files Are Missing in Many Criminal Cases.

WANTS TO KNOW WHO IS AT FAULT

Enumerates Ten Cases in Which Informations Were Not Issued After Defendants Were Held.

Declaring that official files in 11 criminal cases have been lost or are being withheld by someone without proper and timely prosecution, Circuit Judge Mix this afternoon ordered the grand jury to determine where the blame for such condition lies.

Since it is the province of the Circuit Attorney's office to reissue informations against defendants who have been held in preliminary hearings, or, as an alternative, to present the cases to the grand jury, Judge Mix's order is virtually an instruction for the grand jury to determine the reasons why Circuit Attorney Sidener did not prosecute certain cases.

To this end Judge Mix enumerated 10 cases in which records fail to show that informations were reissued by the Circuit Attorney after the defendants had been bound over in preliminary hearing in the Court of Criminal Correction. The eleventh case enumerated by the Court is one in which the record shows an information was reissued, but withdrawn.

Sidener's Comment on Matter.

Circuit Attorney Sidener and J. Joel Wilson, an assistant, were in court when Judge Mix gave his instruction and returned later to the grand jury room to resume supervision of the investigation of the Ferguson-McKinney failure. Later, however, Circuit Attorney Sidener left the room for a few moment to comment on Judge Mix's charge.

"I was surprised at the failure of Judge Mix to get into the limelight during the past few days," he said sarcastically, referring to publicity given a police investigation of an alleged tipoff system by hangers-on of the Prosecuting Attorney's office. "When he instructed the Grand Jury on traffic problems some time ago his newssnese was poor and he et little publicity. "Let Little Boy Blue Mix blow his horn. No one will hear him. I have a whole brass band in my office. Any times he wants to go to the mat with me on any phase of my management of my office I am ready to meet him.

"Coming down to the issues of the case, it is obvious that I cannot comment specifically on the cases enumerated by the Judge. I do not carry my office records with me. I shall have each case that he named investigated, however, and will be ready to comment more definitely when the investigation is completed.

No Time Limit Set.

"The Judge, as a lawyer, should know, however, that there is no time limit set within which the Circuit Attorney may act, except the statutes of limitations. He should know that it is frequently necessary to supplement the original police investigation by an exhaustive inquiry.

"He should know also that the Circuit Attorney's decision in the handling of prosecutions is absolute. The Circuit Attorney may file an information or refuse to file as he sees fit. He may present a case to the grand jury or refuse to do so as his discretion dictates. He may reissue, after preliminary hearing, or he may decline to do so. He may even nolle pso a case after the grand jury has voted an indictment. All such action is left solely to his discretion, and Judge Mix knows it.

"I may state, however, that there is a good and sufficient reason for delay in every case he has mentioned and those reasons will be brought out as soon as a definite answer can be prepared."

Special Instructions Given.

Judge Mix, who has charge of the grand jury now serving, called the jurors into his courtroom at 2:15 o'clock and gave them special instructions.

"I call your attention," said Judge Mix, "to the fact that it has come to my notice that official files of the court have either through carelessness, inadvertence, by deliberate fault on the part of

FORMER JAILER KILLS HIS WIFE IN VIEW OF CHILDREN

John M. McCully Tells Police Shooting Was Accidental, and Followed Her Threat to Leave Him.

"The Encyclopedia of Love," a pamphlet which John M. McCully thought unfit for his wife to read, caused a domestic quarrel which ended last night when he shot and killed his wife, Jeanette Wilson McCully, 32 years old, as she was about to leave him.

McCully, who is 50, one-time city jailer and until recently a newspaper reporter, declared his revolver discharged accidentally when he flourished it as a "bluff." Their children, Richard, 10, and Charles, 11, witnessed the quarrel and the shooting.

McCully fled immediately from the rooming house at 2753 Cherokee street, where they occupied a housekeeping suite, and telephoned the Soulard Police Station, telling his friend, Lieut. James Moran, that he had shot a man. He waited at the corner until Lieut. Moran arrived in an automobile and then told him what had occurred.

Says Killing Was Accidental.

He led Lieut. Moran back to the house, where Mrs. McCully was found unconscious on the floor, wearing her hat and coat. The landlady had taken charge of the children and a neighborhood physician had been summoned. The revolver lay under a sewing machine with one cartridge discharged. On the way to the city hospital the wife died of a wound in the brain.

McCully made a signed state-

COMMUNITY FUND WORKERS TO SEEK MORE PLEDGES

Although Campaign Ended Officially With Total of $1,602,683, Solicitations Will Boost Sum.

CAMPAIGN HAS SET A NEW RECORD

Aggregate Subscribed Is $150,000 More Than Has Been Given Previously in One Year.

Subscriptions of $1,602,683 were obtained in the fourth annual Community Fund campaign, which officially closed last night with a dinner for workers at Hotel Statler.

This amount, although $246,085 less than the quota of $1,848,768, is $150,000 more than was ever before subscribed for charity in one year in St. Louis. In the 1923 campaign $1,452,000 was raised, and last year the total raised fell short of that amount.

The amount subscribed is expected to be augmented somewhat by pledges obtained by individual workers this week. At last night's meeting many workers had cards of persons on whom they had not called and it was decided to give them opportunity to visit these persons and solicit subscriptions. They will report individually on completing their calls. Elwood Street, director of the fund, said he expected about $40,000 to be obtained this week.

Faces New Deficit.

The 50 charitable agencies in St. Louis and St. Louis County supported by the Community Fund will be provided for about 11 months of this fiscal year by the amount raised, and unless the budget of each is reduced slightly the fund will face a deficit at the end of the year. There was a deficit from last year that was included in this year's budget.

At last night's meeting Daniel K Catlin, chairman of the Community Fund, congratulated workers in the campaign, which started Nov. 13, for their efforts to make the drive a success.

Bert H. Lang, campaign chairman; Thomas Dysart and Judge Thomas C. Hennings spoke briefly, and reports of the chairmen of the various divisions were made as follows: J. Lionberger Davis of the special gifts division, $953,500; Samuel B. McPheeters of the city division, $442,072, or 93 per cent of its quota; Walter B. Weisenberger of the employe division, $201,200, W. H. Henby, county division, $70,-305, and $12,698 for the colored population division.

Contributions of More Than $1000.

Subscriptions of $1000 or more reported at last night's meeting were: Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Knight, $10,000; First National Bank, $9285; Associated Bankers, $6500; National Bank of Commerce, $5893; Famous-Barr Co., $5000; Scruggs - Vandervoort - Barney, $5000; Stix, Baer & Fuller, $5000; Mercantile Trust Co., $4286; Mississippi Valley Trust Co., $3036; Scullin Steel Co., $3000; Joseph H Robles, $3000; Curlee Clothing Co., $3000; Liberty Central Trust Co., $2679; Edwards Whitaker, $2500; Nugent & Bros., $2500; Missouri Portland Cement Co., $2000; Langenberg Hat Co. and employes, $1612; Boatmen's Bank, $1607; Merchants-Laclede National Bank, $1607; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. McElroy, $1530; Mrs. Lilly Busch, $1500; State National Bank, $1429; Lafayette-South Side National Bank, $1250; H. Worthington Eddy, $1012, Stewart McDonald, $1000; Moon Motor Car Co., $1000; Mrs. Annie M. Malone, $1000; Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Lesser, $1000; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Stinde, $1000; Benjamin Gratz, $1000; Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCulloch, $1000, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Duncker, $1000.

DETECTIVE CHIEF SEEKS TO RETAIN WIEDEMEIER'S CASH

An application for a writ of prohibition was made in Circuit Court today by Chief of Detectives Robert Kaiser in an effort to retain possession of the $15,293 "bank roll" of John V. Wiedemeier, accused swindler of women in various cities, missing since his arrest here last month in company with the wife of a Chicago business man.

The petition for the writ is directed at Judge Calvin Miller, of the Court of Criminal Correction, who issued an order Oct. 30, that Wiedemeier's "roll" be turned over to Sheriff Schuler. Judge Miller's order was made at the instigation of the Circuit Attorney's office. Chief Kaiser's petition states that the money is being held as evidence and is also subject to three attachment suits pending in Circuit Court here.

The suit alleges that Judge Miller lacks jurisdiction in the matter and that his order directing the Police Department to turn the money over to the Sheriff usurps the power of the Circuit Court. The application was referred to Judge Franklin Miller for a decision.

Scene of Cave-in, Fatal to One Man

By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

SCENE at Garrison and Laclede avenues where two men were buried in a dirt cave-in shortly before noon today. The first man, who was seriously injured, was being carried away on a stretcher when this photograph was taken. His companion was dead when laborers and firemen uncovered his body an hour and a half after the collapse of the walls of the ditch in which he had been working.

FREQUENT TILTS ENLIVEN MITCHELL COURTMARTIAL

Colonel, Defiant, Protests When Prosecutor Accuses Him of Taking Cues From His Counsel—Reid Threatens Trouble.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
20-23 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Defiant and sulky in turn, Col. William Mitchell of the Army Air Service spent the day yesterday testifying before the courtmartial which for a month has conducted his trial on charges of insubordinate criticising of the administration of the War and Navy departments.

Ever and again his old time defiance would flash forth. The last time was when Maj Allen Gullion, assistant trial judge advocate, who conducted the cross-examination, after asking a question, added: "Now don't look at Mr. Reid to catch the answer."

Representative Frank R. Reid, chief counsel for Col. Mitchell, sprang to his feet to protest, but before he could speak, Col. Mitchell had turned in his chair and was shaking his finger under Maj. Gullion's nose as he angrily protested against the remark.

However, a few moments later, after Maj. Francis Wilby of the general staff had whispered in his ear, Maj. Gullion remarked to the court: "Most of the questions I am going to ask should be answered Yes' or 'No,' and I don't think the accused should get the signals from his lawyer."

Reid Promises Trouble.

Again Reid objected vigorously and told Maj Gullion that "you and I are going to have trouble if you keep repeating that accusation."

The Court made no comment at this time, but shortly afterward, Col Blanton Winship, the law member, took occasion to warn Maj. Gullion to address his remarks to the court and not indulge in any side remarks when asking a question.

These clashes between counsel occurred continuously throughout the day. A result of his by-play was to obscure somewhat the importance of the testimony given by Col. Mitchell. This effect also was obtained by the absence of any remarkably startling statements from the witness. His direct examination lasted only an hour and three quarters and developed nothing new.

The cross-examination had not proceeded far when Col. Mitchell conceded his statements in the newspaper interview which he gave out at San Antonio, Sept. 5, were his opinion and were not statements of fact. Pressed to say on what he based his opinion he said his information was based on his studies and observations.

Thereafter Maj. Gullion referred to this statement of Sept. 5, on which the charges against Col. Mitchell are based, the "factless statement." Reid finally objected and the Assistant Judge Advocate ceased this comment.

Defends Statement.

At mid-afternoon the cross-examination had proceeded to a point where Maj. Guillion asked Col. Mitchell what he meant when he said Sept 5 "these accidents" (referring to the wreck of the Shenandoah and the loss of the PN-9 No. 1 in the Hawaiian flight) "are the direct result of the incompetence, criminal negligence and almost treasonable administration of national defense by the War and Navy Departments."

To enable him to answer more readily, Maj. Gullion asked, "What is treason?"

"There are two definitions," said Col. Mitchell, "the first being that of the Constitution, the other is to give up or betray any trust or confidence.

"I believe that in the departments," Mitchell continued, "the system is almost treasonable in that it does not give the proper place to air power in the organization of national defense which is vital to the country. The question is one of systems and not of individuals."

"Don't you think it is fair to suppose that people would think you meant the criminal offense of treason?" Maj. Gullion asked.

"Yes."

This admission stood out boldly from all the maze of words spoken in the day's testimony.

At the outset Reid said: "In view of the fact that witnesses have proved all of Col. Mitchell's statement 100 per cent, I desire to submit him to a full barrage of cross-examination by anybody in this case."

Col. Mitchell took the oath, after saying he desired to be sworn. The first part of the direct examination was devoted to questions tending to show that Col. Mitchell was an expert in aviation. The witness detailed his army career from the time he entered the service as a private in a National Guard regiment during the Spanish-American War through the time he commanded the largest group of air forces ever combined in the World War. This was at St. Mihiel.

Pershing's Commendation.

Two letters of commendation from Gen. Pershing were read and Col. Mitchell's citations when he received the Distinguished Service Cross and the Distinguished Service medal. He also testified that he had received decorations from France, England and Italy, and had participated in all the major engagements of the war after he went to France in March of 1917.

In his direct testimony Col. Mitchell visualized the next war as one which would see the "elimination of cannon fodder." There would be two parts to it, he said. First, an intensive action by submarines, and second, an air attack on the nerve centers of the country to eliminate its will to fight.

If the aircraft industry was not kept up, Col. Mitchell declared, it would put us in the hands of foreigners when it came to the procurement of aircraft, and that was our condition at the present time. He described the following as the system necessary to protect New York or Washington against attack from the air:

Listening posts in places suitable to determine the nature, size, etc., of the attacking forces. These should be 100 or 200 miles from the nucleus to be attacked and should have aircraft co-operating with them as well as ground listening posts.

A central control board which should be connected with the various listening posts by different means of communication.

Anti-aircraft posts and pursuit aircraft which should be controlled from the central control board.

These three components, said the witness, should be amalgamated. This would involve making provision for the civilian population. "We have never been able to get a scheme like that in this country," he added.

After declaring that the meteorological service was entirely unsatisfactory as far as the air service was concerned, Col. Mitchell discussed aerial torpedoes. He said that an enemy equipped with aerial torpedoes could from a distance of 100 miles hit an area like New York with every torpedo fired from its airship.

INVESTIGATION OF SIDENER'S OFFICE BY GRAND JURY ORDERED

someone, become lost or misplaced or they are being withheld without proper action by someone whose identity you should inquire into."

Judge Mix explained that after a defendant is arrested on a warrant he gets a preliminary hearing in the Court of Criminal Correction. If the evidence justifies the action, the defendant is bound over and the records of the case are then transmitted from the clerk of that court to the clerk of the Circuit Court for Criminal Causes.

Methods of Procedure.

This clerk, in turn, sends the files, or records of the case, to the Circuit Attorney. The latter official, after inspection of the evidence, either may reissue an information against the defendant, or present the evidence to the grand jury for indictment or dismissal.

"In either case, the files should then be turned over to the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Criminal Causes," said Judge Mix.

The Court then enumerated a list of cases, compiled for him, for the first seven months of the year and suggested that the grand jury might complete the record for the other four months of 1924 in the course of its investigation. The cases, and the fault found by Judge Mix in each, are as follows:

Joseph Hufflers, 21, of 3004 Wisconsin avenue, and Carl Winkelmann of 4416 South Compton avenue, bound over on Feb. 2 on charge of first degree robbery for a saloon holdup; no record of reissuance of criminal information by Circuit Attorney.

Others of Cases Cited.

Frank Cooper of 1217 North Fifteenth street, bound over on Feb. 2 on charge of carrying concealed weapon; no reissuance of information.

Andrew Rivers, 32, of 2927 Lucas avenue, bound over on Feb. 9, charge of assault with intent to kill; no reissuance.

Richard Singleton, bound over on Feb. 27, charge of second-degree burglary and larceny; no reissuance.

William E. Johnson, of 4407 boulevard, bound over on March 2, charge of second degree forgery, no reissuance.

John Burns, 18, of 3463 Delmar boulevard, bound over on March 27, charge of rape, no reissuance.

William Mansfield, 72, of 822 North Twelfth street, bound over on April 15, charge of assault with intent to kill; no reissuance.

John Webb, of 112 North Fourteenth street, bound over on April 10, charge of carrying concealed weapon; no reissuance.

Lawrence Birkner, of 1427 Chouteau avenue, held April 22 on charge of second degree burglary and larceny; no reissuance.

Philip Mercurio, 1625 North Sixteenth street, held May 25, charge of rape; no reissuance.

Walter Heil, 31, of 3208 South Grand boulevard, bound over on July 17, charge of felonious carnal knowledge; information reissued by Assistant Circuit Attorney Fish, but later withdrawn.

Record in the Heil Case.

Circuit Attorney Sidener has personally taken charge of reissuance of informations and in the Heil case he has stated that he withdrew the information filed by Fish because he himself had not authorized its filing. The record in that case is now in his office.

"I am of the opinion," said Judge Mix, after reading the list, "that the fault lies against neither of the clerks but against some third party."

In outlining the method of investigation he urged the jury to subpena the defendants in the cases he enumerated, either getting from them a waiver of immunity or promising them freedom from prosecution if the circumstances justified such a step.

MAN KILLED, ANOTHER INJURED, IN CAVE-IN

Workers on Excavation for New School Buried Under Tons of Dirt.

A laborer was killed and another seriously injured when the walls of a ditch in which they were working caved in shortly before noon today, on the site of a new school for negroes at Garrison and Laclede avenues.

The man who lost his life was George Connelly, 42 years old, of 4126 North Broadway, secretary of the building laborers' local union. He was working in a ditch about 15 feet deep when it caved in, burying him and Robert Bell, 50, of 4161 Blaine avenue.

Bell was removed within 45 minutes and taken to city hospital suffering from internal injuries. Connelly's body was removed 45 minutes later and a pulmotor was used, but to no avail. Firemen and laborers joined in the relays which dug feverishly to rescue Connelly, whose body was completely buried.

Col. Mitchell Finishes Testimony, Quits Stand

David W. Bedringer, medical corps, killed in a D. H. plane at Fort Riley, Kan., in November, 1924. Maj. Gullion read the official report of the investigating board, which said the accident was caused by the machine going into a tail spin at a low altitude and that there was no evidence of mechanical or structural failure of the craft.

"It burned up when it hit the ground," Col. Mitchell said, "and that showed faulty construction."

The prosecution then referred to the death of Lieut. Noble B. Beasley at Kelly Field, Tex., in May, 1924, reading official reports saying the accident was due to a tail spin and an inexperienced pilot.

"He was in a D. H. airplane," the witness said. "Another plane would not have stalled so quickly. That is the plane we have been trying to get rid of. It is an extremely dangerous and hazardous ship to fly."

Among other fatalities referred to were those of Lieut. Arthur G. Watson and Staff Sergt. Otto Hansen in Costa Rica. They met death in a DH plane but the official report showed the machine struck a building and a live electric wire as it fell.

Another Example, Says Colonel.

"Another example of a flaming coffin," was Col. Mitchell's comment.

"Did you ever hear of a nearly-all metal automobile catching on fire after a collision?" Maj. Gullion asked. "Yes."

"Was not the collision then responsible for the fire?" "Not necessarily."

In the fiscal year 1924, Maj. Gullion read from records, there were two fatal accidents due to power plant failures in aircraft; 57.7 per cent were due to errors in judgment; four accidents due to structural failures; one to weather condition and four to undetermined causes.

Col. Mitchell then was asked regarding the charge he had made that air officers had been "bluffed and bulldozed" so they did not dare tell the truth to congressional committees.

"I refer to myself principally," he replied. "I was bluffed and bulldozed."

"Did you tell the truth?" "Yes, but other officers were afraid to tell the truth."

Taking up Col. Mitchell's charge that aviation policies are dictated by nonflying officers, Maj. Gullion remarked that four of the six members of the joint army-navy aeronautical board were flyers or had qualified as observers.

Recalling the Colonel's charge that officers who tell the truth before Congressional Committees are punished by being transferred to out of the way places, Maj. Gullion asked: "Were you sent to an out of the way place?" "I certainly was. I might add I had no command at San Antonio, at all."

Questioned About Book.

The examination was switched to Col. Mitchell's book, "Winged Defense." The witness said he had written the book and Maj. Gullion then offered in evidence a copy of a lecture made at the Army War College by Capt. Thomas E. Hart of the Navy. The purpose, the major said, was "to show that parts of this book, by which the accused is making money, was cribbed." A defense objection was sustained.

The Presidential Air Board came in for a passing blow as the cross-examination continued. Col. Mitchell said he did not believe the board's investigations lasted long enough to get rid of political influences.

Maj. Guion asked whether the witness knew "that the recommendations you made, and which were carried out, cost the Government $6,299,278?"

"It was money well spent," replied Col. Mitchell.

Col. Mitchell explained that he had not stated that the Shenandoah was 50 per cent overweight but had only expressed a "belief" that this was so. His "belief" was based on engineering data.

He testified also it was his belief that the repairs made on the dirigible after it had broken away from its mooring mast at Lakehurst failed to strengthen the structure as the prosecution had indicated.

RELIEF FOR EACH FEDERAL TAXPAYER IN REVENUE BILL rates from a maximum of 40 per cent to 20 per cent and nullification of the increased rates carried in the 1924 act, restoring the lower 1921 rates pending enactment of the new bill.

Excise Taxes to Be Repealed.

In addition to the reduction in the automobile passenger car tax, involving an estimated loss of $46,-400,000 annually, the committee voted for repeal of the following excise taxes:

Automobile trucks, yielding $9,-000,000 a year; automobile tires and accessories, $25,000,000; cameras, $700,000; photographic films and plates, $750,000; firearms and ammunitions, except pistols, $3,850,000; smokers' articles, $50,-000; coin-operated machines, $450,-000; mah jongg sets, $1000; works of art, $650,000; jewelry, $8,000,-000.

The committee also approved elimination of the following occupational taxes:

Brokers, yielding $2,000,000; billiard room and bowling alley proprietors, $2,100,000; shooting galleries, $18,000; riding academies, $12,000; automobiles for hire, $1,-750,000; tobacco manufacturers' tax, $1,120,000; and yachts and motorboats, except foreign built, $200,000.

The tax on physicians dispensing narcotics was cut from $3 to $1 annually, and the levy on deeds and conveyances was reduced from 50 cents for each $500 transaction to 25 cents, the former involving an annual loss of $212,000 and the latter $2,000,000.

Reductions in the cigar taxes would cut revenue from this source $12,000,000 annually and $4,000,-000 will be lost to the Government next year if the progressive reduction in the alcohol tax is approved by Congress, this provision calling for a 25 per cent cut each year for two years.

ASPIRING AUTHOR HELD AS BIGAMIST

Ralph Lucas, Wed to Stenographer After Three Days' Acquaintance, Arrested.

"Where the West Ends," a "red-blooded novel," now being written by Ralph Lucas, has caused him no end of trouble. Besides the difficulties of composition, he has to put up with stenographers who didn't know spelling and grammar.

Two months ago he arrived in St. Louis, fresh from Oklahoma, where he had gone to accumulate local color for his novel. On Sept. 25 he met Miss Geneva Peacock, 20 years old, and a perfect amanuensis. They got along so well together that they went to East St. Louis three days later and were married at the First Methodist Church, the Rev. Dr. J. H. Cullipp officiating.

In the bride's home town, Quincy, Ill., her 64-year-old father, Perry Obadiah Peacock, received the news with misgivings. He is of a past generation and he views three-day courtships with suspicion. Laying aside his carpenter's tools, and turning detective, he came here. In applying for a marriage license, Lucas had given Glen Echo, St. Louis County, as his address. Peacock investigated there and learned Peacock and a woman had occupied a residence until shortly before his marriage to Miss Peacock.

This woman was trailed to Alton and proved to be Mrs. Catherine Smith Lucas, who claims to be Lucas' first and undivorced wife. On her statement a warrant charging Lucas with bigamy was issued. He admitted living with the complainant for several years, but asserted they were not married and that they had an understanding each could quit the other when he or she pleased.

Lucas, who is 24 years old, and an automobile salesman when not inspired to authorship, waived a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Lauman in East St. Louis yesterday and was released on $1,000 bond.

LIQUOR RAID 'TIP-OFF' EVIDEN UP TO SIDEN

Chief of Police to Ask cuit Attorney to P Testimony of Leaks fore Grand Jury.

MAN NAMED AS DISPENSER SOUG

Prosecuting Attorney Ta Steps to Prevent Loi ers at His Office Fr Seeing Search Warran

Chief of Police Gerk announ today that testimony as to le in information on issuance liquor search warrants from Prosecuting Attorney's off would be placed before the Cir Attorney, with a request that be presented to the grand jury.

Circuit Attorney Sidener promised to hear the matter soon as the pending Ferguson-Kinney case will permit.

Prosecuting Attorney Schwe ner, who has charged previou that if any leak existed, it was the Police Department, said day that his office arrangeme would be changed, to prev loiterers from seeing the sea warrants in course of preparati on the desks of his stenographe He has also ordered that Sa Goffstein, whom the police a seeking as a dispenser of tip-offs to liquor sellers, and Fr Black, a negro hanger-on Schweitzer's office, be kept out the office in future.

The Prosecuting Attorney e pressed full confidence in his a sistant, Frank Fania, who in charge of search warrants, and the issuance of warrants and informations against liquor-law v lators. Fania's action in cancel ing a liquor warrant against Jo Tadoni because he held that search warrant had not been use promptly enough, precipitated t present investigation, as was to yesterday.

Two Arrests in Case.

Black, a former city janitor, wh says he was employed and paid b Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer personally for errands and od jobs, and who had had the fro dom of the Prosecutor's office, was arrested yesterday afternoon, after he had gone to Tadoni's saloon at 4102 Shenandoah avenue to talk to Tadon about the affidavit which Tadon furnished to the police. In the affidavit Tadoni said he paid Goffstein $100 for "fixing" the case against him and promised Black $25 for supposed services in the same matter.

Black, when questioned after his arrest, said he did not get the profits from any irregularities. He was released on bond, as was Louis Grossi, a white saloon keeper and professional bondsman, who went to Tadoni's place yesterday with Black and was arrested there. Suspected extortion" in the entr against both.

Attempts to place pressure o Tadoni, to get a retraction of hi affidavit, began as soon as the mat ter became known yesterday, an before the arrests or newspaper publication of the case.

Ernest Trova, superintendent o the King Bee Spark Plug Co., 250 Cass avenue, went to Tadoni place at noon yesterday and to Tadoni that his $100 would be re turned if Tadoni would retract th statement in his affidavit. Police men took Trova to the Magnoli station, and he made an affidav and was released without bond. I the affidavit, Trova said that h went to Tadoni at the request o one John Crepo, a truck driver. Th said Crepo had not told him wha Tadoni's affidavit was about, an that he did not know that any un lawful act was involved.

Detectives Stop Argument.

After they were through wit Trova, the detectives working o the case went back to Tadoni place, found Black and Gross there, arguing with him, and ar rested both.

Tadoni, as told yesterday, was raided Nov. 7, on a search warran issued four days before, but re dated the seventh by authority o the clerk's office, of the Court o Criminal Correction. Another search warrant had been obtained on the sixth, and it was used in a second raid on the ninth. Thous whisky was found in the first raid Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Fania canceled the warrant which he prepared against Tadoni, giving as a reason that the first search warrant had not been used within a reasonable time. His superior Schweitzer, upholds him in this ac tion.

Details of Affidavit.

Tadoni, in his affidavit, says that on the afternoon of Nov. 3, he was informed by telephone that the search warrant for his place had been issued, and was warned to hide his stock of liquor, which he did until the 7th. After the raid on that day, he says Goffstein called on him and told him he had sent the tip and that he would "fix" his case for $150. Tadoni said he paid Goffstein $100, but decided that he should not have done so, and went to look for him on Nov. 10, found him in the Prosecuting Attorney's office.

LIQUOR RAID 'TIP-OFF' EVIDENCE UP TO SIDENER

Chief of Police to Ask Circuit Attorney to Place Testimony of Leaks Before Grand Jury.

MAN NAMED AS DISPENSER SOUGHT

Prosecuting Attorney Takes Steps to Prevent Loiterers at His Office From Seeing Search Warrants.

Chief of Police Gerk announced today that testimony as to leaks in information on issuance of liquor search warrants, from the Prosecuting Attorney's office, would be placed before the Circuit Attorney, with a request that it be presented to the grand jury.

Circuit Attorney Sidener has promised to hear the matter as soon as the pending Ferguson-McKinney case will permit.

Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer, who has charged previously that if any leak existed, it was in the Police Department, said today that his office arrangements would be changed, to prevent loiterers from seeing the search warrants in course of preparation, on the desks of his stenographers. He has also ordered that Sam Goffstein, whom the police are seeking as a dispenser of tip-off news to liquor sellers, and Fred Black, a negro hanger-on of Schweitzer's office, be kept out of the office in future.

The Prosecuting Attorney expressed full confidence in his assistant, Frank Fania, who is in charge of search warrants, and of the issuance of warrants and informations against liquor-law violators. Fania's action in cancelling a liquor warrant against John Tadoni because he held that a search warrant had not been used promptly enough, precipitated the present investigation, as was told yesterday.

Two Arrests in Case.

Black, a former city janitor, who says he was employed and paid by Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer personally for errands and odd jobs, and who had had the freedom of the Prosecutor's office, was arrested yesterday afternoon, after he had gone to Tadoni's saloon at 4102 Shenandoah avenue to talk to Tadoni about the affidavit which Tadoni furnished to the police. In the affidavit Tadoni said he paid Goffstein $100 for "fixing" the case against him and promised Black $15 for supposed services in the same matter.

Black, when questioned after his arrest, said he did not get the profits from any irregularities. He was released on bond, as was Louis Grossi, a white saloon keeper and professional bondsman, who went to Tadoni's place yesterday with Black and was arrested there. "Suspected extortion" is the entry against both.

Attempts to place pressure on Tadoni, to get a retraction of his affidavit, began as soon as the matter became known yesterday, and before the arrests or newspaper publication of the case.

Ernest Trova, superintendent of the King Bee Spark Plug Co., 2504 Cass avenue, went to Tadoni's place at noon yesterday and told Tadoni that his $100 would be returned if Tadoni would retract the statement in his affidavit. Policemen took Trova to the Magnolia station, and he made an affidavit and was released without bond. In the affidavit, Trova said that he went to Tadoni at the request of one John Crepo, a truck driver. He said Crepo had not told him what Tadoni's affidavit was about, and that he did not know that any unlawful act was involved.

Detectives Stop Argument.

After they were through with Trova, the detectives working on the case went back to Tadoni's place, found Black and Grossi there, arguing with him, and arrested both.

Tadoni, as told yesterday, was raided Nov. 7, on a search warrant issued four days before, but redated the seventh by authority of the clerk's office, of the Court of Criminal Correction. Another search warrant had been obtained on the sixth, and it was used in a second raid on the ninth. Though whisky was found in the first raid Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Fania canceled the warrant which he prepared against Tadoni, giving as a reason that the first search warrant had not been used within a reasonable time. His superior, Schweitzer, upholds him in this action.

Details of Affidavit.

Tadoni, in his affidavit, says that on the afternoon of Nov. 3, he was informed by telephone that the search warrant for his place had been issued, and was warned to hide his stock of liquor, which he did until the 7th. After the raid on that day, he says Goffstein called on him and told him he had sent the tip and that he would "fix" his case for $150. Tadoni said he paid Goffstein $100, but decided that he should not have done so, and going to look for him on Nov. 10, found him in the Prosecuting Attorney's office.

affidavit says, "and I told Goffstein that I wanted my money back. He said to me, 'You'll get hell. What do you want me to do, pay it back out of my own pocket?' He turned and walked away from me. I have not been able to see Goffstein since that time.

"On Nov. 7, about 9:20 p. m., a colored man by the name of Freddie Black came to see me and told me he could fix everything for me for $75. I did not talk to Black about the matter and did not see him until Nov. 17, when he came out to my place and told me he had everything 'fixed' and for me to pay him $35. I told him I would pay him Nov. 24. I went to Court on Nov. 12, the date my bond was returnable, and Black told me that I did not have to answer on my bond and for me to go home and that it was not necessary for me to come back at all, that everything was fixed."

Prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer, expressing resentment of the course taken by police officials in the Tadoni matter, remarked today that the police ought to clean up the seventh police district, in which the Tadoni establishment is located. He declared that conditions in that police district, as to the sale of liquor, were bad, and said he would undertake to clean it up himself, if the Sheriff would furnish him a few deputies.

FORMER CITY JAILER KILLS HIS WIFE IN VIEW OF CHILDREN

ment to the police and today repeated his story to a Post-Dispatch reporter, at Wyoming Station, reiterating that the shooting was an accident.

"I found the pamphlet on love in the room two or three days ago," he reated. "It was vulgar, filthy stuff. I rebuked my wife for reading it, and last night I asked her where she got it. She told me a woman across the hall had loaned it to her.

Tells of Threat to Leave Him.

"She said: 'If you ask her about it, I'll leave you this minute.' I went across and brought the neighbor over. She said she had never seen the pamphlet. After she left my wife exclaimed: 'That's a nice thing to ask a decent woman about.' Then she put on her hat and coat.

"'You're not going to leave me with these two children,' I said. She was standing at the door. I reached in the dresser drawer and pulled out the revolver. I swung it around and exlcaimed, 'You're not going.' Then it went off, and she collapsed and one of the children screamed, 'Daddy's shot mama.'"

Stories of Heavy Drinking.

Other roomers in the Cherokee street house said today that McCully had been drinking heavily for some time and frequently abused his wife. Mrs. Mildred Newton, who lives in the house, told detectives that Mrs. McCully appeared in her room last night and exclaimed: "Mac got some more whisky today and he is quarreling again. He's been drunk for three days. I'm going home to my mother."

Mrs. McCully's parents, who live at 6141A Michigan avenue, claimed her body and took charge of the children. Police said a man who declared himself her brother called at Wyoming Street Station late last night and begged to be admitted to McCully's cell. "I want to kill that drunken fool," he [illegible] he explained. He was persuaded to go home.

McCuly is a native of Louisville, Ky., and had been married previously. He was appointed city jailer in 1917 by Director of Public Welfare John Schmoll, and was removed in July, 1921, when Nelson Cunliff became director.

ACCUSED OF POISONING HER NEIGHBOR'S DOG

Mrs. W. E. Rolfe Says Arrest Is Due to Spite Work in Denying the Charge.

Mrs. William E. Rolfe, 49 years old, of 3542 Sidney street, arrested yesterday on a warrant charging her with poisoning a neighbor's prize bulldog, denied last night, following her release on $800 bond, that she had had anything to do with the animal's death.

She is the wife of the associate of the President of the Board of Public Service. The owner of the dog and prosecuting witness is her next door neighbor, Mrs. Edna Farmer, of 3540 Sidney street. The case is the first in many years in which the statute against poisoning of domestic animals and fowls has been invoked here.

Mrs. Farmer charges that on Oct. 10 last Mrs. Rolfe threw into her yard scraps of meat which subsequent analysis proved to contain poison. Her bull terrier, valued by her at $150, died after eating the meat, she said. So did 15 Buff Orpington chickens.

The viscera of the bulldog was examined by a chemist and found to contain quantities of the same poison discovered in the meat, Mrs. Farmer said. With this evidence she obtained the warrant. Mrs. Rolfe's bond was signed by her husband.

"It's all spite work," Mrs. Rolfe said. "We had complair t of the barking of Mrs. Farmer's dog and when it died she blamed i on me."

Poisoning of domestic animals and fowls is a felony punishable by imprisonment ranging from six months in jail to three years in the penitentiary, or a fine of not less than $250, or jail sentence not less than three months coupled with a fine of not less than $100.

Quits Department Store Post.

Mrs. Olive M. Thornton, who has been a foreign and domestic buyer in a number of departments of the Stix, Baer & Fuller Dry Goods Co. for the last 20 years, has resigned to rest. She has made frequent purchasing trips to Europe for the department store. Her home is at 1028 Claytonia terrace, Richmond Heights.

RICH SPORTSMAN WEDS AFTER BEING HELD IN SCANDAL

Peaceful British Village of Uckfield Stirred by Accusations of Witnesses Against Hayley Morriss.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The peaceful countryside of Western Sussex, and particularly the village of Uckfield, is stirred by the scandal which has come from Pippingford Park, country mansion of Hayley Morriss, wealthy landowner, connoisseur of dogs and motor cars, and "gentleman of leisure."

Morriss, who is 37 years old, is under $50,000 bail, and his pretty housekeeper-bride, Madeleine Roberts Morriss, 20, is under $1500 bail, to answer charges of six girls, still in their teens—charges which grow out of a brief advertisement which appeared occasionally in London papers last summer.

"Young girls of gentle birth required to look after large dogs in the country," the advertisement said. "Experience unnecessary; common sense essential."

Five of the complainants answered the advertisement and were given posts in the big rambling country home. The sixth was Miss Roberts' young sister, who created a sensational scene when she accused her sister in the police court at Uckfield at a preliminary hearing where the grave charges were outlined before a throng of startled villagers.

Wedding Followed Charges.

On that occasion Miss Roberts was described merely as Morriss' "housekeeper." At the next hearing, two days later, she was his wife. They had slipped off quietly the day before and, with grave charges over their heads, had married.

The charges against the pair are the result of a slow, painstaking investigation by Scotland Yard operatives, who came into the case at the request of the parents of a Miss "W," now 18 years old, who is one of the complainants.

Miss "W," who was passionately fond of animals, answered the "ad" and in an interview with Morriss and Miss Roberts, in a London apartment, was employed "to help with the cooking." She was at Pippingford Park barely 48 hours when she frantically telephoned her parents in London. She fled from the house and a police officer, sent to investigate, found her wandering in a country lane.

The other complaints were much the same. Each girl accused Morriss and each, in response to questions, declared that Miss Roberts "knew all about it."

Wife's Sister Testfies.

Miss Roberts' sister was the last of the girls to take the stand in the Uckfield Public Hall where the hearing was held. Her testimony moved her sister almost to tears and after the girl had left the stand, the elder sister collapsed and was carried from the courtroom.

At the hearing, Morriss was described as a man of "great possessions." The Public Prosecutor spoke of his years in China as a mining engineer, of his 1000-acre estate, his mansion, and his many motor cars. He mentioned the fact that Morriss' brother is a wealthy sportsman and owner of the last Derby winner.

Mrs. Morriss is the daughter of a London undertaker. Her name was Elisa Phyllis Thornton Ward Roberts before she began a short career in the London music halls and changed it to "Madeleine Roberts." Her mother accompanied her as a witness and she and Morriss motored into Uckfield to be married.

BRYN MAWR SETS ASIDE OLD RULE AGAINST SMOKING

One Room in Each Dormitory Provided for Practice at Request of Student Body.

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24.—Bryn Mawr College has abrogated an old rule against students smoking and set aside one room in each dormitory for the use of those girls who desire to indulge in the practice.

This action was taken at the request of the Self-Government Association in response to a petition presented to President Marion Edwards Parks last week.

"This does not mean that all students are smokers," said Miss Francis Jay, of New York, president of the Self-Government Association, in a statement. "A questionnaire sent out showed that many supporters of the change were not themselves smokers and that in fact, less than half of the student body smoked."

"The conduct of the students at Bryn Mawr," said a formal statement issued by President Parks, "has always been in the hands of the Self-Government Association and the regulations of the association have been based on the public opinion of the moment. Such public opinion in a college democracy is controlled in larger matters by conscience and in lesser matters by convention. * * *

"I agree with the overwhelming majority of the Self-Government Association, a majority made up of many students who do not smoke themselves or wish to smoke, that no democracy can keep on its books a regulation which stands apart from its other regulations in that it is no longer resting solidly on intelligent public opinion."

2 Kansas Students Killed in Auto.

NEWTON, Kan., Nov. 24.—Dan C. Martin and Harvey C. Krey of Sylvia, Kan., students on their way home from the University of Kansas, were killed near here late yesterday when their motor car struck the railing of a bridge, plunged down a steep embankment and caught fire. Two companions, W. H. Shepard and Kenneth M. Maughley, also of Sylvia, escaped uninjured.

WARRANTS ISSUED IN MURDER CASE AFTER FIVE YEARS

William R. Jacobs, Ex-Convict, and Man He Accuses Charged With Killing Jacob Krause in Store

Warrants charging two men with a murder five years ago were issued yesterday after Police Captain Patrick Kirk of the Soulard Street District had obtained a confession from one of the alleged participants in the crime.

The murder was that of Jacob Krause, 64 years old, who was found dead in his men's furnishing store at 600 Chouteau avennue on Sept. 27, 1920. His skull had been crushed by an iron bolt which lay on the floor beside his body.

It was just six years before the murder that William R. Jacobs had been sent to the penitentiary for five years for striking a storekeeper at Fourth and Convent streets with a hatchet. The circumstances of the attack were so similar to the Krause case that Capt. Kirk decided to watch for Jacobs. So did Patrolman Otto F. Sellee who walked the beat past Krause's store.

Monday morning at Second and Trudeau streets Patrolman Selle met Jacobs and recognized him, even though Jacobs had grown a mustache since his release from the penitentiary. Jacobs was taken to the Soulard street district and after a short examination admitted that he had witnessed the murder of Krause.

He said he had gone to Krause's store with Henry Plouder, 37 years old, who intended to ask Krause for money. When the storekeeper refused to give it, Plouder struck him down and robbed the till, Jacobs said. Jacobs left town after the murder, served an enlistment in the army as a cook and returned recently. He has been operating a restaurant on South Broadway.

On the strength of his statement Plouder was arrested at 1128 South Fourth street where he has been living in the same house with Jacobs' wife. He denied Jacobs' story of the killing. Jacobs declared he was not jealous of Plouder and asserted he had not tried to communicate with his wife since the murder. He is 29 years old. Within a few days Jacobs will go before the grand jury to repeat his story.

FAME FOR ARTIST WHO SOLD PRINCESS FRIED POTATOES

Portrait Hung in Paris Salon Brings Fortune to Humble Home.

Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Cos. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

PARIS, Nov. 24.—Fame and wealth have come to a Montmartre artist who until a few years ago sold fried potatoes for a living. Emile Boyer had talent, perhaps genius; but he did not know it until one day a friend told him one of his pictures, which he had painted for his own amusement, was exhibited for sale at the gallery of a prominent Paris art dealer.

Boyer visited the dealer. Though the picture was signed with a pseudonym, "Utrillo," the painter persuaded the skeptical dealer to go with him to his tumble-down store. The dealer purchased a dozen landscapes which Boyer had painted while not serving customers fried potatoes.

Prosperity had come to the Ilt-Montmartre home, but fame came later, only through the caprice of a Princess.

One day Princess Lucian Murat became hungry while wandering up and down the steep streets of the romantic old hill and stepped into Boyer's shop. She asked for a "nickel's korth of 'pommes frites,'" which the artist gallantly served on a silver platter. The Princess looked around in wonder at the pictures nailed on the wall and ended by arranging to have Boyer paint her portrait.

That portrait was hung in last autumn's salon and made Boyer's fortune. He has three studios now and cannot execute all the orders received from society folk.

$16,000 DAMAGE IN SIX-HOUR FIRE AT ICE STORAGE PLANT

Policeman Injured by Fire Chief's Auto at Blaze at Broadway and Thatcher Street.

Fire of undetermined origin, discovered at 10:05 o'clock last night at a branch storage plant of the Polar Wave Ice and Fuel Co., Broadway and Thatcher street, burned until 3:50 a. m. today, causing damage estimated by Fire Chief Alt at $16,000. Three alarms were turned in.

Patrolman Frank Zimmer, 42 years old, of 402 De Soto avenue, attached to the Magnolia Street District, suffered a fracture of the left ankle when he was struck by Chief Alt's automobile as he was running across the street at the scene of the fire. He was taken to his home.

DOUMER TO TRY TO FORM CABINET; BRIAND REFUSES

Foreign Minister Under Painleve to Make Reply to President Doumergue's Request in 24 Hours.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—Senator Paul Doumer today accepted "in principle" President Doumergue's request that he form a cabinet, saying he would reply definitely within 24 hours.

Senator Doumer said that if he finally accepted, he would take the finance portfolio in addition to the premiership, while M. Briand would remain as Foreign Minister.

Aristide Briand, seven-time premier of France, previously had definitely declined to form a cabinet in succession to the fallen Painleve ministry, in which he was foreign minister. Then, on his recommendation, President Doumergue summoned Senator Doumer, former finance minister, to the Elysee Palace.

Senator Doumer sits for Corsica in the upper chamber of parliament. In 1906 he made an unsuccessful campaign for election as president of the republic, being defeated by M. Fallieres. He was minister of state and member of the war council in M. Painleve's cabinet in 1917. Early in 1921 he took the portfolio of finance in M. Briand's seventh cabinet. For five years (1897-1902) he was governor general of French Indo-China. He was born at Aurillac and is 68 years old.

Three of Senator Doumer's five sons were killed in the war. After the war he wrote a very poignant volume called "The Book of My Sons." He also is the author of a work on Indo-China. His wife was Mlle. Blanche Richel. They had eight children.

Briand's refusal was announced after the Socialists declined to participate in a Government headed by Briand.

The decision of the Socialists was reached by the party's Executive Committee after it had heard M. Blum and M. Paul Boncour, its leaders, outline Briand's offer of three posts in the new Cabinet for members of the party, of which the occupants would have been M. Blum, M. Paul Boncourand Jean Locquin.

The Socialists now oppose Doumer, declaring they will be hostile to any Government which does not advocate a levy on capital.

The Oldest and Largest Trust Department of Any National Bank in the United States

THERE are sound reasons why the Trust Department of the National Bank of Commerce has grown to its present proportions . . . Men seeking the best advice and service during their lifetimes, and the utmost protection in the administration of their estates, look with confidence on the federal supervision, which applies as much to the trust department of a national bank as it does to any other department.

They also realize that the stockholders of a national bank are not only liable to its clients for the amount of stock which they own in the bank—but under national banking laws are also liable for twice that amount. Unlikely as it is that a large national bank could suffer enough severe reverses to make action against its stockholders necessary, the double protection is still there should such a contingency arise.

Trust funds at "Commerce" are not invested in securities in the sale of which the bank or its affiliated company, The Federal Commerce Trust Company, have any interest. They are administered separately from the other funds of the bank by thoroughly experienced trust officials.

The large number of new estates placed in the hands of the Trust Department of the National Bank of Commerce during the last year attest its reputation and experience as an administrator.

The oldest and largest trust department of any national bank in the country invites inquiry relative to fiduciary affairs.

POLICEMAN SHOT IN $50,000 HOLDUP

Auto Carrying Money From One Bank to Another Robbed in Chicago.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Six men today held up an automobile carrying money from the Drovers' National Bank to the Federal Reserve Bank, shot and probably fatally wounded Policeman Patrick O'Shea and escaped with two chests containing more than $50,000 in mutilated currency which was to be exchanged for new bills.

Two of the men were believed to have been wounded by O'Shea, and Louis Grebe, driver of the car. O'Shea was shot through the head before he had drawn his revolver, according to Charles O'Neill, teller in charge of the money, who, with Edward Edwards, a messenger, and Henry Postena, a clerk, also occupied the car.

Boy, 14, Chief Witness.

John Kubilius, 14 years old, stood on the sidewalk across the street while the holdup was in progress and, despite bullets which were raining about him, calmly took note of the number of the robber's car, the appearance of the men and other details. He told police that all of the men were young and well dressed and that after seizing the money chests, two of them carried them off while their four companions acted as a rear guard and continued to fire into the bank car.

When the robbers' car first appeared and pulled in front of the car carrying the money, those in charge believed they were being stopped by a squad from the detective bureau, and called out: "Don't shoot! We are bank messengers!"

"We know it," retorted one of the robbers. "Hold up your hands." Confronted by leveled revolvers, the occupants of the bank car obeyed.

Policeman Shot First.

Then Grebe, beside whom the policeman was riding, said one of the robbers calmly poked a revolver through the glass inclosure of the driver's seat and fired at O'Shea.

O'Shea promptly drew his weapon and fired once before toppling from the seat. Immediately shooting became general and two of the robbers advanced, seized the money chests and fled back. One was seen to fall and was picked up by his companions. Another was seen holding his hand from which blood was streaming.

WATERWAYS BILL AUTHOR TELLS OF LOSSES BY DELAY

Stephen G. Porter Declares That Failure to Complete Ohio Project Has Cost $19,000,000.

RECKONS INTEREST ON INERT CAPITAL

Pittsburg Congressman and Others Address Mississippi Valley Association Convention.

Failure to complete improvement of the Ohio River, because of a niggardly Government policy toward waterways, has resulted in a $19,000,000 loss to Government and taxpayers figured on a basis of 4.5 per cent interest on the capital already spent and held unproductive, Congressman Stephen G. Porter of Pittsburg said today in an address, which opened the second and closing day of the Mississippi Valley Association's convention at Hotel Statler.

This, Representative Porter added, was paralleled by proportionate losses on inert capital tied up in other unfinished waterways. He is sponsor of the Porter bill for a $204,000,000 bond issue for completion of all outstanding projects for river improvement in five years. Advocacy of the five-year schedule is the main theme of the assembly.

Senator Reed told the convention yesterday that the way to put the Porter bill through Congress was not to send delegations to Congress, but to carry their point with the people and the President. Secretary of War Davis remarked in his address last night that "when Senator Reed has seen that the Senate did its part," he was sure that the War Department would do its part.

Senator Deneen Speaks.

How the chances stand for the Porter bill and the waterways cause may have been indicated by a preliminary remark of Senator Charles S. Deneen, former Governor of Illinois, at the dinner for Secretary Davis. "I must congratulate you," he told the delegates, "upon the likelihood of fruition of your hopes in the next Congress." He added, "And if Senator Reed will furnish the Senate support, I can pledge to furnish one vote."

Major-General Harry Taylor, Chief of Engineers, who has charge of all river improvement, pointed out in his address last night that some such provision would permit construction, in a comparatively short time, of a trunk line—"a transportational backbone of the United States"—for any future waterways that might be added to the system.

With Porter on the morning program were Brigadier-General T. Q. Ashburn, active head of the Government corporation, which has operated the barge line of the Mississippi River at a substantial profit since establishing of the corporation, less than a year ago; Capt. Oscar F. Barrett of the Barrett Line, president of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, and Congressman Cleveland A. Newton of St. Louis, leader of the river bloc and advocate of river improvement since times when it was vastly less popular than it is now.

Much to Be Done Over.

Congressman Porter cited a comparison by Gen. Taylor between the "too large" figure of $750,000,000 spent by the Government so far on rivers and harbors improvement, and the $20,000,000,000 capital expenditure on railroads, or the $500,000,000 spent yearly on highways.

"Hardly a square deal for the waterways," he remarked.

Dwelling on the uncertainty of when these badly needed transportation facilities would be completed, he again quoted Gen. Taylor, who said of the Mississippi and Missouri: "In some years practically nothing has been done, with the result that these improvements, which might have been completed by this time, and a large part of the work done during the period of low prices before the war, have now run over into the period of high prices, and much work remains to be done. In fact, due to the small appropriations and the lack of continuous and effective prosecution of the work, a considerable portion of the work already done will have to be done over again."

Causing Loss of Prosperity.

Gen. Taylor's predecessor, Major-General Lansing H. Beach, who is attending the convention, had told Congress upon the eve of his retirement that it probably would take until the year 3000 A. D. to complete waterway improvement if the present system of piecemeal appropriations continued. Delay in improvement of our waterways is a loss every year in wealth amounting to more than would be required for improvement of the whole system of waterways, Congressman Porter declared. "It is subjecting the people to an immeasurable loss of prosperity—and an unnecessary loss of prosperity," he continued.

"The most outstanding example of economy and service afforded by water facilities is the performance since 1918 of the Government-owned and operated service," he remarked, citing its 30-month record of a $2,000,000 saving to shippers in 36 states, or an average saving of $1.40 a ton, and its schedules, "comparable with the best rail time."

"It appears that this single barge line, handicapped as it was, made a profit of very impressive proportions carrying freight at 3.5 mills per ton mile," he continued. "This is decidedly suggestive when it is understood that the average rail rate throughout the United States was 10.78 mills per ton-mile."

Explains Bond Payment.

He said that he had modeled his bill after the Rooseveltian policy which resulted in completion of the Panama Canal in record time. He explained that the $204,000,000 was set by army estimates of what was necessary to complete projects already planned, and that the bill would not affect either maintenance of completed projects or plans for work not yet authorized by Congress.

Referring to the principle of bonds, with payment spread over a period of years, he said: "Why should the taxpayer of today pay the entire cost of these improvements when the taxpayer of tomorrow—and many more tomorrows—will be deriving the benefits from them? The benefits of lower costs of transportation and reduced losses from congestion at critical points will result not only in these direct savings, but also in the increased prosperity which the freer and cheaper circulation of commodities will produce. All this will provide the taxpayer of tomorrow with more funds to meet the cost of the improvements—spread over a number of years—than the taxpayer of today has available. It will be literally making the improvements pay for themselves.

Author of Rivers Bill Cites Losses by Delay

On Sliding Scale.

"The annual appropriations for rivers and harbors are now running from $35,000,000 to $60,000,000 per year, of which about $15,000,000, or 2 per cent of the $750,000,000, is required for maintenance. With a bond issue for $204,000,000 providing for the completion of the approved projects, the annual charge for the first 10 years would be $15,000,000 for maintenance and interest charges on the bonds, gradually rising to $9,180,000 in the fifth year and never going over that figure, making a total of from $17,700,000 to $24,180,000 annually instead of from $35,000,000 to $60,000,000. This is based on the maximum rate of interest—4½ per cent—authorized in the bill. The interest rate, and consequently the interest charges, are almost certain to be materially lower than these figures.

"From the construction point of view, the provision of the necessary funds when and as needed will permit the laying out of a program for the prosecution of the work at the most economical rate, with full assurance that this program will not have to be modified on account of lack of funds. This is particularly important in the matter of the procurement and full utilization of equipment and the building up and maintaining of a well trained and efficient personnel.

"There have been instances in the past when equipment has been provided with a view to carrying out a program of construction, and the funds provided in subsequent years have been so restricted that a considerable part of this equipment has lain idle because there was not sufficient money to carry out the program for which it was provided. As in most businesses, it costs money to train personnel to carry on the work of improving waterways, and when the funds are reduced below the amount required to keep this personnel profitably occupied it is necessary to lay off part of the trained men, some of whom never come back, thereby necessitating the training of others to take their places when sufficient funds are again available.

"A further advantage from the construction point of view lies in the possibility of procuring lower costs for a given piece of work when it can be carried on at such a rate as to make possible the use of larger and more efficient equipment. Quantity production methods are responsible for our ability in this country to compete with, and in many cases to undersell, concerns of other countries on many manufactured products, despite the fact that our wages and scale of living are higher than in any other country in the world. The same principles of quantity production applied to work on waterway improvements will produce similar savings in the cost of completing these projects.

"Gen. Taylor gave an excellent illustration of the economies which can be achieved when funds are available to do the work at the maximum economical rate. He referred to the Chesapeake & Delaware Canal, which was estimated to cost $13,000,000, and which he states he believes would have cost all of that if it had been built at the rate which was made necessary by limited appropriations. However, due to certain circumstances which made it impossible to proceed with some other projects, some additional funds were available, and under the lump-sum appropriation system it was possible to divert them to other projects. It was decided to divert sufficient to the Chesapeake & Delaware Canal to permit contracting for practically the entire job at one time. The result was a much lower unit price for the work to be done, and it is now expected to complete the canal at a cost of $9,500,000, which represents a reduction in cost of $3,500,000, or 25 per cent.

"This was possible only because the contractor, with several years' work assured, felt justified in building a large and efficient dredge, which was able to do the work much cheaper than such smaller and less efficient equipment as he would have had to use if the work had been let in smaller quantities and spread out over a number of years. The same sort of economies can be achieved by the Government engineers if they are assured the funds required to do their work at the most advantageous rate.

Advantages to Taxpayers.

"From the taxpayer's point of view, in addition to all the advantages enumerated above, there are further advantages which made this method of financing river and harbor improvements most desirable. These consist, first, in securing the completion as promptly as possible of the river and harbor improvements in which so much of his money has already been spent, although few of them have been completed, so that he can enjoy the benefits of cheaper and more satisfactory transportation and the commercial prosperity which that will carry with it, and, second, in distributing the cost of completing these improvements over a period of years during which the improvements will be completed and when the benefits derived from them will help pay off the bonds sold to pay for the construction work, and, third, in reducing the demand on the Treasury for money for this purpose at this time when economy in the Government expenditures is so important."

Nominations and formulation of resolutions will close the convention this afternoon, following a session devoted to open discussion. It was the seventh annual and largest meeting of the association. The sessions were attended by 700 persons, representing 460 organizations in 26 states, as a valedictory demonstration to Congress, before the Porter bill comes up, of the magnitude of sentiment for early completion of a national waterways system.

MAN CLOSEST TO CARLETON IS BACK TO TELL HIS STORY

J. R. Curlee, Known as the "No" Man in the Organization, to See Circuit Attorney Today.

GRAND JURY GOES IN SESSION

Sidener Doesn't Expect Indictments in Fraud Cause Until Near End of This Week.

J. R. Curlee, vice president of the Carleton Dry Goods Co., returned to St. Louis today from Asheville, N. C., having heard that the Circuit Attorney desired to know whether he could help trace out the devious fraudulent transactions among the three companies headed by Murray Carleton which were involved in the $3,300,000 crash of the Ferguson-McKinney Manufacturing Co.

Curlee is known to have been closest to Carleton of all the officers and directors of the Carleton Dry Goods Co. He was known as the "no" man and Carleton the "yes" man of the company. Subordinates knew that Curlee's "no" indicated the uselessness of pursuing the matter further. If Curlee didn't object, the matter might be carried to Carleton. Curlee lost a sum approaching $100,000 in the Carleton Dry Goods Co., which has been in process of liquidaion following purchase of its business last June by Ely & Walker.

To See Circuit Attorney.

Since the illness of Murray Carleton, Curlee has been completing the liquidation, though he has been absent in the North and East since before the exposure of the frauds in the Ferguson-McKinney company.

The Circuit Attorney will confer with Curlee today and, if his story seems valuable, will take him before the grand jury.

There was another conference today with Leslie N. Simson, member of the New York accounting firm of Mitchell & Simpson, which audited the falsifiel statement of Feb. 28, 1925. As is known, this statement, upon which the company was able to borrow $3,300,000 from banks, is to be the basis of whatever indictments the grand jury may return in its investigation of Carleton and Forrest Ferguson, president of Ferguson-McKinney.

Grand Jury Convenes.

The grand jury convened at 10 a. m. and heard P. J. Schlesinger, who is in charge of the present audit, by which it is expected the manipulation of large sums of cash for credit purposes will be made clear.

The testimony of Schlesinger and Simson, who will also go before the jury, is expected to connect up various loose ends of testimony offered by previous witnesses.

Circuit Attorney Sidener said today that several phases of the case had not been explained to the grand jury fully and that he did not look for indictments until late this week or possibly next week. However, the grand jury can indicate at any time that it is satisfied with the testimony so far offered and can act.

POLICEWOMAN PLAYED CARDS, BUT DIDN'T WIN, LOSES CASE

She Suspects Cheer Club Gave Prizes to Holders of Slips, but Summons Are Denied.

A report by Policewoman Marjorie Whelan of her participation in a card game at the Forest Park Hotel last Saturday afternoon was made public today. The party was given by the Cheer Club and Miss Whelan was detailed to attend it, after the gambling squad had reported it believed a woman better fitted than a man to attend the function and see that everything was legal.

The policewoman played five hundred with three other women. When the game was almost over a slip was left on the table with instructions that the winner was to write her name and address upon it.

Miss Whelan didn't win, so she doesn't know, she reported, whether that slip entitled the winner to a prize or not. In any event she saw no prizes given out to successful players. City Attorney Evers, after hearing her report, declined to issue a summons in the case. The police suspect that someone got prizes but it is only a suspicion. The Cheer Club is a charitable organization. Its president is Mrs. Augustive Vervantes of 3725 Junia street.

Life Underwriters Elect F. M. See.

Frank M. See, new general agent for the Union Central Life Insurance Co. in St. Louis, was elected president of the Alumni Association of the St. Louis Life Underwriters School at a luncheon meeting yesterday at the American Hotel. Charles C. Collins, J. A. Riddick and Henry W. Ramsay were elected vice presidents. A. A. Certantes was made secretary-treasurer.

3000-POUND ENGINE, STOLEN FROM TRUCK, IS RECOVERED

Employe of Transfer Firm Admits He Sold "Gasoline Donkey" to Contractor for $80.

The 3000-pound "gasoline donkey" hoisting engine, stolen Nov. 13 from in front of the Backhus Transfer Co., 1445 North Broadway, has been recovered.

The engine was the property of J. P. Hely of 3840 Market street, a dealer in contractors' materials, and was valued at $500. It had been loaned by Hely to a contractor in Breese, Ill., and was on its way back to him when stolen from a truck.

Detective Sergeant Samuel Stewart questioned an employe of the transfer firm and obtained an admission from him that he had sold the engine for $80 to L. J. Kickham, a contractor, of 2515 North Twenty-fifth street. The engine was found operating at the Anheuser-Busch icehouse, Second and Dorcas streets, where Kickham is doing repair work.

Kickham agreed to pay Hely a rental fee for the time he has been using the engine, unaware that the Transfer company employe had no right to sell it to him. And the employe has agreed to refund the $80 to Kickham. If he does there will be no prosecution.

Destroys The Germs That Infect The Gums

Bleeding Stops In 12 Hours—Soreness Disappears In 24 Hours—Pus Clears Up In 2 to 3 Days—And Infection Is Destroyed In Three To Four Weeks—Without Pain

A pleasant tasting oil strongly fortified with germ destroying Creosote positively penetrates to the deepest infected areas and kills out tissue consuming Pyorrhea germs. Bleeding of gums stops completely in twelve hours; soreness and bad breath disappear in twenty-four hours; nasty pus clears up in two to three days; teeth begin to tighten in one week; poison secretions stop flowing the second week and if your Pyorrhea has not been completely eliminated in three to four weeks, get your money back.

Creo-sene derives its great curative powers from its ability to penetrate through healthy tissues without harm and carry germ destroying medication to the infected areas. Being an oil, it is not affected by the saliva. A thin coating of Creo-sene remains on the surface of the gums long enough to allow the medication to do its work thoroughly and effectively.

Creo-sene is the newest and most improved form of home treatment for Pyorrhea and infected gums. It completely banishes this terrible disease without pain or discomfort. Heavy dental bills and severe pains are avoided. It is sold on an absolute and positive guarantee of entire satisfaction, or money refunded by the druggist from whom purchased.

Sold by Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Walgreen Drug Company, Enderle Drug Co., and all other local druggists, at $1.00 for a full size bottle, or will be sent direct from the laboratory on receipt of price. Address CREO-SENE COMPANY, Desk 3, Atlanta, Georgia.

NEW ST. LOUIS THEATER PACKED FOR OPENING

Vaudeville and Picture Program Dedicates House at Grand and Morgan.

It is said that on the 25-foot switchboard of the new St. Louis Theater, it is possible, in advance of curtain-rise, to set 10 different lighting effects for stage and auditorium and then, as needed, to obtain these effects, in varying degrees of intensity, by the simple pressure of a button.

This mechanical wizardry is only an iota of the grandeur, opulence and splendor to which a public devotion for motion pictures has carried the modern theater edifice. A temple of stone and steel. A lobby in replica of halls trod only by Kings of France. A great, light, vaulted corridor, copied from the chapel of Versailles Palace—illuminated by massive chandeliers shooting 220 lights apiece through crystals taken from the pure sands of Czecho-Slovakia. Great columns lifting themselves to a height of a five-story building to support the arched ceiling of the lobby, mirrored at the ends to double the magnificence. Marble floors and great windows fringed with velvets. A stained blass window portraying the crusader, St. Louis.

148-Foot Auditorium.

An auditorium, 148 feet wide, without an intruding column. Seats widened for the corpulent, with three-panneled back and cushions like box springs. Carpets throughout, soft as the barefoot tread of a Duncan. Rest rooms like suites in a downtown club—one on each level for men, one for women—eight in all. Old paintings, cunningly old, brought from abroad, reminiscent of the age of the masters. Marble statuary along the promenades and bronzes. Soft stand lamps—odd-shaped divans and period chairs from France.

More than 10,000 lights inside and outside the building, yet none assailing the eye, except where the 30-foot blue white letters of the exterior sign beckon for blocks down Grand boulevard. All other light in coves, suffusing the jewel-like domes of the ceiling with floods of pinks or blues or ambers.

Stage curtains, glittering with beads woven into their surface—a great medallion bearing, once more, the figure of St. Louis. Organ alcoves at each side of the proscenium, like cathedral lights.

A great cavern underneath filled with machinery to make the air cool in summer, warm in winter and to wash it summer and winter. Back stage an actors' paradise. A miniature hotel in the northeast corner—seven stories of dressing rooms—two dressing rooms to a floor with a tub bath on each. Elevators from the top to the below stage level and a sumptuous lounge for performers awaiting their calls.

Rich, but Not Gaudy.

Richness throughout — gaudiness nowhere. A mezzanine salon where the soft tinkle of a grand piano is as undisturbed as in a Portland place drawing room. A temple of drama and music and —sighing shades of Booth and Barrett—dedicated to the phantom flatness of the white sheet.

For, although the programs of the new St. Louis will be sprinkled with Orpheum vaudeville, it will tax, to repay its $2,000,000 of extravagant completeness, the pockets of pilgrims to Hollywood.

To three men, at least, this marvelous growth of the motion picture struck last night in full force. They were Harry, Sam and Nat Koplar, who 17 years ago started a picture show in a vacant store at Seventh and Franklin avenue—200 seats at 5 cents each. In the new St. Louis, which they helped finance and which Sam Koplar built, there are 4080 seats an dthe price runs from 50 to 85 cents for evening performances. About half the house is 50 cents and half 65 cents. The 85-cent seats are the mezzanine loges.

A crowd nearly double the capacity of the theater sought admission last night at the opening performance. Hundreds waited for more than an hour in advance of the opening of the doors. During the evening, the audience enjoyed the novelty of seeing on the screen motion pictures taken outside as the doors were opened.

Opening Program.

The theater is equipped with a four-manual pipe organ and the program was opened last night by Organist Julius K. Johnson, formerly of a Hollywood theater. The photoplay was "Drusilla With a Million," featuring Mary Carr and Priscilla Bonner in many scenes called "tear-squeezers." The audience burst into applause at several spots in the action.

COMPLETE RIVER WORK IN 5 YEARS, VALLEY MEN SAY

nel conditions, has demonstrated by its operations beyond all question of doubt the inestimable benefits which will accrue to the whole nation when the entire Mississippi Valley system has been completed and made available for continued and uninterrupted uses by the public at large.

"This wonderful system of transportation, together with its tributary feeders, when completed in its entirety, will relieve the railroads of the increasing burden they cannot carry and prvent inevitable congestion; it will insure an outlet to the markets of the world for the varied manufactured commodities of the great industrial area it will serve; it will provide a means of cheap and expeditious transport for the exportable surplus of grain and other farm products of the Middle West; it will bring a substantial measure of relief to the farmer, who is struggling under the burden of growing costs and decreasing profits; it will, in short, not only forestall certain commercial stagnation and business disaster, but will guarantee and assure the continued and increasing prosperity of the nation.

Plea for Prompt Action.

"In view of these facts, it is manifest that this entire system, including all of its projects, should be completed without delay. To accomplish that end the Congress of the United States should take immediate action by making available the necessary funds. Such action should be definite, final and conclusive. It should guarantee the final result without further equivocation or delay. It should take the form of a fixed, definite business policy which will result in the completion of all of these projects in not to exceed five year. Whatever plan is adopted should be so formulated and devised as to make it impossible for any department, bureau, or administrative agency to thwart the will of Congress."

Quoting from a speech of Secretary of Commerce Hoover and from messages to Congress by President Coolidge, to show that immediate action was consistent with national economy, if not essential, the statement set forth that it was the sense of the meeting that the President be "respectfully urged" again to bring the matter of prompt adoption of the five-year program before Congress in his annual message.

The representatives of 460 organizations demanding a national waterways system in five years, submitted in conclusion:

"That the present policy of the Congress in making piecemeal and inadequate appropriations for waterways is subversive of the public welfare, inimical to the public interest, and contrary to real economy.

"That wise public policy and a proper consideration of the public welfare not only suggests, but imperatively demands, definite and final action at the approaching session of Congress.

"We, therefore, urge and request our representatives in Congress, particularly those of the 26 states whose direct interests are represented by this organization, and whose active co-operation and assistance we have a right to claim, to present this appeal in definite form to the Congress at its approaching session and insist upon such action without equivocation or delay."

Resolutions Offered.

Resolutions were offered following reading and indorsement of the statement. One was that Congress be requested at next session, in order to extend the benefits of water transportation as far as feasible, to authorize preliminary examination by the army engineers of all streams which are not included under the unified program, but which would serve as "feeder lines" to that great trunk system.

Another, in line with the theme of Secretary of War Davis' plea for "co-operation, not competition," formulated a policy of fostering development of railroads, highways and waterways—"the great trinity of transportation"—into a correlated system adequate to "serve the diversified interests of the nation and thereby guarantee its continued progress and prosperity."

The association this afternoon re-elected James E. Smith of St. Louis as president and Thomas F. Cunningham, New Orleans, as vice president at large. There was no contest. District vice presidents elected were Walter S. Dickey, Kansas City; E. T. Harris, Chicago; C. F. Richardson, Sturgis, Ky.; Walter Parker, New Orleans, and R. P. Warner, St. Paul.

BARGE LINE FUND AVAILABLE AFTER RIVER IMPROVEMENT

Walter S. Dickey Says $800,000 Is Being Held by Kansas City-Missouri River Navigation Co.

When the Missouri River is improved, $800,000 of the Kansas City-Missouri River Navigation Co., now drawing interest in Government securities, will be available to put a barge line in operation, said Walter S. Dickey, publisher, manufacturer, treasurer of the corporation and a delegate to the Mississippi Valley Association convention at Hotel Statler.

Dickey related that the corporation was formed in 1910, upon expectations of immediate channel improvement. Three steel towboats and a fleet of barges were put in service. The expectations failed to make good and the line operated at a loss until 1918, when it was commandeered for the Mississippi-Warrior Line, he said.

DIRECT PHONE TO MEXICO CITY

Direct telephone connection between St. Louis and Mexico City soon will be possible, the local office of the Department of Commerce has announced. It is expected that this will facilitate the large business of some St. Louis industries with Mexican firms.

Return of the Mexican Telephone & Telegraph Co. to private ownership makes this new service possible, it was stated, the Government having made preparations for the improvement.

IN THIRTY days you can settle, once for all, whether you should continue using caffein.

Instead of caffein beverages, drink Postum at mealtime during this test. You'll enjoy it—a delicious, wholesome drink made of roasted wheat and bran. Then, if you feel no better and look no better at the end of thirty days, you can go back to caffein.

Isn't that easy? Hundreds of thousands have tried it—and four out of five stayed with Postum. I'll gladly send you one week's supply of Postum for the test—or you can get it at your grocer's, and begin today.

Postum is one of the Post Health Products, which include also Grape-Nuts, Post Toasties (Double-thick Corn Flakes), and Post's Bran Flakes. Your grocer sells Postum in two forms. Instant Postum, made in the cup by adding boiling water, is one of the easiest drinks in the world to prepare. Postum Cereal is also easy to make, but should be boiled 20 minutes.

Put an End to Neuritis!

Neuritis is an inflammation of the nerves, brought on by colds, injuries, bruises, malaria or infectious diseases. As a rule it settles in the shoulder, neck, forearm, thigh, leg or small of the back, causing merciless, stabbing pains that are often mistaken for rheumatism, sciatica or neuralgia.

Regardless of what caused your neuritis or where the pains are located, it is possible to obtain quick relief without taking narcotics or other dangerous drugs. An application of Tysmol over the part that hurts usually stops the misery in a few minutes. Tysmol is absorbed through the pores of the skin and has a soothing, healing effect upon the diseased nerves.

Don't endure this agony another day. Get a supply of Tysmol from Judge & Dolph Drug Stores, Wolff-Wilson or any other reliable druggist. Price $1. Mail orders accepted by Tysmol Company, Mfg. Chemists, 400 Sutter St., San Francisco.

DESIGNS FOR WORLD'S LARGEST DIRIGIBLE

Zeppelin and American Engineers at Akron, O., at Work on Plans for GZ-1.

By the Associated Press.

AKRON, O., Nov. 24.—Akron, the rubber manufacturing capital of the world, has hopes of being the Friedrichshafen of the New World.

The first step toward this realization has been the bringing of 14 high officials of the original Zeppelin works in Germany to the headquarters of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation.

Months of laboring over blue prints and charts have brought forth designs for new development in the realm of lighter-than-air craft. Whenever there is a market for a commercial or military airship, the transplanted Zeppelin works will be ready to build it.

Designs for the GZ-1, the world's largest dirigible, have been completed by the Zeppelin and American engineers. Its plans and specifications show it to be a ship of more than 6,000,000 cubic feet in length, and capable of developing 5000 horsepower. Improvements, as yet kept secret, have been worked out to add to the safety and strength of the ship.

With Pullman Equipment.

The passenger-carrying GZ-1, according to the plans, will have Pullman equipment inside, with compartment seats which can be made into berths at night, a dining room, corridors, bath rooms, including showers, and promenade decks running the length of the ship on both sides.

As designed, the ship will be able to carry 100 passengers and to make the trip between New York and London in 48 to 64 hours, depending on whether it is flying eastward with the prevailing winds, or westward against the wind.

Commander Jacob H. Klein, executive officer of the Los Angeles, declared recently on a visit to the scene of the Goodyear-Zeppelin operations that there is room in the navy's hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., for a 600,000,000-cubic-foot ship, alongside the ship he commands, which has a capacity of 3,000,000 cubic feet.

"I believe not only that a ship the size of the GZ-1 would be practical," he said, "but that shortly we shall see airships built with a capacity of 10,000,000 cubic feet, which probably will be the maximum capacity for many years to come."

Britain Building Two Ships.

The British Government at present is building two ships of 5,000,000 cubic feet capacity each, the Goodyear-Zeppelin officials are informed. These British ships, built for hydrogen, a gas of greater lifting power than helium, will compare in performance almost exactly with the GZ-1.

So confident are the officials of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation, that commerce via air is at hand, that they believe once under way their work will develop beyond the proportions of that enjoyed by Friedrichshafen in its heydey.

Besides designing the GZ-1, the 14 engineers from Friedrichshafen and three or four Americans have been working for several months in planning hangars and operating fields, selecting tentative locations for them, designing mooring masts and making a study of operating and climatic conditions in the United States along the lines of various projected routes.

Among the German officials of the Goodyear-Zeppelin company is Capt. Ernst A. Lehmann, vice-president and director. Lehmann's most recent achievement of world-wide note was his piloting of the ZR-13, now the Los Angeles to the United States from Germany in the summer of 1924.

Designed the ZR-3.

Dr. Karl Arnstein, another vice-president of the corporation, was chief engineer of the German Zeppelin building corporation at Friedrichshafen. He designed the ZR-3 and 100 other airships before and during the period of the World War. Besides Capt. Lehmann, two other Zeppelin officials are now directors of the new company. They are Dr. Hugo Eckener and Harry Vissering of Chicago.

G. M. Stadelman is president and P. W. Litchfield vice-president and general manager, respectively, of the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation.

KURLANDER, BANKRUPT FIRM PRESIDENT, ALSO BROKE

Charles Kurlander, former president of the Kurlander Bros. & Harfield Cloak and Suit Co., which went into bankruptcy in 1923, today filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in Federal Court. He listed personal liabilities at $187,246 and personal assets at $41,125, which include $41,000 in insurance policies.

His former partner, Henry D. Harfield, who was vice-president of the company, recently filed a similar bankruptcy petition, and declared that most of their personal assets had been used to reduce the firm's indebtedness. The firm is now being liquidated by a receiver.

LEGISLATORS SIGN ULTIMATUM TO TEXAS GOVERNOR

Mrs. Ferguson Refuses to Receive Petition for Extra Session, So It Is Given to Secretary.

SPEAKER WILL ACT IF EXECUTIVE FAILS

Lawmakers Want to Change Road Statutes and Appropriate Money for Cattle Epidemic.

By the Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 24.—A petition demanding a special session of the Texas Legislature not later than Dec. 10 was presented to Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson's secretary today. The Governor declined personally to accept the petition from Representative Alfred Petsch of Fredericksburg, who called at her office to present it. She sent word that her secretary was authorized to receive it. The petition is signed by 44 members of the Legislature and demands the session for the purpose of changing the highway laws and making appropriation for cattle disease eradication.

In event the Governor does not call the session by Dec. 10, Speaker Lee Satterwhite will issue a call for Dec. 15, he said.

Petition to Speaker.

A petition signed yesterday by 52 legislators left responsibility for a call directly up to Speaker Satterwhite. The document will not be presented to him officially, however, unless the Governor fails to act. The number of signatures on the petition is two more than is required by the State Constitution.

Last night's resolution represented to the Governor as "very urgent" reasons for a session, the recent court suit, in which the American Road Co. confessed judgment for restitution to the State of $600,000 alleged excess profits on highway contracts let by the Highway Commission and the resignation of two Highway Commissioners, Frank V. Lanham, chairman, and Joe Burkett.

The resolution made no reference to impeachment proceedings, but touched on the necessity of forestalling a repetition in 1926 of alleged irregularities in State departments. Highway affairs were referred to specifically.

Hint of Improvements.

"The issue is well defined," the document said. "If the Governor refuses to act, then it will be the plain duty of a sufficient number of the members of the Legislature who believe in, and love, Texas, to take action to protect her welfare and her glory."

The Governor yesterday was silent regarding a petition asking her to call an extraordinary session to formulate new highway legislation and her silence was regarded as precipitating last night's meeting. Ten of the 49 legislators attending the caucus did not sign the resolution.

The petition addressed to Speaker Satterwhite declared that the signers desire to convene "for the purpose of impeachments and investigations with respect thereto." It charged that irregularities "exist in several departments of our State Government."

Suspended Italian Papers Released.

MILAN, Nov. 24.—The newspapers Avanti, Giustizia and Unita, suspended by Governmental order after the discovery of the plot against Premier Mussolini, reappeared today. The Giustizia will drop its subtitle "Organ of the Italian Unitarian Socialist Party."

THREE SOUTHERN STATES TO BUY MOUNTAINS FOR PARKS

Part of Great Smoky and Blue Ridge Ranges to Be Turned Over to Government.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 24.—North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia are out to buy mountains.

The states want the first two great national parks to be established in the Southeast and now are engaged in the task of raising funds for the acquisition of a section of the Great Smoky Mountains of Western North Carolina and Eastern Tennessee, and part of the Blue Ridge, in the Shenandoah region of Virginia.

After the purchases have been made, the mountains will be presented to the Government, which, through Secretary of Interior Work and the Federal Park Commission, has sanctioned the projects. The State Legislatures have passed measures to assist the campaigns for funds.

WOMEN, EDITORS FOR A DAY, KEEP CRIME OFF PAGE ONE

They Cut Market News to Two Columns and Feature Articles by Preachers.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 24.—With the announcement on the editorial page in a caption over a cartoon, "Making the World Better for a Day," Sioux Falls clubwomen last night, preparing this morning's edition of the Sioux Falls Press, refused to permit any crime news to go on page one.

The women, editors for a day, members of the History Club, curtailed more than a page of market news to about two columns; they eliminated all comic strips except one—that of "Jiggs." They refused to allow the publication of any serials. Instead, they featured in their 48-page edition articles on homes and home-building and especially prepared stories by each of the pastors in the city.

THE NEW ST. LOUIS

A WELCOME to the new St. Louis Theater! Not merely because its magnificent splendor merits admiration, but because it is an expression of the new St. Louis spirit.

Yes, St. Louis has a new spirit. A spirit of metropolitan alertness, recognized not only by St. Louis itself but by the rest of the world.

Because of that spirit, projects such as the new St. Louis Theater can be confident of success.

And the success of these projects in turn, reacting on it, intensifies it,

And perhaps that, in some measure, accounts for the favor St. Louis has always shown

TWO PERSONS KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Two Others Seriously Injured and Are in Critical Condition.

Dead.

William English, 65 years old, 937 Withnell avenue.

Mrs. Martha Brown, 60, of 2740 Lucas avenue.

Injured.

John Sigillitto, 64, 4745 Cupples place, fractured skull and ribs.

Ralph Lindsey, 14, 4007 Lucky street, concussion of the brain and probable skull fracture.

William English, 65 years old, of 937 Withnell avenue, and Mrs. Martha Brown, 60, a negro, of 2740 Lucas avenue, died yesterday from injuries received in automobile accidents and brought the total of such deaths for the year to 168, four more than for the same period last year.

Two persons suffered serious injuries and are in a critical condition.

Crossing Street When Hit.

English died at the city hospital at 10 a. m. yesterday, two hours after he was struck by an automobile driven by Charles Mudd, 1817 Crittenden street, at Missouri avenue and Pestalozzi street.

A verdict of accident was returned by a Coroner's jury today in the case of English. Witnesses testified that Mudd was driving at a moderate rate of speed and that English stepped in front of the truck.

The body of a negro woman who died at 9:35 p. m. yesterday from a fractured skull suffered at 7:50 p. m., when she was struck by an automobile at Washington boulevard and Ewing avenue, was identified today by J. L. Brown as that of his wife, Martha.

Gottfried Johnson, 1205 Sidney street, was the driver of the automobile which struck her, according to Richard Vandeventer, 2817 Cherokee street. He was riding abreast of Johnson's automobile when the woman was struck and Johnson drove on. A block further east, Vandeventer attracted Johnson's attention and told him he had struck the woman.

Johnson said he felt a jar, but believed he had struck a depression in the street. He was held for the Coroner.

Florist's Skull Fractured.

John Sigillitto, 64 years old, a florist of 4745 Cupples place, was struck by an automobile driven by William E. Way, 680 Bonita avenue, Webster Groves, at Wise and McCausland avenues. He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital and found to be suffering from a skull fracture and several fractured ribs. Way was arrested.

Ralph Lindsey, 14, a messenger boy, of 4007 Lucky street, suffered concussion of the brain and a possible skull fracture at 2:40 p. m. yesterday, when struck by an automobile while riding his bicycle about 200 feet west of Sarah street on Page boulevard. Irwin Senturia, 4924 Fountain avenue, driver of the automobile, said the boy apparently turned out to pass a parked automobile but swung too wide and came directly in the path of his machine. He was taken to the Missouri Baptist Sanitarium.

COL. DEITSCH HONOR GUEST AT DINNER TOMORROW NIGHT

Gens. Raupp and Rumbold Invited to Attend Banquet for Retiring Officer.

Lieutenant-Colonel A. E. Deitsch, retiring commander of the 138th Infantry, St. Louis National Guard Regiment, will be the guest of officers of the regiment at a dinner at Hotel Melbourne at 8 p. m. tomorrow.

Col. Deitsch, a regular army officer, resigned as commander of the 138th early this month, following an unsuccessful effort to bring the organization up to authorized strength. At the time of his resignation Col. Deitsch said the apathy of St. Louis business interests in the matter of supporting the regiment caused his action. Col. Deitsch also requested that he be relieved from duty as regular army instructor with the regiment, a post he has held since 1921.

Invitations to the farewell dinner to Col. Deitsch have been sent to Gens. Raupp and Rumbold and officers of the third battalion of the 138th, stationed in the northern part of the state. It is expected that a successor to Col. Deitsch will be named within a week. Candidates for the command are said to include Col. Eugene McMahon and Lieutenant-Colonel Stephen Lowe, both of whom served overseas with the regiment.

DAMAGE SUITS FOLLOW ROW OVER OWNERSHIP OF A DOG

As a sequel to disputes over the ownership of a shepherd dog, two suits, each for $5000 damages, on the grounds of false arrests, were filed yesterday by Joseph Rossen and his 16-year-old son, Bernhardt of 1921 Franklin avenue, against Mr. and Mrs. Shea Silverberg of 1329 Bayard avenue.

The Rossens had a shepherd dog and it disappeared. Bernhardt looked all over for his pet and finally saw a dog that resembled it at the Silverberg home. He claimed it twice, the second time accompanied by a policeman, but the Silverbergs said it was theirs, purchased for $5.

Days passed and the prodigal shepherd returned to the Rossen doorstep. The Rossens said it had returned of its own volition, but the Silverbergs asserted it had been stolen, with other articles from the Silverberg home. Bernhardt Rossen was arrested, but discharged in Juvenile Court.

Next, it is set worth, the Silverbergs swore out a warrant charging Joseph Rossen with receiving stolen property, meaning the dog. He, too, was discharged in court. He and his son, in suing for damages, aver the arrests were without justification and caused them humiliation.

DEMAND FOR RIVER IMPROVEMENTS VOICED AT WATERWAYS CONVENTION

CHIEF OF ARMY ENGINEERS HEARD ON WATERWAYS

Maj.-Gen Harry Taylor Says His Department Has Under Way a Comprehensive Plan.

NEARLY 4000 MILES INCLUDED IN SYSTEM

Can Be Completed in Comparatively Few Years With Sufficient Funds, He Asserts.

The discoverer of the Marshall Pass through the Rocky Mountains was an army engineer, later to head the corps, "six feet four inches tall and profane in proportion," who came across the pass in a trying year, which came to a crisis when his chief packer remarked, "we might as well throw away that old glass—no use carrying it around any longer."

"That old glass" was the precious undeveloped photographic plates he had been coddling and trying to keep from damage by sunlight all summer. This he explained to the packer, who staggered him with the reply, "Why, there ain't a damn thing on them. I took every one out in the sun and looked."

Very often, remarked Major-General Harry Taylor, Chief of Engineers, last night at the Mississippi Valley Association dinner for Secretary of War Davis, an engineer's job is like that. Another bit of significant history he related was that the phrase "pork barrel," with relation to Government appropriation, originated in a Congressional debate on improvement of the St. Louis River, "now known as Duluth Harbor—one of the big harbors of the world."

Restricted by Provision of Law.

Recalling a remark of Senator Reed at the morning session, that army engineers could not present a comprehensive plan because of hampering regulation, he said: "The Senator possibly overlooked the provision of law that the army engineers shall not even make a preliminary examination unless it has first been passed upon by Congress. If he had seen that, he would have realized that the army engineers are not restricted by merely a little red tape, but by a direct provision of law."

He added, "But we are not badly off for a comprehensive plan. With 1000 miles of the Ohio, 2000 miles of the Mississippi, 450 miles of the Missouri, and 400 of the intracoastal canal from New Orleans to Galveston Bay, we have nearly 4000 miles in a plan for a trunk system—the backbone of the waterways of the United States. This main line will have many feeders, such as the Illinois and the Monongahela, which is one of the most intensively used rivers in the world.

"This entire system, with sufficient funds, can be completed within a comparatively few years. It will form the main line for any systems that may be added to it in the future.

Must Have Traffic.

"I pointed out at your convention last year that two steel rails stretching across the continent were not of much value without traffic. In the same way, a four, six, ten, twenty or forty-foot channel, if not used, is of no benefit. And I pointed out also that you cannot now put any old boat on the river, land it any old place, and keep account of its freight by notches on a stick. Methods of river operation must compare with methods of railway operation.

"Last July I was surprised to learn that a barge line on the Upper Mississippi was not going up to St. Paul, but stopping below, not because the channel prevented, but because it could not get the freight. In September, however, I went back there and found that some of the business men had realized that it was time to do something more than talk about the river.

"I hope that movement continues. But now I hear talk of putting two lines on the upper river, with competition between them. The need here certainly is co-operation and not competition. If there is not enough traffic for one line, surely there is not enough for two. I do not want to butt in on any family row, but I must urge that, somehow, one line be agreed upon now, and that later, if the traffic becomes too much for it, there may be two lines.

Use of Rhine River Cited.

"A chart in the adjoining room shows that only 39 miles of the channel between St. Louis and St.

SECRETARY DAVIS FORESEES ERA OF RAILROAD AND WATERWAY CO-OPERATION

Rail Supremacy Not Endangered by River Traffic—Solution to Balanced Hauls and Peak Loads in Sight, Speaker Declares.

Business growth of America will soon force intensive use of waterway transportation, Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis predicted in his address at the Mississippi Valley Association dinner in his honor, held last night at Hotel Statler.

"Co-operation, not competition," was the Secretary's theme. After sketching the history of competition between railroads and river transportation, he discussed the economic principles underlying the situation, and said:

"The man who talks of natural competition, and a finish fight, between river and rail, is as short-sighted as the Lancashire weavers who wrecked the first machines for weaving cotton cloth. He sees a railroad between two cities carrying a certain amount of freight; he sees a river connecting them; he sees the possibility of the river taking the freight that now moves by rail. Then he thinks he sees the ruin of the railroad.

"Such a man does not see realities. He does not see that, if the river can carry any particular kind of freight more cheaply than the railroad, the community will save money; that this money is new capital, which will produce more prosperity, and more production, and more goods to be transported by both the river and the railroad. In other words, he does not understand the basic law of economics, that whatever increases the wealth, prosperity and efficiency of a community, benefits all the important elements of the community.

Traffic Efficiency Era.

"The railroads have passed from the nineteenth century era of expansion to the twentieth century era of efficiency. They are not building new lines at the speed they did after the Civil War. Between 1910 and 1920 their total trackage increased only 5 per cent, but not all of this trackage was in use. They are seeking to do more with what they have, and in such items as miles per car per day, train miles per locomotive are making splendid progress. Of the unfavorable factors which they must combat, I take two at random: Unbalanced hauls and peak loads. Suppose a road has a long heavy eastbound movement, say of grain, and a light return movement. At a dead loss it must haul a great number of empty cars west. Suppose it could haul its grain east part of the way, and deliver it to a river carrier; suppose this meant a saving to the shippers, and therefore more purchasing power; suppose they used this purchasing power, as they would, to buy more merchandise, which would fill the cars that formerly went west empty. Would not the railroad be better off? Again, consider the peak load problem. We all knew, in the past, a bumper crop of Northwestern wheat, or California fruit, or Florida truck, has taxed the railroads to their capacity and beyond. The crop is moved—eventually—after part of it has rotted, and farmers have had to borrow money to tide them through, and a blow has been dealt to prosperity, and to purchasing power, which is at once reflected in a smaller demand for general merchandise and therefore a smaller revenue for the railroads. Would not an intelligent rail executive be glad if some agency would step in at such a moment and lift the burden of the peak movement from his overtaxed organization?

"There is not the remotest danger that the river carrier will drive the rail carrier from the field. Our most extensively developed river, the Monongahela, carries 25,000,000 tons a year, and its locks are worked to about two-thirds capacity; yet a prosperous railroad line runs on each bank. If either rail or river traffic were destroyed, there would be no benefit to the other, but only a serious loss to Pittsburg industry and the nation. Can anyone doubt that the same situation will exist when the commerce of the Mississippi, the Missouri, the Ohio and their tributaries is similarly developed?

Roads to Retain Supremacy.

"Successful river traffic is dependent on railroads. A railroad can go anywhere; it can run a spur to a factory door. But a boat can only go on the river. Except for a movement which begins and ends within trucking distance of the river bank, part of the haul must be by rail. The other part, for economy, should and will be by water only when the water movement is, proportionally, long enough so that its cheapness in line-haul outweighs the cost of transshipment. And beside this, there are a multitude of cases where, by ability to grant certain privileges, to give express service and to avoid rehandling, the railroad has natural advantages that neither can nor should be denied.

"Railroads are and will remain the backbone of inland transportation. Efficient waterway traffic cannot in most case flourish without them. And we are coming to realize the converse, that efficient rail traffic depends on using to the limit the waterways. By reducing peak load, by balancing rail hauls, by taking the burden of low-grade traffic, by preventing car shortages, rivers can be and are becoming an essential element in the railroads, fight for efficiency. And most important, the river can save money to the nation as a whole, and neither the railroads nor anyone else can avoid sharing in the resulting increased prosperity. Each should carry traffic for which, under the given conditions, it is economically best fitted; both carry jointly that for which joint carriage is most economical.

"Even if such co-operation were not otherwise sound economically, conditions would force its adoption. I have said that the present railroad trend is toward intensifying the traffic possibilities of existing lines rather than building new ones. But this process cannot continue indefinitely. When, in the coming generation, our internal commerce shall have increased 50 per cent or 100 per cent, it is evident that the present rail installations, no matter how efficiently operated, could not handle it. Before long, in congested sections of the country, we must face the alternative, either of intensive use of our waterways or of enormous investments in new railway lines. It is a question how far, and on what terms, the railways could borrow the sums needed. But more important than this is the waste involved in spending billions of dollars to make a path over which commerce can move by rail, when nature has given us, in our great rivers, natural paths which can be made ready for commerce for a few million dollars. The Mississippi, the Missouri, the Ohio and others, are quivalent as possible commerce-carriers to scores of parallel rail lines. To neglect their possibilities is to throw away a gift of nature, and impose on the nation huge additional expenditures which will benefit no one.

Waterways Await Linking.

"The provision of adequate channels for the future commerce of our waterways systems, notably those of the Mississippi Valley, is well advanced toward completion, thanks to the recent liberal policy of Congress and the activities of the Army engineers. What remains to be done is at once quite limited as to cost, and extremely urgent as to its effect on commerce. The incompleted gaps in the Mississippi system, which we are closing as rapidly as funds permit, have thus far retarded the growth of traffic far out of proportion of their actual mileage, for they are weak links in what should be a continuous chain. The Ohio, for example, is in terms of money about 85 per cent complete. But its commerce is not 85 per cent nor 25 per cent, of what it will become, for the unfinished part separates the canalized upper and middle stretches from the main Mississippi. It is like a railroad, mostly standard-gauge, which has a narrow-gauge connection with other railroad systems. The same remark applies in varying degree to the Mississippi, the Missouri and other rivers of the valley. Eliminate these narrow-gauge gaps, and the system, for the first time in history, is ready to take its rightful place in our national economy as a great, complete, co-operative transportation facility.

"But how can this co-operation be attained? The best efforts of the best minds of both rail and water executives are bent toward this accomplishment, and much has been attained through the operation of the Inland Waterways Corporation, which has definitely proven that, given an equitable division of revenue to both rail and water carriers for a joint haul, the combined service will not only furnish the shipper a lower freight rate, but will afford a living revenue to each carrier."

Secretary Davis quoted the transportation act of 1920, in its provisions declaring the railroads entitled to a fair return, and setting forth a purpose to "foster and preserve in full vigor both rail and water transportation."

In carrying out this policy, he said, the Interstate Commerce Commission may order rail rates up or down. "It may order joint rail-and-water rates down, but not up. It may require the railroads to join in through rates with water lines even though the individual railroad may protest that such route deprives it of some particular haul it may otherwise receive. It may order the division of joint rail-and-water rates on bases which please neither the rail nor the water carrkier.

"The commission may and does effectually deny railroads the right to enter into any form of unbridled competition with water carriers, which aims at or might conceivably cause the destruction of valuable water service. Here there would seem to be an adequate groundwork of law which should cause common carriers by water again to occupy the field as soon as the waterways are completed and capital is assured that its investments in this field will be adequately protected. All that the railroads need to be shown is that they will profit by co-operation, not suffer by competition, and they will co-operate. All that private capital needs to be shown is that such co-operation results in profitable investments in common carriers, and capital will embark upon the enterprise.

"If we are ever, then, to succeed in our broad national policy of co-ordinating rail and water transportation for the present, adding motor and air transportion in the future, we must face the conditions as they exist, built broadly for the greatest good of the greatest number, utilize our great arterial waterways and their feeders, our coastal streams, and our canals, as they are completed, our lakes and our coastal waters, in co-operation with, and not opposition to our railways, which must always be the backbone of our unified transportation system that is to give us as nearly an ideal transportation system as the mind of thinking man can conceive. Our policy should be co-operation, not competition."

WILLIAMS URGES U. S. TO DO RIVER WORK AS A UNIT

Time for Piecemeal Spending Past, He Says—Pictures Vast Co-ordinated Transportation System.

BENEFITS ACCRUE TO WHEAT GROWERS

Senator Remarks That Projects Can Be Completed in Three Years at Cost of About $70,000,000.

Governmental appropriations for inland waterways development should be given in whole, not piecemeal, United States Senator Williams told the members of the Mississippi Valley Association yesterday afternoon.

"Since the beginning of the republic, the nation has expended $1,250,000,000 on our waterways," he said, "only a quarter of a billion having been expended on our rivers. The balance has gone largely for wharves and extensive harbor improvements. In the central United States there has been spent some $174,000,000, and I am told that army engineers believe these projects could be completed by the expenditure of $70,000,000 to $75,000,000 more."

It was to this appropriation that Senator Williams adverted to say that the Government should give the money in a lump sum, adding, "I am not what is called a watchdog of the treasury in a matter that will inure to the good of all."

Introduced by W. K. Kavanaugh.

Senator Williams was introduced by W. K. Kavanaugh, former president of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway Association, the forerunner of the present Mississippi Valley Association. The speaker confessed that he was not intimate with the history of the movement, but he was convinced the body's purposes were fundamentally sound.

"There ought to be," he said, "a co-ordination of our highways, our railways and our waterways. We are told that the engineering problems have been met. We are told that the economic problems may be solved. We are told these projects may be put in operation within three years. Should there be objection?

"If the price of wheat is now fixed in Liverpool, does it not follow that if the creation of this form of transportation will cheapen the cost of carrying the wheat from the great wheat states of the central west, does it not follow, economically, that the benefit will accrue to the farmer? And is the same not true of cotton, corn and other products of these states?"

Tribute to Newton.

Williams paid a glowing tribute to the work of Congressman Newton as a waterways advocate, suggesting that the St. Louis Congressman, from the district of which the senator is also a resident, would have been appointed to the senatorial vacancy except for his position of special leadership in the lower house on waterways matters.

CONGRESSMAN URGES LOWER VALLEY WORK

Cleveland A. Newton Also Assails Congress for Haphazard Appropriations.

The primary importance of the Lower Mississippi in any proposed waterways system for the United States was discussed by Congressman Cleveland A. Newton of St. Louis, leader of the river bloc, in the final formal address today at the seventh annual convention of the Mississippi Valley Association.

"An erroneous belief which has done much harm in the country is due to an impression that we are appropriating approximately $50,000,000 a year for river improvement," he said. "This is due to the fact that 90 per cent of the effort which is made in Congress for adequate appropriations for river and harbor work is made by the friends of our inland river projects. Friends of our harbors sit back making little or no effort, with a perfect feeling of security that the projects in which they are interested will receive the lion's share when the appropriation is made.

"I feel it important to call your attention to the fact that out of an appropriation of $50,000,000 the inland rivers of the entire United States are alloted less than $15,000,000 for improvement.

Time to Get Share.

"It seems to me that it is about time, if the engineers are to continue to allot the major part of funds appropriated for harbor improvement, that the friends of our harbors should contribute their share of the effort toward the procurement of adequate funds for river and harbor work.

"One of the greatest obstructions in the way of river and harbor improvement in this country has been the unsteady and uncertain annual supply of revenue for carrying on these improvements. One year Congress appropriated $12,000,000 for that work; the next year $15,000,000; the next year $43,000,000; the next year $56,000,000; the next year $38,000,000; and for this year $40,000,000—of these amounts approximately $15,000,000 each year has gone for the maintenance of improvements already made.

"When additional funds were available approximately $15,000,000 a year have gone toward the improvement of our harbors, leaving the balance, when any balance was left, for use toward the improvement of our inland rivers. Such a policy of improvement is not only unwise but wasteful. What we want in this country is a definite fixed adequate annual amount of revenue sufficient to finish the job within a reasonable time. We want action and we want it now.

Projects in the Valley.

"We have in the Mississippi Valley waterway projects adopted by Congress, consisting of the Mississippi River from Minneapolis to the Gulf, the Ohio River from Pittsburg to Cairo, the Missouri River from Kansas City to its

PICTURES WATERWAY AS MIDWEST OUTLET

Senator Deneen of Illinois Discusses River Route Toward Panama Canal.

That the Panama Canal, built by a substantial contribution from the taxes of the Middle West, is now working to injury of this section, was the declaration of United States Senator Charles H. Deneen of Illinois, in an address on "The Lakes-to-the-Gulf of Mexico Deep Waterway Project" at the convention dinner of the Mississippi Valley Association at Hotel Statler last night.

Deneen, former Governor of Illinois, after narrating in detail the history of the waterways movement in his State, and describing briefly the proposed Upper Mississippi River plan of waterways—the main stem from St. Paul to New Orleans, with stems in the Ohio River to Pittsburg, in the Tennessee to Nashville and the Missouri River to Kansas City—declared:

"The importance of the immediate improvement of the Mississippi River system is emphasized by the results at the Panama Canal. The Middle West favored the Panama Canal. It paid a great share of the expense of its construction. The Panama Canal is working an injury to the entire Middle West in the way of cheap freight costs from the Atlantic seaboard to the Pacific coast cities.

Figures Prove It.

"The rate by rail on first-class freight is $5.06 per hundred pounds from Chicago to San Francisco. The all-rail freight from New York to San Francisco is $5.55 per hundred pounds; the water rate from New York to San Francisco is $2.42½ per hundred pounds. This is a striking illustration of the advantage of waterway transportation and a striking proof of the necessity for providing such transportation for the Middle West.

"The Middle West is entitled to an outlet to the Panama Canal. The Panama Canal was meant to serve the country and the world, and its full benefits should be extended as far as possible to all parts of the country. At present, its chief benefit is enjoyed by the Eastern shippers to the Pacific coast at the expense of the Middle West.

"May I add as another illustration that copper is shipped from Butte, Mont., to Seattle, and then via the Panama Canal to New York, for $10.50 a ton less than it would cost by rail from Butte to New York? A heavy burden is placed upon the farm products, mining products, manufactured products and all imports and ex-

RAIL AND BARGE LINES NOT RIVALS, ASHBURN THINKS

Head of Inland Waterways Corporation Urges Co-operation of River Service and Steam Roads.

LATTER MUST PROSPER, HE SAYS

Governmental Pioneering Necessary, but Private Interests Must Be Encouraged, He Argues.

Experiences of the Federal Barge Line, when it was a struggling infant, in danger of stifling by its unfriendly big brothers, the railroads, and basic principles for further growth of this and future barge lines, were embraced in an address by Brigadier-General T. Q. Ashburn, head of the Inland Waterways Corporation, at today's session of the convention of the Mississippi Valley Association.

"I am convinced," he remarked, "that no agency other than the Government would have withstood such vicious assaults upon it, such misrepresentations of facts, such combined attacks to belittle the demonstration, and to prevent its success, as the Government has, in the re-establishment of the great common carrier operated on the Mississippi-Warrior River by the Inland Waterways Corporation.

"In fact, even the United States Government could not have carried this demonstration to the point where it could declare a 4 per cent dividend on the total investment in property and equipment, had it not been that Congress created the Inland Waterways Corporation and clothed it with all the powers necessary to fulfill the object and purpose of its creation.

U. S. Action Necessary.

"Private capital will undoubtedly invest in private and contract carriers, and do all it can to justify the creation of navigable streams, but to distribute fully the benefits of such cheap transportation requires, upon each river, a demonstration by the present fully empowered governmental corporation is necessary until such time as the conditions precedent to success are established and private capital will invest in an operation no longer a hazardous venture. The sine qua non of successful common water carriage is co-operation with the railroads.

"Today the Mississippi Valley contends that it is being penalized and stifled by the use of the Panama Canal, which it enthusiastically indorsed, and willingly paid taxes to construct. The railroads claim that they must enjoy the privilege of charging less for a trans-continental haul than for intermediate points in order to meet water competition.

"People of the Interior do not view this problem in the same light as the people of the Mississippi Valley or the people of the sea coast. Each propounds its pet scheme, and each is willing to fight for it to the death to see that it is enacted into law, regardless of consequences to anybody but themselves. They demand changes in the rate structure for self regarding reasons.

Reconcile Interests.

"What is the broad ground on which we can reconcile these various interests? Surely it lies not in the enactment and enforcement by certain laws benefitting one locality at the expense of others. The answer must be sought in national consideration, and not local.

"Let us approach it with these considerations in mind:

"The railroads must prosper.

"The Panama Canal and transportation on interior waterways must prosper, in order to furnish cheaper and needed transportation.

"The interior must not be penalized to furnish cheap tidewater transportation.

"As everybody has been taxed, and will be taxed to pay for the Panama Canal and the making navigable of interior waterways; thus furnishing cheap transportation, everybody, in so far as practicable, ought to reap the benefits of such cheap transportation.

"Summing up, the best way to utilize our waterways is to in every way encourage the operation of private and contract carriers by individual and corporations, to encourage and help the Inland Waterways Corporation in its governmental pioneering for the re-establishment of great common carriers in co-ordination with, and not opposition to, the railroads.

Let us not try to browbeat the railroads, restrict them by useless regulations. Remember that their welfare is absolutely essential to

LINKS RIVER WORK WITH FLOOD RELIEF

Congressman Hawes, in Speech, Declares Experiment Has Only Begun.

Congressman Harry B. Hawes, in his address before the Mississippi Valley Association yesterday afternoon on "Common Sense Applied to the Waterway Problem," coupled the matter of flood prevention with the commercial arguments for river improvement.

"The Mississippi and its tributaries drain an area of 1,250,000 square miles, a figure that challenges imagination," he said. "Great productive stretches of farm land and, indeed, cities, have been and still are flooded annually. The Mississippi, waiting to be harnessed, races over its banks with clocklike precision, devastating hundreds of thousands of acres of this rich Mississippi Valley. The Missouri at intervals swells over into Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska, taking its flood toll of millions of dollars, and in some cases life. The uncompleted locks and dams and basins of the Ohio are not able to hold the Ohio during its rampages. The Wabash, the Tennessee, the Arkansas, the Illinois and the Red at times deluge parts of Arkansas, Texas, Tennessee, Alabama, Illinois and Indiana.

"During these floods channels are changed, trees and logs swept into the streams, new deltas formed, sandbars erected, banks eaten from the one side of the river and extended on the other makeshift docks torn from their moorings and swept downstream to form further obstruction, and, in general, the great river beds left in a condition of chaos and unusefulness.

"We have made only partial experiment with our rivers. We will not have experimented with them until we have prepared them for use. When the Missouri farmer finds that he can ship his products by water, or by rail and water, and have it shipped properly to a market that is accessible to the river or the river and rail, when he can do this and then finds that he has not been benefited, he can then say that waterways transportation is a failure. But not until then.

"The farmer, as well as the manufacturer, is entitled to that opportunity. After spending more than a billion dollars to start the experiment, Congress should now take comprehensive steps to make the experiment real."

At What Cost Shirking Jury Duty?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A FEW days ago a Judge in this city had occasion to rebuke a jury for the character of verdict rendered in his court against the face of the evidence presented.

There is no cause for wonderment at all why such verdicts are continually being rendered in the courts of St. Louis, when its representative, intelligent citizens—heads of business and manufacturing establishments and their more capable employes are allowed to be excused when summoned for jury duty, and chaff that remains is allowed to serve.

Judging from my own experience and observation during the only occasion I have done jury service, the average juror is not competent to sift the maze of conflicting evidence brought out in court, and if there does happen to be one or two competent jurors among the 12, the one or both can decide the verdict.

With reference to the occasion referred to above on which the writer did jury service, he had the fate of the defendant in the hollow of his hand, could have hung him for an unpremeditated murder, but which, the evidence showed, mitigating circumstances in strict justice forbade, so pliant and so powerless were the other 11 to reason for themselves on the basis of the evidence submitted.

Hence, knowing how one man could swing a jury, I do not wonder that two men, as recently done, could free a notorious criminal.

The intelligent, representative citizens of St. Louis have nobody to blame for the existing state of affairs but themselves. And yet, with all their intelligence they overlook the fact that the well-being and safety of the community depend upon their willingness to serve on the jury when summoned, even at the sacrifice of the time and money usually involved. Poor Man's Chance in Florida.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

YOUR story of Florida in Sunday's issue is good, very good, so far as it goes. It deals too much with the big men, however. You should show the unproductiveness of the soil, the enervating, malarious climate, the low wages, the hundreds of real estate salesmen, mechanics and others out of employment and busted. Florida is only good for a few of the big rich to spend two or three winter months and a bad, bad place for the poor man of any standing or class. Been there and know. J. I. BOGGS.

Developing Racial Pride.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I AM a subscriber to your daily paper and a regular reader of your Sunday paper, and daily I find your paper making use of the small letter in the word Negro and using the contemptible, obsolete term "negress." Such usage is an affront to my people and should not be encouraged by newspapers.

The name of every other race is capitalized and there is no reason for not capitalizing Negro. The best newspapers of the country refuse to use the small "n" in the word Negro and the term "negress" is considered obsolete.

I hope this criticism will be taken in the kindly spirit in which it is given and that all future publications of your paper be governed accordingly.

PUT THE RIVERS TO WORK

There is no doubt of the sentiment of the people of the Mississippi Valley with regard to the necessity of completing all the projects for the improvement of the Mississippi River and its tributaries, and as to the method by which it should be done.

The convention of the Mississippi Valley Association in session here is a representative body. It contains delegations of representative men from all parts of the valley. Senators, Representatives in Congress, Governors, Mayors, are in attendance, and their voice is the sentiment of their people.

The people of the Mississippi Valley want the rivers of the valley improved for navigation. They want them made navigable streams, for continuous operation of vessels all the year round so far as possible. They want these improvements made promptly, so that the streams can be put to work, and they want them kept at work. They particularly want all the projects that have been approved completed at the earliest possible date.

In order that this work may be done properly and thoroughly, the valley people want a bond issue covering the entire cost of the approved projects. They want the work done on the Mississippi River and its tributaries, to fit them for navigation, as the work on the Panama Canal was done, with the money necessary at hand, and without delay, which is costly in two ways—in waste of funds and in deprivation of transportation facilities.

It has been demonstrated that river transportation is of tremendous advantage, not only to the people of the valley but to the people of the entire country. It offers adequate, economical means of transportation for the commodities of the valley, for the shipment of grain, raw materials and manufactured goods to markets at home and abroad. It offers the advantage of cheap transportation to the seaboard. It practically makes seaports of cities on and contiguous to the rivers.

The bond issue method, which was advocated by the Post-Dispatch nearly 20 years ago, is demanded for several reasons.

1. It would assure the prompt completion of all the approved projects, and a thorough improvement of all the navigable rivers, thus putting them to work in the shortest possible time. It would enable the people of the valley to enjoy the great benefits of river transportation within five years.

2. It would prevent waste. The present system of niggardly appropriations, doled out year by year, in insufficient amounts to complete the projects that have been approved and started, is the most wasteful and unbusinesslike that could be adopted. Much of the money spent on the projects is lost through delays and insufficient means. The people are deprived of the benefits of transportation, and the Government is deprived of the value of the funds expended.

3. The prompt completion of the approved projects and of all necessary improvements would not only provide adequate transportation facilities for the producers and manufacturers of the valley, but would save enormous sums in transportation cost. The farmers would benefit by millions of dollars in lower transportation costs. The benefits would be extended to all manufacturers and shippers. The profitable advantages of water transportation would be reaped by all the people of the United States, who would share in the benefits of the service and the benefits of lower costs for commodities.

It is gratifying to note that President Coolidge in his New York speech, mentioned the development of river transportation as one of the public necessities. Secretary of War Davis has pledged the support of his department, under whose supervision river improvement is being done.

The whole country is awakening to the importance of river transportation. The time is ripe for action. All that is necessary is the concentration of the forces favoring the completion of river improvement projects. If these forces go to work in earnest the rivers will soon be put to work.

800 POUNDS.

One of the most interesting bombing tests ever conducted in the U. S. Army is now taking place in Washington. Only one bomb will be used. It will be dropped by Col. Mitchell upon the air policies of army and navy. A squad of soldiers lugged the bomb into the hearing room yesterday. It is in the form of a box, it weighs 800 pounds, and it is filled with documentary evidence, supposed to be of highly explosive material.

WHEELER'S MORAL PENURY.

The Moderation League has completed a survey of conditions under the Volstead law and reported its findings of fact and conclusions. Drunkenness as a whole, it states, has reached pre-prohibition levels, while among children and motor drivers it has increased beyond anything previously known. It finds also that conditions are getting worse instead of better, according to the statistics of arrest. Since this is true "and with the next generation drinking as never before there seems to be no hope that the Volstead act in its present drastic form will accomplish its purpose (of promoting temperance and sobriety) in the long run. As a substitute it proposes restrictive legislation.

The report is indorsed by the league's directors and advisory board and carries the signatures of the following: Austen G. Fox, Newcomb Carlton, Haley Fiske, James P. Holland, William Barclay Parsons, Henry S. Pritchett, Henry Holt, Elihu Root, Kermit Roosevelt, Harrington Emerson, John G. Agar, William C. Redfield.

Many of those citizens do not have to be identified. Their names are household words. Every name in the list, with one exception, is found in Who's Who. Eminence in many fields is here represented—in education, industry, science, statecraft and several professions. Men of character and consequence, all.

But Mr. Wayne Wheeler of the Antisaloon League derides the report as false and denounces the Moderation League as an "imported Canadian wet organization," which, he asserts, "is financed by liquor dealers and deluded wets." He charges those men, by implication, with being either imbeciles or knaves—either the victims of unscrupulous imposition or partners in crime.

In the circumstances sympathy should be extended to Mr. Wayne Wheeler. In defending the tragic blunder of prohibition he has neither facts nor prospects to invoke. He is reduced to moral penury. He can do nothing but sling mud.

MISSOURI'S ROAD PROGRESS.

Missouri's good road project is striding forward. The St. Louis-Kansas City route, No. 2, the airline cross-state road, will be concreted by Christmas, with the exception of the 40-mile graveled stretch upon which finishing work has been held up by the "Fulton injunction." Another State route from St. Louis to Kansas City, by way of Jefferson City, will be hard surfaced by the end of next year, as will the St. Louis-Springfield-Joplin route.

Those statements are official. They were made by Chief Engineer Piepmeier of the State Highway Commission in a luncheon address at the City Club. Mr. Piepmeier went on to say that Missouri is now leading all other states in its road-building program. This year approximately 1000 miles of road will be hard-surfaced, and some 750 miles will be bridged and graded and ready for surfacing next year. More than 50 per cent of the State system of 7640 miles will be completed during 1926.

The remainder of the program will be more easily and expeditiously carried out. It will be largely a matter of connecting links and closing gaps. The precautionary stipulations fixed by the Legislature, such as limiting contracts and requiring work to proceed simultaneously in all of our 114 counties, have made construction slow; fortunately the obstructive force of such conditions weakens progressively as the work proceeds.

The success of the project is in sight. It will presently be an accomplished fact. The experience should be helpful in our road programs of the future. For we shall not have finished road building with the completion of the present system. We shall only have begun. For example, the motorbus was unheard of when the people of Missouri authorized the bond issue of $60,000,000. It is now a lusty infant. It is growing prodigiously. It seems destined for a career of extraordinary service—a career that will demand enlarged highways, or possibly roads of a new type, and will justify such investment with the invaluable return of cheap transportation.

THE REAL HERO.

It may be that the next war will be fought in the air, and that the doughboy will be simply an interested spectator, but his part in the last war eclipsed in danger any other branch of the service. That more than 76 per cent of American army officers who were killed were infantrymen is disclosed by figures just issued by the War Department. Of 2285 officers killed, 1756 were from infantry outfits. Figures for enlisted men will show perhaps even a greater proportion of dead infantrymen.

Certainly it was the doughboy who won the war. While other services, booted and spurred, were cutting brilliant and sensational capers, it was this Cinderella who was doing the real work. He was the drudge who dug the trenches, sat in their filth for interminable days, and then climbed out to meet the enemy in person. He was the real pawn in the great game, and he was represented by the all-important bright-headed pins in the General's map at headquarters.

Yet in the army hierarchy the infantry private was the saddest and most forlorn critter. Many an elegant staff officer daintily sidestepped any contact with him. He had, perhaps, just come from the front. He was unwashed. He was lousy. His uniform hung in ridiculous folds on his gaunt and awkward figure. Wisps of hair protruded from his overseas cap. One cheek bulged with a quid of tobacco. Such was the outward aspect of the real hero of the World War.

MR. NEW WINS.

Over the protest of Postmaster-General New, and at the request of President Coolidge, there will soon be a Woodrow Wilson postage stamp. Mr. New (Republican, Indiana) wins. The stamp will be of the 17-cent denomination, of which it is estimated that, for the 10-year period just ended, 234 specimens were sold.

NO SENSE OF HUMOR.

Middlesex County, N. J., is experiencing the reductio ad absurdum of blue-lawism. Last Sunday police took the names of hundreds of citizens who violated New Jersey's old vice and immorality act. The offenses included driving an automobile, selling newspapers, riding on trolley cars, buying food, playing games and going to the theater on the Sabbath. Two weeks ago 3711 violators were listed. It is planned by the County Prosecutor to present these names to the grand jury, with a view to getting a protest from that body against the presence of the law on the statute books.

Such ridicule may seem deadly, even to a grim old puritanic law, but we have our doubts. In the curious age in which we live there are two persistent rivals for the center of the stage. One is unbridled license. The other is a narrow and sour puritanism. Graft and corruption in high places and an unprecedented wave of murder and other crimes is counterbalanced by monkey trials at Dayton and a spirit of reform which would deprive man of his most sacred rights to achieve its end.

The Prosecutor of Middlesex County is making a noble effort to wipe a silly and tyrannical statute from the books. But we daresay there are many persons in New Jersey who would like to see the blue law, with all its absurdity, enforced to the last comma and semi-colon. Intolerance has no sense of humor.

BALLADE OF STRANGE VOWS.

I've never learned to use a tray
For pipe, cigar or cigarette;
I let the ash fall where it may.
My room gets dirty sans regret;
I hold that when I'm in my lair,
It is my right the ash to strew,
But lady, miss and maiden fair,
I'd use a tray for one like you.

When I undress to go to bed
What matter where my clothes may fall?
Or where or how my things are spread
Concerns my tired soul not at all;
If on the floor or on a chair,
Where clothes belong I never knew,
But lady, miss and maiden fair,
I'd hang them up for one like you.

I like to stay out late at night,
I love to greet the rising sun;
To talk all night is my delight,
My wit is brightest after one.
At night I'm free from carking care,
Nor would I bid good friends adieu,
But lady, miss and maiden fair,
I'd stay at home for one like you.

L'ENVOI.

If I were wed, it might impair
The freedom dear which is my due,
But lady, miss and maiden fair,
'Twould be small loss for one like you.

Sir: A short while ago your editorial department was inspired to a readable and pedantic refutation of the charge of the late Henry Cabot Lodge that Woodrow Wilson's scholarship was not of high order and that genuine scholarship was not given to frequent quotations of the wisdom of others. As an example he (Lodge) cites the famous phrase from Wilson's war declaration, "God being willing, we can do no other!" as an unconscious plagiarism of Martin Luther's alleged conclusion at the Diet of Worms: "Here I stand! I cannot do otherwise! God help me!"

This hyper-criticism shows that the late H. C. L.'s scholarship limped at times, even like that of us dumb, ordinary nit-wits. So for the benefit of your able editorial writer and historical accuracy we regret to shatter the illusion that Luther was the friendless, raging lion which certain fictionists picture him to be. To the contrary, his cause was championed at Worms by a large and influential block of nobles, while his personal conduct was more timid than bold. And his concluding words were the customary ones of those times! "God help me! Amen!" Woodrow Wilson knew his history too well to try to bolster up fables.

LESS LIGHT ON POLICE METHODS.

(Brighton, Ill., News.)

Sometime during Sunday the electric lamp which lighted the police station in the rear of the Village Hall was stolen, and the thief has not yet been apprehended. Not only was the lamp stolen, but the socket and the dropcord were also taken. New wiring and lamps have been installed in police headquarters and extended into the fire department. The lamps are kept burning all night, in order to make the three fire engines more easily discernible after sunset, it is claimed.

Your bread and butter make cowards of us all.

Sir: May the writer echo "Innocent Bystander's" exclamation, "This man Mencken!" This Baltimore buster, unlike the speechless product for which his home town is so famous, is indeed a corker, and as live a current topic as prohibition, Valentino or the redoubtable Red Grange himself. If his torrential output continues to gush forth much longer at its present rate, its quantitative proportions will soon throw the hitherto unequaled achievements of industrious old Lope da Vega into the shade, and the whole country will be divided into two mutually hostile camps of Menckenites and antis. We shall have Menckenite Tybalts and anti-Menckenite Mercutios roaming about, promiscuously drilling holes into each other, with the more lowly adherents of the rival factions contumeliously biting their thumbs one at another. The personal cause of all this possible mischief has a most exasperating power of again and again alluring to within range of his critical brickbats, even those who pish and tush and pooh-pooh over his extravagances. One reads, for instance, the really silly and Lilliputian estimate he places on those two Brobdingnagian figures, Wilson and Roosevelt, flings the book away with a gesture of disgust, and then sneaks after it to find out what other equally ridiculous things the author has to say. Even those of his critics who denounce his "assaults upon the ageless decencies," his "laboratory culture," his "delusion of cleverness," hike off to the library or the book store as soon as a new volume of his production is announced—looks as though they actually yearned for another blow between the eyes from the ever-active and fast-moving fists of this bouncing, bounding light-weight—or heavy-weight, as one's own prejudices incline. As a sort of flivver critic, he has succeeded in getting hisself as well advertised as the Potentate of Dearborn himself. He deserves a sound spanking almost every hour of the day, and has had many administered to him, but seems to thrive on the punishment he sustains, and even to make capital of it—unblushingly quotes a few words of excoriating denunciation, and then proceeds to build up a profitable essay on it.

How will it all end? Mr. Ernest Boyd may be able to authoritatively prophesy as to the verdict of the future on Mr. Mencken, but there are many of the undismayed booboisie who feel pretty sure that Time, the great leveler, will sink Brother Hank to the place where he naturally belongs—will deprive him of his grand stand seat and run him into the bleachers, among the mediocrities for whom he affects so hearty a contempt. If America be really the "nation of third-rate men" he so insistently says it is, no better proof of this can be adduced than the seriousness with which a large part of our reading public has taken Mr. Mencken, his opinions, and that so-called "philosophy" of his which reminds one of what Berton Braley said of his own high-brow cogitations:

So when I think of this and that,
Of when and where and why,
You don't know what I'm driving at,
And neither, sir, do I!

PADEREWSKI, THE STATESMAN.

COL. E. M. HOUSE in Harper's Magazine for December.

PADEREWSKI is one of the best-known, one of the most written about, and one of the least understood of those who stand foremost among men. His genius as a musician has obscured his achievements as a statesman, as an orator, a linguist, and patriot. * * * The peace conference was well under way when the necessary preliminaries had been arranged for him to come as a fully accredited representative. * * * Paderewski was one of the few at Paris who had an outlook wider than his own country. While he was for Poland and her needs if she was to become an important state, yet he was for Europe as a whole—a Europe that could live in peace within itself. * * * He came to Paris in the minds of many as an incongruous figure, whose place was on the concert stage, and not as one to be reckoned with in the settlement of a torn and distracted world. He left Paris, in the minds of his colleagues, a statesman, an incomparable orator, a linguist, and one who had the history of his Europe better in hand than any of his brilliant associates. No living man has had more adulation than Paderewski and no man has been less affected by it. * * * He is as modest as a child, as unassuming as the humblest in the land. I have seen many men grow in power and influence, but rarely have I seen one whom it did not change in a noticeable way. It is one of the tests of real greatness. It is what appeals to us in Lincoln—his humility, his lack of high self-esteem.

ANGLO-AMERICAN CO-OPERATION.

From the Detroit Free Press.

IN Sir Esme Howard the cause of Anglo-American co-operation has an ardent advocate. In promoting that ideal, as he did in an address before a meeting of the English-Speaking Union of St. Louis, he performed one of the highest functions of his mission, and it is an auspicious circumstance that the official relations between the American and British Governments are now to such an extent normal as to enable the British envoy to devote all the more of his energy to the propagation of friendly feelings between the two countries. And when this friendship is further cemented there will be no need for browbeating or dominating anybody. United in a firm peaceful resolve, the English-speaking world will exert a tremendous though perhaps indirect moral influence in behalf of peace on other nations.

BULLOCK ESTATE MADE A LIFETIME BENEFIT FOR WIDOW

Former Dry Goods Merchant Left Property Valued Up to Half a Million.

The entire estate of Richard B. Bullock, wealthy former dry goods merchant, who died Nov. 16, aged 83, is left in trust for the lifetime benefit of his widow, Mrs. Sarah A. Bullock, in the will, which was filed for probate yesterday.

It has been estimated that the estate is worth at least $500,000, while it is known that Mr. Bullock made a large distribution of his fortune among his wife and four children a number of years ago.

After the death of Mrs. Bullock the estate will be held in trust for the benefit of the children, Mrs. Walter Kobusch of 6349 Ellenwood avenue; Richard Arthur Bullock of the same address; George B. Bullock of 5530 Delmar boulevard, and James A. Bullock of Clayton road, St. Louis County. Their shares will go to them outright as each reaches the age of 55.

Richard A. Bullock and the St. Louis Union Trust Co. are the trustees under the will, while Richard and George Bullock are the executors.

As told in Sunday's Post-Dispatch, Mr. Bullock's fortune was based on his former dry goods business at 2228 Franklin avenue, but grew to large proportions through a fortunate small investment in Burroughs Adding Machine Co. stock, which has multiplied greatly in value. The will provides that any stock dividends shall be added to the principal of the estate, thereby avoiding a possible legal contention.

FUNERAL OF MRS. J. A. WALSH, RESIDENT OF CITY 73 YEARS

She Was Born at Astoria, L. I.; Ancestors Were Among Pioneer Settlers in New York.

Funeral services for Mrs. Jennie Lind Walsh, 78 years old, who died at her home, 3708 Juniata street, early yesterday of the infirmities of age, were held today at an undertaker's chapel at 3163 East Grand boulevard. Interment was in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

Mrs. Walsh was born at Astoria, Long Island, in 1848. She moved to St. Louis with her father 73 years ago, where he, a hat manufacturer, located on Fourth street a few years later.

Prior to her marriage in 1872 to James A. Walsh, she was a teacher at Franklin School. Her maternal ancestors, the De Rappelyes, were early settlers in New York.

She is survived by her husband, two daughters, four sons, a sister and a brother, as well as 12 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Paul is as shallow at 4½ feet. The remainder is 6 feet deep. The chart bears an inscription that the Rhine, with only a 4½-foot channel, carries millions of tons of commerce. Is that not giving a strong argument to the enemies of waterways? Here, with a channel of 4½ feet or better, there is no business on the river; therefore, they will ask, 'Why do you need the rivers?'" mouth, and certain tributaries of these rivers. These adopted projects comprise a waterway system 6520 miles in length, penetrating the most productive area in the United States, if not in the world. We have expended $200,000,000 upon these projects. The engineers have estimated that $75,000,000 will complete the entire system.

CONGRESSMAN URGES WORK ON THE LOWER VALLEY

"This great outlay of money is yielding very little upon the investment, and the interior of the country is suffering from the lack of adequate and reasonable transportation facilities because the other $75,000,000 has not been expended in order that these works may be completed."

The speaker dwelt upon the "Chicago diversion" of water from the Great Lakes into the channel of what will be the "nine-foot Lakes-to-Gulf waterway." Suit has been brought to enjoin the diversion, on the grounds that it lowered the lake level to a harmful extent, Newton commented.

"The only thing which cannot be restored is the loss of 10,000 cubic feet of water per second for power purposes at Niagara Falls and down the St. Lawrence River, and I find that many who are most strenuously opposed to the diversion at Chicago have no qualms of conscience about advocating far more extensive diversions from Niagara Falls for the manufacture of electricity to be used by Canadian and American power interests.

Power Propaganda.

"I am persuaded, after a most careful study of this problem, that 98 per cent of the opposition to diversion at Chicago has been aroused and sustained at the expense and through the influence of the great power interests who seek to enrich themselves by power created at Niagara Falls and along the St. Lawrence, and they are not concerned with the transportation problems of our country.

"Another interesting matter which I cannot ignore in this discussion is the fact that while we, of the Mississippi and Ohio Valleys, and the great interior of this country, are interested in great waterway projects which have been duly adopted by Congress, upon the recommendation, and after exhaustive study made by the engineers of the United States, members of Congress, representing districts bordering upon the Great Lakes and territories tributary to the St. Lawrence, have steadily opposed the appropriation of funds necessary to complete these projects. I recall making an analysis of the vote cast in Congress upon the last contested river and harbor appropriation bill, and I recall that out of some 45 members of Congress representing districts in the territory only eight of them voted for a bill to provide adequate funds for the improvement of our inland rivers; and it occurs to me that it would be well if our friends to the north of us, who are appealing through propaganda and public speech to the rest of the country to undertake the gigantic problem of improving the St. Lawrence, would realize the needs and necessities of the rest of the United States, and would show a willingness to complete deserving adopted projects in our own country before undertaking vastly more expensive projects in an alien country."

ports to the Middle West by the lack of waterways. This is an unnecessary and an unjust burden, and should be lifted."

Illinois Contribution.

Deneen stated that, with the completion of present projects, the State and the city of Chicago will have expended over $120,000,000 on a channel leading to the Mississippi River 103¼ miles long, 40 miles by the Sanitary District of Chicago and 63½ miles by the State.

"This is the contribution by the State of Illinois and its agencies," he said, "to the waterway from the Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico. Illinois asks only that the Federal Government care for the channel of the lower river from Utica, the terminus of the State canal, to Grafton, 228 miles away and of which the Federal Government has always had jurisdiction. The estimated cost to the Federal Government for this channel is less than $5,000,000."

The Senator then reviewed the present status of the fight of various sections against the diversion of water from Lake Michigan. He recalled that the Secretary of War's right to limit this diversion was upheld by the Supreme Court last March, and that thereafter the court entered a decree permitting the flow to be reduced to 4167 cubic feet per second, subject to any modification the Secretary of War might make.

"Harsh and Expensive."

In return the Sanitary District agreed to construct regulation works to cost $1,250,000, filed a bond for $1,000,000, and entered upon a program for sewage disposal to cost $125,000,000.

"These were harsh and expensive conditions," he said, "but they are being met by the city of Chicago."

our national prosperity and to the welfare of millions of stock and bond holders, and they are honestly endeavoring to find a happy solution whereby they can earn a fair dividend and furnish better transportation; remember the physical restrictions of waterways and the necessity of co-operation and coordination with the railroads to extend the benefits of cheap water transportation to all who have been taxed to secure it, and by your utilization of waterways demonstrate that such utilization helps the railroads by returning to them fourfold in manufactured products what is taken away from them in raw material by the waterways; that cheap transportation will result in the creation and the development of manufacturing centers that will in time feed the railroads and make them prosperous; and that by the proper use of our waterways in co-operation and co-ordination with the railroads the latter will be saved a very large part of their billion dollars a year expenditure for ten years to meet the increasing demands of transportation.

"If you don't, you yourselves will pay in some way, directly or indirectly, this $10,000,000,000, of which at least half should remain in your pockets."

Publisher Convicted of Smuggling.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday affirmed the conviction of Dr. Philip Giordano, Italian newspaper owner and politician, and his brother, Alfred Giordano, on a charge of smuggling seven aliens into the United States. Dr. Giordano, who is said to have claimed leadership of all republican Italian-Americans in this country, was sentenced to a year and a day in Atlanta and fined $5000. His brother was fined $1000.

COUNTESS KAROLYI'S STORY ASSAILS ARISTOCRACY'S RULE OF HUNGARY BEFORE WAR

She Tells How Nobility Lived as Something Apart From Other Humans—Could Meet Common People in Country, but Not in City.

As "an undesirable person" under the terms of the United States immigration laws, Countess Catherine Karolyi has been refused by the State Department permission to enter the United States, where she was to have delivered several lectures. The Countess, wife of the first President of the Hungarian Republic, has written six articles which give, in outline, the political events which she wished to tell of in her lectures. This is the second of the series and the others will appear daily in the Post-Dispatch.

By COUNTESS CATHERINE KAROLYI.

(Copyright, 1925, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc. Copyright in Canada and Great Britain. All rights Reserved. Reproduction Prohibited.)

PARIS, Nov. 10.—People generally think Hungary is a country whose inhabitants are gypsies who wander about in caravans and who have enchanting music of their own, and that the national dish—gulash—has a lot of red pepper in it.

But I think more typical than these of Hungary are its medieval structure, its semi-feudal institutions, and its social life, which are in vivid contrast with the Western democracies.

Hungary before the war was dominated purely by its aristocracy. It was essentially an agrarian country. It was ruled by big land owners who belonged to the class of high nobility, and by the clergy, especially of the Roman Catholic Church, which possessed enormous wealth.

The will of my people was entirely disregarded. Not only the many other races living in Hungary—Slavs, Rumanians, Germans and the like—but also the Hungarian peasans themselves, were treated as serfs and were deprived of any voice in the Government of their country.

Out of the 20,000,000 people, 2000 owned two-thirds of the land. The consequence of this state of affairs was that Hungarian peasants emigrated in such great numbers that one of the most urgent problems of Hungary was how to prevent the emigration of the masses of the people from the thinly populated country.

"Apart From Other Humans."

Our society life was one of the most exclusive and snobbish to be found anywhere in the world. I was brought up to believe that we were something quite apart from all other humans. Anyone who worked for a living was regarded as belonging to another world.

The middle class intellectual was just as far outside of our circle as was the peasant, and the lawyers, doctors, professors and artists were all regarded as belonging to the same uninteresting plebian crowd. We did not even try to understand them, and it was considered bad taste to seek their company. In short, our society never came into contact with other social circles, and we rarely knew there were interesting people outside of our own set.

It was in this atmosphere that I was brought up. But as I grew older, I felt the absurdity of it all, and many violent disputes occurred between me and my friends.

To marry a man who had no title, even if he belonged to a good old family, was regarded as a degradation. The social etiquette of the Hungarian nobility was most tyrannical. There were people one could meet in the country, but not in the city; others who were invited to big receptions but who were not to be asked for luncheons. Again there were others who were only met at charity entertainments, but who, after they had paid for the pleasure of seeing you, were not supposed to see you again until the next charity ball.

At one of these charity balls a Countess in the "grand chain" was put in the disagreeable position of having to give her gloved hand to an unknown neighbor. To avoid this she held out her lace handkerchief to the abashed man, who, although embarrassed, arose manfully to the occasion, took the handkerchief, blew his plebeian nose into it, returned it and murmured his thanks.

It was not the habit to send children of the aristocracy to school. Our nursery was filled with governesses—French, English, German and Hungarian—and we lived our lives excluded as much as possible from the outside world. Even our parents we seldom saw. The girls were brought up with the hope of an early marriage to a wealthy nobleman. The girls, even when grown up, were supposed to believe the story of the stork.

ARMY PLANE CRASHES IN SEA; TWO KILLED

Two Others Swim to Shore—Cause of Engine Trouble a Mystery.

By the Associated Press.

HONOLULU, T. H., Nov. 24.—The twin engines in a Martin bombing plane went dead yesterday off the rocky coast of Northern Oahu and two aviators were killed in a 500-foot drop. Two others of the same crew—Lieut. Grandison Gardner and Corporal Francis Johnson—swam to the shore. The dead are Capt. Karl H. Gorman, Morgantown, W. Va., and Lieut. Howard C. Brandt, of Pass Christian, Miss.

Acting under the direction of Lieut. Gardner, the largest cordon of searching craft since the Hawaiian flight vigil was dispatched to the vicinity. While the search progressed, the ill-fated bomber was tossed on the rocks, six miles from the spot where it went under. Lieut. Cecil Archer, skimming the water in an army pursuit plane shortly before dusk, spotted two bodies 200 yards from the shore and signaled to the shore patrol, where three enlisted men joined together with a rope swam out to recover the bodies, but darkness frustrated their efforts. The men were forced to return after reaching the bodies. Gardner told the officials that both motors in the plane were cut off simultaneously, and the machine dropped into the sea while flying at an altitude of 500 feet.

Officials are unable to fix the cause for twin motors stopping at the same time, as this instance is the first on record.

PHONE GIRL DIES OF POISON AFTER ROW WITH HUSBAND

Mrs. Rebecca Kopriza, 25 Years Old, Succumbs; Mate Hinted at Self-Destruction.

Mrs. Rebecca Kopriza, 25 years old, a telephone operator, died at city hospital today from the effects of mercury tablets swallowed at her home, 5022 Page boulevard, after a quarrel with her husband, William Kopriza, on Nov. 20.

Kopriza had left home the previous day, taking his belongings, and intimating to his landlady that he might attempt suicide, according to the police report. He quit his work that day at the Heydt Bakery Co., Seventeenth and Biddle streets.

Mrs. Kopriza left two notes, one giving addresses where her husband might be found and the other, addressed to her mother, Mrs. M. B. Collier of Bridgeport, Tex., willing her diamond rings and other property to Mrs. C. M. Burd, presumably a sister, of the same town.

SAFE ROBBERS' LOOT $85,000

Jewelry Firms in Victoria Building Estimate Their Losses.

The loot obtained by robbers, who forcibly entered and robbed four safes in Victoria Building offices early Sunday, was estimated today at approximately $85,000 by the losers.

The Fisher Jewelry Co. places its loss at about $40,000; the Greenstreets-Monti Jewelry Co., more than $35,000, and Edward J. Gallant, jewelry jobber, $10,000. The Prudential Life Insurance Col lost $826 in cash and bonds, the other losses being in diamonds and jewelry.

Clerk Held After Auto Collision.

Assistant State's Attorney Thomas late yesterday swore out an information in the St. Clair County Court against C. A. Lassiter, who says he is a postal clerk at Loma, Ky., charging him with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. The information is the result of an auto collision on the Mascoutah road, Sunday night, when it is alleged Lassiter crashed into a machine driven by D. C. Hudson, negro, of East St. Louis. The occupants escaped injury. Lassiter is in the County jail.

WITNESS IN MITCHELL CASE QUESTIONED BY NAVY BOARD

Shenandoah Investigators Cross-Examine Lieut. O. A. Anderson About Parachutes for Airships.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The Shenandoah Naval Court today cross-examined other witnesses who had testified in the Col. William Mitchell courtmartial, questioning Lieut. O. A. Anderson, Army Air Service officer from Kelly Field, Tex., for two hours.

Before the Mitchell court Anderson testified that rigid airships should be equipped with parachutes and that the Shenandoah's structure probably was weakened when she tore away from the mooring mast at Lakehurst, N. J., in January, 1924.

The witness conceded that the ships were purely a matter of opinquestion of equipping rigid airlon, which should be based on experience and study. He thought there was a probability that one or two of those killed in the Shenandoah wreck might have been saved had parachutes been on board.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 24.—Peter Rosian, an actor and fond of associating with stage and film folk, passed the time away with other guests at Pola Negri's bungalow here last night. He departed before the others, and a little later was jailed on suspicion of grand larceny. Police alleged that when Rosian passed out of the bungalow a gold clock Miss Negri valued at $1000 went with him.

The Water Cured Tube

replaces old steam cured Tube

The new Goodrich Water Cure Process cures tubes completely in water at the temperature of steam. The water is under 150-pounds pressure. During the curing the 150-pound impact delivers its pressure evenly over the entire surface of the tube; evenly to each one-millionth part of a square inch. Acting with the mandrel on the inside of the tube, this pressure irons out every vestige of aeration; every air pocket, no matter how small. A perfect tube is the result.

Here is the perfected inner tube, as near 100 per cent. quality as human effort can attain ideal perfection.

By installation of the Water Cure in place of Steam Cure, Goodrich has reduced the chance of casual imperfection in tube making to the vanishing point. For years tubes have been cured in steam. The new process substitutes water at the temperature of steam for steam itself—water under 150 pounds pressure.

This scientific refinement puts complete security into the physical condition of a Goodrich tube; hence practical assurance that it will render utmost service.

The water impact compresses evenly the entire surface of the tube, delivering its force exactly the same to each millionth part of a square inch.

It irons out every bit of aeration, or the slightest vestige of a raw seam, and leaves no chance for small air pockets, bubbles, blisters, and imperfections around the valve.

A tube of firm, velvety texture, with neatly joined seams is turned out—all of it free from flaws, visible or invisible.

You see the difference in the tube made by this process the instant you take it in your hand. You feel it in its tough yet lively rubber—the strength and flexibility of it.

It has more body, a healthier texture. You just know it will last longer.

You like how the seams merge into the tube. You admire the precision and completeness of the finish around the valve.

Its performance too has demonstrated that it is a more lasting tube.

It ages better; that is, withstands normal weakening from time.

It has a greater resistance against tear.

Goodrich tubes have always been fine; and Silvertown tubes, superfine.

The new Goodrich Water Cure Process carries them on to still more advanced betterment.

It brings them to the very edge of ideal perfection towards which good manufacturing strives.

When you buy a tube, made by the Water Cure Process, the chance of getting an imperfect tube is next to nothing.

When you buy Goodrich or Silvertown tubes, you buy the Water Cure Process.

AMERICAN SHIP HELD BY CHINESE OFFICIALS

Shooting of Natives by U. S. Naval Guard and Sinking of Junks, Alleged.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright 1925.

PEKIN, Nov. 24.—Claims are pending against Cox & Co., an American firm in Shanghai, and against the United States Government by the Chinese Commissioner of Foreign Affairs in Chungking, Szechwan, because, it is alleged, the company's Yangtze River steamer, Meiren, sank several Chinese junks and caused the drowning of Chinese soldiers, while American Navy guards fired on the soldiers, killing two and wounding nine.

No details have been received at the American Legation here, but the American Consul is trying to arbitrate between the company and the Chinese authorities. The Chinese foreign authorities have sent the claim and a protest to the American Legation, alleging that the navy guard on the Meiren fired on the victims without provocation.

The boat is being held and unless released soon will be forced to remain throughout the winter, owing to lowering of the water.

Moscow Dispatch Says Junks Were Filled With Soldiers.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright 1925.

MOSCOW, Nov. 24.—Under a two-column heading "New crime of imperialists in China; Americans shoot drowning Chinese," the Moscow newspapers today carry a dispatch from Pekin saying that an American ship in the upper Yangtze River, near Chungking, sank several junks filled with Chinese soldiers and afterward fired upon the drowning men.

The report adds that the Chinese authorities seized the ship, made a claim of damages to the owners and also to the American Government.

SECRETARY DAVIS REVIEWS SIXTH INFANTRY AT BARRACKS

More Than 1000 Officers and Men File Past Cabinet Official—He Inspects Veterans' Hospital.

The Sixth Infantry was reviewed at Jefferson Barracks yesterday afternoon by Secretary of War Davis as part of a tour of inspection of the army post.

The Secretary expressed himself as highly pleased with the appearance of the regiment, which is one of the oldest outfits in the service. More than 1000 officers and men marched in the ranks of the rifle and machine gun companies and others passed the stand in tanks, transport wagons and on horseback.

While the troops were in the "march past," the army airship TC-7, which followed Col. Davis on his first public appearance here as War Secretary, floated over the barracks, its motors idling against the light wind.

Following the review, Secretary Davis inspected the Veterans' Bureau Hospital, attended a reception at the home of Col. David L. Stone, commandant at the barracks, and then hurried to Hotel Statler where he was initiated into Voiture 38 of the Forty and Eight, along with Mayor Miller, who also became a "Forty and Eighter."

Secretary Davis, who had combat service overseas, was the first commander of St. Louis Post, American Legion. Following his induction into the Forty and Eight he left to attend a banquet of the Mississippi Valley Association, also at Hotel Statler.

$52.50 JUDGMENT BECAUSE SALT GOT INTO CHICKEN FEED

Merchant Wins Suit Against Ice Concern on Grounds Driver's Action Killed 35 Fowls.

The Union Fuel and Ice Co. must pay $52.50 to George M. Elchinger, meat dealer at 3608 Finney avenue, for 35 chickens that died after eating rock salt in their feed May 12, 1923, according to a ruling today by Circuit Judge Falkenhainer, who upheld a justice court decision.

Elchinger contended that an ice-wagon driver, employed by the Union company, spilled rock salt into the feed while delivering ice. Evidence was introduced to show that salt is fatal to chickens.

The defendant contended there was no evidence to show that the driver had handled salt carelessly.

General Motors car prices are standard

THE FACTORY PRICE of any automobile (usually the price advertised) is not the price you pay. To the factory price will be added a charge for freight, a charge to cover war tax, a charge for conditioning the car for delivery (unloading, cleaning, oiling, etc.)—and, if you buy the car on time, a charge for financing. So remember this:

1. When you buy a General Motors car for cash, you may be sure that the charges for freight, war tax and conditioning are real and fixed. They have not been padded to maintain a factory price, or to allow a price reduction, or to yield an extra profit to the dealer, or to permit an unreasonably large allowance for your used car. General Motors dealers end their profit with the factory price.

2. When you buy a General Motors car on time, the cost is the cash price, plus nothing more than the official GMAC financing charge—always the lowest and now still lower.

General Motors has standardized the prices of its cars to protect both the dealer and the buyer. This is another reason why General Motors offers "the greatest values in automobile history."

TEN INJURED IN WRECK

By the Associated Press.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 24.—Ten passengers were injured yesterday when the Pittsburg-New York Express on the Pennsylvania lines sideswiped a derailed freight car at Donohoe, Pa., near here. The accident occurred when the drawhead on a freight car pulled out, derailing the car and throwing it against the passenger train which was passing on the next track.

Nine of the injured were cut by flying glass. They resumed their journey after being attended by doctors at Greensburg. Morris Marshall of Philadelphia was removed to a hospital at Johnstown, suffering from an injured back.

SAYS AMERICANS FOMENT CONFLICT

Chilean Ex-President Denounces Emissaries From United States in Tacna-Arica Dispute.

By the Associated Press.

ARICA, Chile, Nov. 24.—Americans in Arica are accused by the former Chilean President, Arturo Alessandri, of promoting "conflict, discord and hatred" between Chile and Peru instead of trying to solve peacefully the dispute over Tacna and Arica.

The former President's charges were made in a speech delivered yesterday afternoon at the funeral of a carabinero, who was killed in an attack last Friday on a carabinero station house at Morutia.

"We went to Washington," Senor Alessandri said, "and there met with the justice and co-operation for the work of peace which we were looking for. But through events, which I hope will be corrected, those charged with carrying the olive branch as messengers of that great American people, instead of bringing peace, seem to have carried out a program bringing conflict, discord and hatred among the two peoples which they were to join with the holy bonds of fraternity and love."

Chile had given all the guarantees demanded preliminary to holding the Tacna-Arica plebiscite, with the result that Chilean carabineros were killed, he said. The Chileans were replying to injustices with kindness, but their patience would end and then "we will rise to show the world that the sons of this land know how to fall in defending justice and right."

U. S. Warship Ready to Sail for Arica.

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Nov. 24.—The U. S. S. Denver has received wireless orders from Rear Admiral Julian Latimer to stand by in readiness to proceed to Arica, Chile. The Denver coaled yesterday and it is unofficially stated that she will sail today.

Admiral Latimer has been in Arica since August, when he transported the American members of the Tacna-Arica plebiscitary commission to their destination aboard his flagship, the U. S. S. Rochester.

An Arica dispatch yesterday said authoritative Chilean circles looked for a break-up of the plebiscitary commission headed by Gen. Pershing as neutral chairman and set up under President Coolidge's arbitral award in the dispute between Peru and Chile. The Chilean delegates have withdrawn because of differences over the preparations for the plebiscite to determine the sovereignty of the territory in dispute.

BOND OF $5000 FORFEITED

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Ill., Nov. 24.—The $5000 bond of "Dutch" Rebec, St. Louis gangster, charged with shooting Lloyd Haverstick in a liquor fued near Christman, last March, was forfeited by Judge Brewer yesterday when Rebec failed to appear for trial.

An indictment against Joe Trauem, associate of Rebec, was dismissed. Haverstick is in an Indianapolis jail serving a liquor sentence. Trauem is in a Chicago jail on a charge of participating in a jewelry store holdup. A bench warrant was issued for Rebec.

STOLEN AUTO FOUND WITH FOUR BULLET HOLES IN IT

An abandoned sedan with four bulelt holes in it was found at 7:30 p. m. yesterday on the Eagle Park road in National City. One slug had pierced its gas tank and three others had struck its sides. It was stolen from F. E. Benard of Decatur last Sunday, the police learned.

It was said that the men in the machine fired several shots as it was driven past Third and Broadway, East St. Louis, an hour before it was found. Decatur police say they believe it was stolen by burglars who robbed three safes there Saturday night.

"QUICK QUAKER"

To get true Scotch flavor—famous Quaker Oats flavor—in quick cooking oats

THE difference in breakfast oats is flavor. Oats, originally a Scotch dish, must have Scotch flavor.

Quick Quaker has the toasty Scotch flavor that's so wonderful . . . famous Quaker Oats flavor.

No other brand has it. None successfully imitates it. It's due to exclusive Quaker milling of the finest, plumpest oats. Milling methods which took some 50 years to perfect.

Makes all the difference in the world. Quaker Oats spoils folks for ordinary brands of oats. Cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. No kitchen muss busy mornings.

Due to Quaker milling methods, it supplies, too, the "roughage" you need to make laxatives seldom necessary.

Look for the picture of a Quaker on the oats you get.

PUBLIC SERVICE BODY HEARS CITIZENS ON STREET WORKS

Suggestions and Complaints; Chestnut Street Men Object to Smooth Cobble Paving.

The Board of Public Service today heard complaints and suggestions of property owners interested in street improvement projects now under consideration.

A group from Chestnut street between Third and Fourth streets appeared to object to the repaving of that block with smooth cobble stones. Their attorney, W. Scott Hancock, declared that the rough cobble now in the street was in good condition and was more satisfactory on the steep grade than smooth cobble would be.

Isaac Meyer, vice-president of the Meyer-Bannerman Real Estate Co., which owns three buildings on Lucas avenue which is to be repaved from Fourth to Eleventh street, objected to loading platforms and peddlers' stands which are permitted on that thoroughfare. He argued that the street should be cleared of obstructions in accordance with rules on streets to the south of Lucas.

Aldermen of the Streets Committee recommended that a part of the expense for the proposed widening and paving Grand boulevard from Arsenal to Miami street should be drawn from the bond issue as in the case of South Jefferson avenue and Cass avenue, which are main thoroughfares. The Board stated he would ask the Bond Issue Supervisory Committee to approve the appropriation of one-fourth the cost from bond issue funds. In the meantime, the Streets Committee is holding a bill which would appropriate $75,000 for the work.

TWO ST. LOUIS FUR FIRMS INCLUDED IN CONSOLIDATION

Fouke and Funsten Companies to Retain Names and Continue to Conduct Business Here.

The Fouke Fur Co. and Funsten Bros. & Co., large St. Louis fur firms, are included in a consolidation announced in New York. The holding concern, the Eitingon-Schild Co., plans to offer for public sale $4,000,000 10-year sinking fund gold debentures.

Philip B. Fouke, president of the two St. Louis companies, said, following the announcement, that the Fouke and Funsten companies would continue to conduct their business in St. Louis, and that they would retain their names and separate identities. The capitalization of the Fouke Fur Co. is $301,000, and that of the Funsten company, $500,000.

The consolidation is on an international basis, and includes, besides the St. Louis concerns, the Moscow Fur Trading Co. of London, the Societe Anonye de Moscow of Paris, and N. Eitingon & Co. of Lodz, Poland.

One of the assets which the Fouke Fur Co. takes into the new organization is its contract with the United States Government, by which it acts as representative of the Government in the dressing, dyeing and sale of all seal skins taken by agents of this country for the benefit of the United States, England, Canada, Japan and Russia. The United States agents have a monopoly, under treaties, of the taking of Alaska seals, so that only the Fouke company handles the raw Alaska seal skins.

The Eitingon-Schild Co. is the outgrowth of a business organization more than 100 years old, and has branches and agencies in 17 countries.

BANKRUPT TIRE PLANT SOLD AND WILL BE OPERATED AGAIN

Surety Company Bought by Poplar Bluff Corporation—Early Resumption Expected.

The Surety Tire and Rubber Co., which went through bankruptcy four years ago, has sold its plant at 2100 Kienlen avenue, Wellston, to the International Rubber Co. for a consideration not disclosed. Appraisals by the trustee and receiver two years ago placed the value of the property at about $117,000.

James H. Dalbey and W. H. Meridith of Poplar Bluff, Mo., officers of the International company, have closed the deal and are expected to come to St. Louis shortly to begin operation of the plant with the probability that their present Poplar Bluff plant will become a branch office.

Details of the deal were not made public.

The receivership request by stockholders in December, 1921, charged that $500,000 worth of stock had been sold and that $100,000 worth of bonds were outstanding. It was alleged that under the management of former President William L. Burgess, $344,000 had been lost in 1920 and 1921.

Some time ago the trustee, W. L. Polak, sold out the property to the bondholders, headed by Arthur Koerner. Koerner could not be reached today for a statement. Announcement of the sale of the company yesterday was made through the Chamber of Commerce industrial department.

After Inquest Over Park Employe, Coroner Reminds Police of Suggestion to Shoot.

A Coroner's jury today returned a verdict of homicide by an unknown person in the death of John H. Snyder, 71-year-old city park employe, who died Sunday from injuries suffered when struck by an automobile Friday, the driver of which fled. $100,000 Fire Damage at Nome.

By the Associated Press.

NOME, Alaska, Nov. 24.—Damage resulting from the fire which started here late Saturday night and which threatened for a time to wipe out the city, is estimated at approximately $100,000. Twenty-one persons were made homeless. The blaze was started in a building over a saloon, one of Nome's oldest landmarks, and spread rapidly to a grocery store and rooming house. Firemen and volunteer citizens strove to prevent spread of the flames, but were hampered by zero weather, which froze the water. Four men were slightly burned.

ROBBERS SHOOT UP MICHIGAN TOWN

Band Vainly Tries to Open Bank Vault, But Fires at Everyone on Street.

By the Associated Press.

CASSOPOLIS, Mich., Nov. 24.—Armed robbers terrorized Cassopolis for nearly three hours today, firing at every resident who dared to appear on the street, and finally roared out of town to the staccato accompaniment of their own revolvers after failing to rob the First National Bank.

The number was variously estimated at five to ten.

The robbers entered Cassopolis shortly after 2 a. m. They bound the night watchman and three other men who were in two all-night restaurants, cut telephone and telegraph wires leading out of the city, and for two and one-half hours owned the town.

Escape in Auto.

At 4:45 a. m., after an ineffectual attempt to break the vault of the First National Bank, the robbers left in an automobile, heading toward Niles.

While here they fired between 100 and 150 shots, and only one shot was fired in return. Revolvers and sawed-off shotguns were used, and the targets were those who appeared on the streets or who showed lights in office buildings or residences near the business section.

George Jones, a stock buyer, was wounded as he emerged from his house. A shotgun slug inflicted a neck woupd, and he treatedre into the house.

Immediately upon arrival, two of them took positions outside Patrick Wallace's all-night restaurant. The others entered the place and forced Wallace, Clyde Benham, the night watchman, and Hersley Cooper to line up against the wall. The hands of each prisoner were bound. Leaving a guard over the men, the other bandits went to another restaurant and treated its proprietor, John Barney, similarly.

Telephone Wires Cut.

Then the wires were cut. Only one strand was overlooked—the wire connecting Cassopolis with Niles—and it was over this wire that a telephone operator sounded the alarm.

The front door of the First National Bank was forced, the robbers taking their four prisoners inside with them. The outer door of the safe was dynamited. The noise brought several persons to the street and to windows.

Then the guns of the robbers spoke. There apparently was no effort to kill. The revolver and shot gun barrage was a warning.

Five charges of dynamite were exploded, the outer door of the vault being torn away, but the inner door withstood the bandits' efforts.

A Mrs. August, night telephone operator, notified officers at Niles while the men still were at the bank, and roads leading out of Cassopolis were placed under guard.

Dr. James Kelsey offered the only resistance the gunmen met. Called by the telephone operator, who told him there was "trouble at the bank," Dr. Kelsey drove downtown. One of the robber guards began shooting under his car. Dr. Kelsey fired at the man and then drove away amid a storm of shotgun slufs.

Shooting came from so many quarters during the raid that many persons believed ten men must have participated in the invasion. Only five men were seen, however. Two wore masks and appeared youthful. Each of the others was described as 50 years old or more.

'PIRATING' OF VAUDEVILLE ACT IS CHARGED IN SUIT

Lee Sisters Accused of Copying Principal Portion of Third Act of "Topsy and Eva."

A suit to enjoin Jane and Kathrine Lee, known as the Lee Sisters, who are appearing in a vaudeville skit in St. Louis this week, from copying or "pirating" an act also being shown here by the Duncan Sisters, was filed yesterday in Circuit Court. The petition, which was brought by the producing company, known as Wilkdun, Inc., sets forth that the defendants have been exhibiting public theatrical performances of the principal portion of the third act of "Topsy and Eva" and have been using the songs and music accompanying the act as well as copying the costumes, makeup and "props." According to the suit, the play is copyrighted by the author, Catherine Chisholm Cushing, and the Duncan Sisters have exclusive right to produce it under a contract with her.

Judge Falkenhainer set the case for hearing before him on Friday. In the meantime, he granted a temporary restraining order, which will be made effective on the giving of a $3000 injunction bond by the petitioners. The Lee Sisters formerely were members of the Duncan Sisters troupe, leaving it last month, the petition states. Their mother, Mrs. Irene Lee, and Glenn Coulter, an actor, are joined with them in the suit.

TENSE SITUATION IN VERA CRUZ

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 24.—A tense situation has arisen between President Calles and the Legislature of Vera Cruz state, with conflicting reports as to how far it has progressed. Special dispatches from Durango say the chief executive has declared "severance of relations between the Federal Government and the state of Vera Cruz," while Vera Cruz advices have it that the Legislature threatened such severance of relations.

At the bottom of the affair lies a prolonged political conflict between Mexico's labor and agrarian factions, with the latter charging the President with favoritism for the laborites. A commission of Vera Cruz deputies is reported to be on the way here to confer with the Federal authorities.

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely, and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy never fails.

POLICE USE TEAR BOMBS IN FIGHT WITH STUDENTS

Football Celebration at Northwestern Results in Firing of House and Attempts to Burn Stadium.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Defying police pistols, tear bombs and streams from fire hose, 3000 Northwestern University men and women students last night celebrated the prowess of their football team by rampaging all over Evanston.

Before their enthusiasm waned early today, a vacant fraternity house was in ashes, a policeman had two broken ribs, four students were in jail, scores had black eyes and cracked heads, and Mayor Charles E. Bartlett, nursing a bruised head, declared Northwestern would never have the new stadium it has planned.

The police and firemen were helpless when the pre-arranged jubilee began, about 9 o'clock. Policemen were stripped of their badges and made victims of their own maces. Firemen, dashing to answer numerous alarms, most of them false and others resulting from bonfires, had their hose knotted and equipment dumped and scrambled.

Riot Squads Arrive.

Finally after reinforcements of riot squads came from Chicago and 40 World War veterans were mobilized by a former service men's organization to aid the police, the students retired to the Lake Michigan front and ended the evening with huge bonfires, songs and cheers.

President Walter Dill Scott, who had been out of Evanston, returned as the celebration concluded. His only comment was that the burned house was not worth much anyhow and that the university would not interfere in behalf of students who had violated city ordinances. They would have to stand the consequences in the city courts.

The melee started when students set fire to the fraternity house, which was to be razed and replaced by a new quadrangle. The interior had been soaked with oil. Students oiled and ignited the old wooden stadium, which the university hoped to replace with a concrete structure next year if city permission were given.

Firemen who responded to alarms were stampeded by the students. Attempts to quiet them were made by Kenneth L. Wilson, athletic director, and gridiron stars of the school—Capt. Tim Lowry and Ralph Baker. These succeeded in persuading the students to extinguish the stadium fire.

Police Chief Hooted.

William A. Wiltberger, police chief, advertised by Evanston as the only chief of police with a college education, attempted to speak, but was hooted down as the "scientific cop." Mayor Bartlett, working with firemen to recover lost equipment, was knocked senseless.

When he revived he said the students had lost any opportunity they may ever had to build their proposed stadium.

"It is evident that if 3000 students cannot be controlled, it would be impossible to take care of 80,000 persons if the stadium crowds gave trouble."

The police chief and fire department heads were equally wrathful. Orders to shoot any one who attempted further trouble were issued by Chief Wiltberger. Fire Chief Hofstetter said his equipment had been stolen, damaged and scattered.

The students under arrest were held in connection with turning in false fire alarms.

WOMAN ADMITS SELLING HOME BREW, GETS $250 FINE

Leniency Shown in Case of East St. Louis Resident Who Pleads She Had to Support Children.

Mrs. Carlie Dimmick of 3816 North Park drive, East St. Louis, pleaded guilty of possession and sale of intoxicating liquor yesterday before Federal Judge English, and was fined $250.

Leniency was shown Mrs. Dimmick after she had informed Judge English she made and sold home-brew beer to support herself and three minor children. Her husband, she said, has been out of work for eight months. Prohibition agents raided the Dimmick home recently after purchasing beer from Mrs. Dimmick. They reported finding 235 pints of home brew.

HIP SING TONG IN CONVENTION

All Chapters Notified to Prevent Outbreak of Another War.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 24.—The Hip Sing tong, in convention here, voted yesterday to forbid all members to participate in the Chin family troubles growing out of the killing last spring in Boston of Chin Fong. His family demanded $10,000 indemnity from the tong alleged to have been responsible for his death. When that tong refused the family appealed to the Hip Sings.

Notice was sent to every chapter to prevent the outbreak of another tong war which, officials declared, would be sure to follow if the Hip Sings espouse the Chin family cause. Officials announced that a tabulation shows the tong has a membership of nearly 6000 in this country, making it the largest tong outside of China.

RAMACCIOTTI TO BE HONORED BY ST. LOUIS U. STUDENTS THURSDA

Efforts Being Made to Have Star in Battle

Captain Levy Joins Pikers in Practice but Is Not Likely to Face Grinnell.

VERMONT EN ROUTE

Easterners Arrive Here Tomorrow — 20 Men in Squad.

By John H. Alexander.

Thursday, in addition to being Thanksgiving day, will be "Ramacciotti day" at St. Louis University field, where Frank Ramacciotti, one of the most colorful players in Billiken history, will end his collegiate career. The fullback and captain will be honored by the students between the halves. It is the first time an individual student has been so honored.

Whether Ramacciotti will be able to stand the gaff of combat is still doubtful but efforts are being made to have him in condition for a short period of action. Nerve trouble in the shoulder and neck has curtailed his activities for some months.

Levy May Play.

Capt. Levy of Washington was in uniform last night but was unable to take part in the scrimmage. It is likewise doubtful if he will play as his knee injury gives small indication of healing. Hannibal, a guard, is another doubtful member of the Piker squad. His shoulder was injured in the Oklahoma game last week.

Both the local teams play at home Thursday. Washington against Grinnell and St. Louis against University of Vermont.

The Vermont forces left Burlington last night and will arrive in Detroit this afternoon where a workout will be held on Northwestern field. They will arrive in St. Louis some time tomorrow and hold another workout on the Billiken gridiron. Twenty players are in the party, together with coaches McAvey and Dresser, Manager Kinsler and graduate manager Mayforth.

Grinnell Has Strong Team.

Washington is still hopeful of winding up the season with its "first conference victory in two years," but it is hardly likely the hopes will be fulfilled. Grinnell is a strong team, having beaten Kansas and Oklahoma Aggies, tied Ames and lost by one point to Drake.

St. Louis is also anxious to bring the season's total of victories to two and stands a good chance of doing it. Vermont, while champion of the State of Vermont merely had to beat Middlebury and Norwich to gain the title. Holy Cross, Dartmouth and Syracuse defeated Vermont by big scores. It will be the third intersectional contest with an Eastern team for the Billikens this year. The other two were dropped to Army and Carnegie Tech. A rally will be held tomorrow night in the Law School auditorium.

Padfield Burial Today.

Grover Padfield, assistant Piker coach who died last week, will be buried today. Representatives of the Masonic order and the American Legion will be present. Padfield was a veteran of two wars and played in the backfield of the Eighty-ninth Division team that won the championship of the A. E. F. He was commander of the Charles Duncker Post of the Legion. A memorial service will be held in his honor prior to the game with Grinnell Tuursday.

More Interest In Grange Than World's Series

Telephone Calls Force Cub Officials to Close Offices for Day.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Professional or amateur, the public is so heated up over Harold "Red" Grange that a capacity crowd of 50,000 persons is assured when he makes his professional debut with the Chicago Bears in the Chicago National League Park Thanksgiving day.

When the 28,000 reserved seats were placed on sale yesterday, two lines of purchasers, each a block long, formed at 10 o'clock and seven hours later appeared to be even longer. Traffic was tied up by the crowds which jammed the downtown ticket office until half a dozen policemen were assigned to keep the lines in order.

The 28,000 seats were sold before night, those falling into the hands of scalpers selling for $15 and some for $25. The standing room and bleacher seats will be placed on sale today.

Nobody wanted a ticket because it was the Bears or Cardinals playing . . . they all wanted tickets for "The Grange game."

Because of the tremendous advance sale and indications of a standing room capacity, the latest figures indicate that the attendance will be around 50,000, with the gate receipts $90,000. All this means gold for Red's pockets, because his contracts provides for a general cut of the gate receipts.

William L. Veeck, president of the Cubs said the interest in Grange's appearance had never been equaled in a world's series and that so many telephone calls came to the Cubs' office they were obliged to close up.

NEW YORK BOUTS TO BE DECIDED ON ROUNDS WON AND LOST

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—As part of its campaign to eliminate unsatisfactory boxing decisions, the New York State Athletic Commission today decided to have bouts judged on the basis of the number of rounds won and lost instead of on points.

To put this radical change into effect, the commission will transmit special instructions to all Metropolitan referees and judges at a meeting next Tuesday.

Zuppke Says He Wants No More $100,000 Players on His Team

Illinois Coach Is Not Opposed to "Pro" Football, but Thinks Grange Could Have Done Better in Some Other Line—"Red" Himself Makes Speech.

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 24.—No other "$100,000 player is going to be on one of my teams," Coach Robert C. Zuppke said at the annual dinner of the University of Illinois football team, at which "Red" Grange was present.

The veteran coach did not elaborate on this statement, but he expressed the opinion that the famous carrot-top, who had promised to return to school to complete his education, "will no more graduate from Illinois than will the Kaiser return to power in Germany."

Grange left the hall last night in the midst of Zuppke's remarks, but explained that the exit was to permit him to return to Chicago, where he is training with the Chicago Bears for his professional appearance Thanksgiving day.

"I have nothing against professional football," Coach Zuppke said, but he believed that in the long run Grange would cash in more in some other career than the one he had selected, adding that his only regret was that "Red" would not finish his university course.

"Undoubtedly Grange is one of the greatest football players of all time and the greatest Illinois has produced, but from now on he will travel a different course than he has here and will be forced to pick his own companions."

Grange, who officially withdrew from the university, was a speaker at the banquet, telling his teammates that there was nothing he would rather do than play football for Illinois, but that now he was through he would do the next best thing and play with a team that has many old Illinois men.

"That can't compare with the pleasure of three years under Coach Zuppke," he added.

Grange paid a compliment to his teammates, saying that it was only through the co-operation of all that the team had made its showing.

Local Sport Briefs.

The Principia Seconds closed their season yesterday with a victory over the Kirkwood Reserves. The score was 6 to 0. The only touchdown was made by Fullback Scott.

North End A. C. scored a 27-26 victory last night at the North St. Louis Turner Hall in a basket ball game. A spirited rally by the Turners in the last few minutes fell just short.

Henry Costa, Italian light heavyweight, last night defeated Joe Bartel of Kansas City at the Liberty Theater. The first fall was won by Bartel with a double scissors but Costa took the next two with a headlock and a flying mare.

The Hyde Park five, Sunday School Basket Ball League champions, opened their season last night by beating the Price quintet, 27 to 17, at Battery A.

Notre Dame to Be Crippled for Nebraska Game

Four Regulars Are Injured — Three Big Ten Teams Name Captains.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—The fading football season has a kick or two left in the Midwest, even though the Western conference teams have hibernated.

The Notre Dame-Nebraska game in Lincoln and games of importance in the Missouri Valley Conference are yet to be played. Interest also follows the awarding of letters and electing of captains in the Big Ten as the season's aftermath.

Notre Dame, sans Christy Flanagan, halfback, and Rex Enright, fullback, starts for the Huskers' bailiwick today. Flanagan has a fractured shoulder and a wrenched ankle. Capt. Crewe is not in shape and Dick Smith, right guard, may not play.

The Kansas Aggies clash with Iowa State at Ames, while Grinnell and Washington meet in St. Louis.

Notre Dame plans 10 games next year, six of which are announced with the Army, Nov. 13; Nebraska, Penn State, Georgia Tech, Minnesota and the Quantico Marines.

New Captains Named.

In the Western Conference the coveted letters are being bestowed, Illinois and Indiana awarded "I's." New captains are Wallie Marks of Chicago, Charles E. Kassell of Illinois and Benny Friedman of Michigan.

Michigan's team is hailed by Fielding H. Yost, its veteran coach, as the greatest he ever handled. The Wolverine record of 227 points to 3 scored against it, he thinks, stands alone among major team achievements.

Northwestern, only team to conquer Michigan, is content to stand on its record as its reward, and not quibble about its place in the Big Ten team standing. Coach Thistlethwaite says the Purple makes no claim to conference honors. The team is the best in years and is satisfied with its three victories and one defeat, he says.

Oberlander Applies for Vacancy at West Point

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.

"SWEDE" OBERLANDER, Dartmouth's great back, wants to go to West Point. His home is at Everett, and he has written to Congressman Underhill asking if there is a vacancy.

Congressman Underhill has no vacancy available from his district and won't have until next year, when Oberlander may be outside the 21-year age limit for entrance to West Point. Underhill has offered him an appointment to the naval academy at Annapolis, however.

If this is not satisfactory Underhill will attempt to enlist the aid of Senators Butler and Gillett and the War Department to find a vacancy at West Point. Oberlander is a good scholar.

Boat Event Here Seems Assured

Bid for 1926 National Event for Powerboats Filed Officially Yesterday.

That the 1926 national speed boat races will be held in St. Louis next year now seems virtually assured, according to the president and secretary of the Mississippi Valley Powerboat Association who were here yesterday attending a convention. They are Dr. R. H. Daniels, president, and A. T. Griffith, secretary, both of Peoria.

Daniels and Griffith promised to support St. Louis' bid for the event and said the support of other cities could be obtained without difficulty. The final decision lies with the delegates to the annual gathering of the body which takes place next month at Chicago.

Edwin C. Koenig filed formal application for the races with the officers yesterday. Koenig plans to revive the old St. Louis Yacht Club and have it take charge of the affair, if his request is granted. Seating concessions would be turned over to the Community Fund or a similar charitable organization. Koenig personally has guaranteed the expenses of the meet. It is estimated that between 50 and 60 boats would be entered from all parts of the country.

Individual Stars Will Battle in Eastern Games

Tryon and Kiefer to Meet in Colgate—Brown Tilt Thursday.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Individuals who have gained recognition for exceptional ball-toting feats in Eastern gridirons this season will be pitted against each other in the Thanksgiving day battles.

Eddie Tryon of Colgate, the East's leading scorer and captain of an undefeated team, faces an opponent of caliber in Jackson Keefer of Brown at the new stadium in Providence. Keefer has worked throughout the schedule behind a line weakened by injuries and the same situation is promised for the coming game.

Talbot and Vollbracht, tackles, are in poor condition, and injuries have hit Jones, the big fullback. Keefer also is suffering from bruises, but intends to play throughout the Colgate contest. He ran 35 yards for a touchdown against Yale, and his work against Dartmouth put Brown into scoring position, where a touchdown was lost when an end was off side.

McCorgary of Tulsa to Oppose Bryant on Adams-Renault Card.

Babe McCorgary of Tulsa and Otis Bryant of Chicago have been matched for a light-heavyweight feature of the preliminary card supporting the 10-round heavyweight duel between Leo Renault, Canadian heavyweight champion, and Sergt. Jack Adams of Scott Field, billed as the headliner of next Tuesday night's show at the New Coliseum arena.

Announcement of the heavyweight attraction was made today by Matchmaker Gene Ruffin, who stated that the fighters had signed articles for an eight-round engagement. The bout probably will be booked as the semi-windup, though Straus may decide to use the penultimate position to stage a pair of light-heavyweight punches with whom he is negotiating. Arthur "Sailor" Maley and Marcus Hogan are the men sought for the attraction.

Bryant a St. Louisan.

Bryant, an old favorite of local fans, has been a consistent winner in bouts around Chicago since he left this city a few years ago. He has recently been credited with two round decisions over Jack Wilson, Dick Smith and Billy Brown and an eight-round draw with Tony Marullo.

During a long sojourn in St. Louis about four years ago Bryant met and defeated such local favorites as Fred Nelson, Ray Steele, Young Fitzsimmons and the late Charley Stapp. He was known then as one of the toughest punchers in the middleweight class.

York Harlan Carr of Syracuse, among the Eastern scorers, will meet the flashy George Pease, Columbia captain. Syracuse is a slight favorite in this game, but must reckon with the speedy Columbia quarterback, who has been creating history since return to the fray, after an early season injury.

Another individual test, that between Emerson Carey of Cornell and Al Kreuz of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, has been set aside as injuries. If they are able to play there should be a brilliant kicking duel. Kreuz left for Atlantic City, N. J., with the team yesterday. Singer, Penn end, remained behind for treatment to an injured ankle.

Jack Adams of Scott Field, billed as the headliner of next Tuesday night's flesh show at the New Coliseum arena.

Announcement of the light-heavyweight attraction was made today by Matchmaker Gene Stra... who stated that the fighters have signed articles for an eight-round engagement. The bout probably will be booked as the semiwind-up, though Straus may decide to award the penultimate position to another pair of light-heavyweight punchers with whom he is negotiating. Arthur "Sailor" Maley and Mann Dugan are the men sought for the attraction.

Bryant a St. Louisan.

Bryant, an old favorite of local fans, has been a consistent winner in bouts around Chicago since he left this city a few years ago. He has recently been credited with the round decisions over Jack Willis, Dick Smith and Billy Brown and an eight-round draw with Young Marullo.

During a long sojourn in St. Louis about four years ago Bryant met and defeated such local mainstays as Fred Nelson, Ray Steigerwald, Young Fitzsimmons and the late Charley Stapp. He was known then as one of the toughest punchers in the middleweight class.

THREE MISSOURI PLAYERS ON BREWER'S ALL-VALLEY FOOTBALL TEAM

Seven Schools Represented in All-Star Pick

Brewer's All-Star Valley Selections

(Copyright, 1925.)

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 24. CHESTER L. BREWER, director of athletics at the University of Missouri, picked the following eleven as the most powerful and versatile in the Missouri Valley Conference:

Halfbacks — Spears of Drake, Whiteman of Missouri. Fullback—Rhodes of Nebraska. Quarterback—Behm of Iowa State. Ends—Bacchus of Missouri, Sloan of Drake. Tackles — Weir of Nebraska, Lindenmeyer of Missouri. Guards—Smith of Kansas, McGee of Kansas Aggies. Center—Wallace of Oklahoma.

By Chester L. Brewer.
Director of Athletics, University of Missouri.
(Copyright, 1925.)

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 24.—The all-star selections the writer made are, of course, based on his personal opinion and must leave out valuable and conspicuous men.

The choice, however, is made on the basis of all-round usefulness and team spirit, as well as ability to avoid injuries. This team together would be one of power and versatility, both on offense and defense.

The season in the Missouri Valley produced at least three players of outstanding ability. Two are tackles—Lindenmeyer of Missouri and Weir of Nebraska. Both are powerful players and possessed of unconquerable courage and spirit. Weir last season was named on many all-America teams. The third player is Bacchus of Missouri, one of the finest ends in the game. A giant physically, fleet of foot, a splendid receiver of passes and what is most essential in a real star, apparently able to play a full 60 minutes every Saturday without injury.

Behm Great General.

Spears of Drake and Whiteman of Missouri have shown up as the leading halfbacks. Power on attack and good defensive ability make them especially valuable. Rhodes of Nebraska is a driving fullback whose play helped in large measure to make the Cornhuskers the danger they were to any team in the country. Behm of Iowa State proved a clever general and a capable triple-threat man.

The guards find Smith of Kansas and McGee of Kansas Aggies, fast and strong, yet fast enough on their feet to be a factor in the offense. Wallace of Oklahoma had all the qualities of a fine center, particularly an ability to pass well at all times.

Outstanding men left off the team include Hutchison of Nebraska, center, a great prayer but erratic in passing, the first essential of a really great pivot man. Smith of Missouri, sophomore center; Blockman, Oklahoma and Walker of Missouri, two fine guards; Mayers, Iowa State and Stiner, Nebraska, tackles, Kansas Aggies, sound and fast ends, Brown, Nebraska, an elusive and shifty quarterback; Sweet, Grinnell, Potts, Oklahoma, Jackson, Missouri, Cory, Iowa State and Levy, Washington backs, all are above the average among players.

As fine example of head work and taking every advantage of the rules was shown in Iowa State's victory over Drake, seven to six. Leading with seven points, Iowa State deliberately scored three safeties in the closing moments when hard pressed by the Drake attack.

No Difference in Football as Played Throughout the Country, Asserts Yost

West, However, Employs More Daring and Deception Than the East, Writes Famous Michigan U. Coach.

This is the second of a series of articles by Fielding H. "Hurry Up" Yost telling of his "30 years in football."

By Fielding H. Yost.

(Copyright 1925.)

FIELDING H. YOST.

LOYALTY to one's college or section of the country, in a certain sense, is a form of blindness. Patriotism is love and love is expected to be blind. For this reason it is easy to understand the attitude of the Eastern football follower who insists that Eastern football is superior to that played in the Middle West. Similarly, we can understand the prejudiced point of view of Pacific Coast and Southern fans, who make the same claims for the parts of the country in which they are most deeply interested.

What part of the country, then, if any, has played the best football and which part excels now?

These are questions apparently on which there can be no unanimity of opinion. As a rule, personal prejudices enter into the discussion. Nevertheless, the questions are almost always put to me whenever I get into a fanning bee, and before the discussion subsides I generally have to flee for my life. Indeed, there have been times when I have been pursued to my native lair by men who were determined to bring me around to their way of thinking.

Adds Zest to Games.

IT is this difference of opinion which adds so much zest to intersectional games. When everything is said and done I do not think there is any difference in football as it is played in any part of the country. And yet this mild and perfectly innocent conclusion is the one which precipitates such excited difference of opinion. The reason, of course, is that the average football fan is hopelessly partisan. He will not stand for even intelligent neutrality.

In my 30 years, I have made it a point to keep in touch with football and football players and coaches everywhere. I have coached in every part of the country and year after year have watched elevens in every part of the country. At various times, I have been consulted by the Army, Harvard, Princeton and other Eastern colleges and, on seven occasions I have been invited to West Point to assist in the final preparation for the Army's annual game with Navy. A lot of players I have coached have taken up coaching after graduation, and have regularly communicated with me. The annual meetings of the coaches and the Rules Committee have also served the purpose of research and observation.

And so I say, there is no material difference anywhere in the country at present: for football, like baseball, has been standardized.

East Was Conservative.

TEN and 15 years ago there was a difference. Western teams approached the modern game as pioneers. The coaches were willing to take chances and instructed their players to take chances. We were liberal and even radical in our football thought.

The East, on the other hand, was conservative. Percy Haughton at Harvard was the first of the "Big Three" coaches to catch up with the trend of events. Princeton followed. But Yale, like the Army, clung to the dusty traditions of the old days and old plays, and while doing this Yale and the Army came upon unhappy days. At the Army, indeed, I used to hear some fearful denunciations of the forward pass by some of the coaches. On one occasion, I resented this so much that I refused to attend the Navy game unless Prichard, a great quarterback, would be allowed at his own discretion to use forward pass plays.

I considered Prichard the greatest quarterback in the country and told the Army coaches they had virtually handcuffed him with restrictions and instructions. They released him and I went to the game, and had the satisfaction of watching Prichard use the forward pass successfully. That was the game which saw the Prichard-Berillat passing combination riddle the Navy to pieces, and go down in history as one o fthe greatest forward passing combinations of all time.

West Is More Daring.

The attitude of the Army coaches at that time, typified the attitude of the East as compared with the West. But now there is very little difference. Here and there, of course, we may find a display of conservatism and old-fashioned ways, but these as a rule are transient exceptions, due, perhaps, to local conditions and material. Scouting has developed into such a science that sectional differences in style and theory have been blended into one general scheme of conformity.

Football is about the same everywhere—in the West, in the South, in the Middle West, and on the Pacific Coast. The only distinction I would make is that I think the West plays with more daring and deception than the East.

Once Refused to Attend Army-Navy Game Because of West Point Official's Criticism of the Forward Pass.

Calza of Italy Faces Browning In Mat Feature

Missourian Held to Draw by Sherry Last Night Should Prove Easy.

George Calza of Italy, undefeated on a previous visit to the United States, will make his first appearance since his return to this country when he meets Jim Browning in the main event of a wrestling show at the New Coliseum tonight. His first visit to this country was four years ago and at that time he won 50 bouts and was held to a draw by Joe Stecher and Marin Plestina.

Browning's chief recommendation is his tremendous size. He stands 6 feet 2 inches in height and weighs 225 pounds. This will be his first appearance in a local ring, although he is a native Missourian. Last night, in a bout at Tulsa, he was held to a draw by Jack Sherry, the Indian who gave a very sorry exhibition at the Coliseum two weeks ago. If Browning could get no better than a draw with Sherry he is no match for a real top-notcher. His failure to win last night would seem to discount much of the bally-hoo that has been circulated about his superior knowledge of wrestling. Sherry looked like a dub against Farmer McLeod.

Dick Daviscourt, recently defeated by John Pesek and previously outgamed by Frank Judson, meets Tony Capek in the semi-windup bout.

Rudy Dusek of Little Rock opposes Ivan Yurko of Russia in the opening event, scheduled to start at 8:15 o'clock.

Plestina Beats Koloff.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TULSA, Ok., Nov. 24.—Marin Plestina, Chicago, won two straight falls from Dan Koloff in 26 and 15 minutes with chancery and wrist-lock holds last night. Jack Sherry, Oklahoma City, and Jim Browning, Wichita, drew with one fall each in 2 hours.

STANFORD WON BIG GAME BY 27-14 SCORE

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 24.—George M. Varnell of this city, referee in the football game between the University of California and Stanford University at Palo Alto Saturday, yesterday stated the score was 27 to 14 and not 26 to 14 as announced.

Varnell was on his way home from California and the Associated Press reached him through the courtesy of the Northern Pacific Railway which transmitted a query to him and delivered his answer here.

Varnell was asked: "Did the last kick by Murphy after a touchdown, which California blocked, still earn Stanford a point because California was offside?"

He replied: "Yes."

CONCORDIA BASKET CANDIDATES CHOSEN

Coach Bert Fenenga picked out a number of candidates for positions on the Concordia Seminary basket ball team yesterday. They are Hellbusch, Wagner, Jesse, Heins and Krenzhe, forwards; Ludwig, center; Bickstaebt, Erich and Thide, guards.

Concordia opens against McKendree College Dec. 5 at Holy Cross Hall.

Previous to coming to Washington State, the Carlisle Indian star had been coach for nine years at Georgetown University. He said he had no plans except his law practice in Oklahoma, which he follows between football seasons.

NOTRE DAME TO PLAY ARMY LATER IN 1926

By the Associated Press.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 24.—Knute Rockne, Notre Dame athletic director, yesterday made public the names of seven teams which the Rox will play in 1926, six of whom provided major games on this year's schedule.

Among the seven, the only new team is the Quantico Marines, who supplant one of the three early games played this year with Baylor, Lombard and Beloit, none of whom are rescheduled.

The Army game has been pushed from its customary October date to Nov. 13 in New York. Other home games are with Nebraska, Penn State and Georgia Tech. Minnesota will be met again at Minneapolis.

Rockne refused to confirm or deny a persistent rumor here that Columbia would be played in New York. Three other contests will be announced later.

Tibbetts Sets College Cross-Country Mark

Harvard Star Clips 50 Seconds Off Record—Syracuse Team Winner.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Fifty seconds were torn from the record for the Intercollegiate A. A. A. A. annual cross country run here yesterday when William Tebbetts of Harvard and Jim Loucks of Syracuse fought neck and neck for almost half the distance, the Crimson harrier winning by a scant yard at the end of the six-mile hill-and-dale journey.

Syracuse, as a team, won handily, with five men in the first 18 finishers. The victory gave Syracuse its third conquest in this event in four years. Pittsburg, which captured the title in 1924, finished in second place, and Harvard was third.

The surprise came in the performance of Macauley Smith of Yale, individual winner last year with the then record time of 31m. 24s. Five men finished under that time yesterday, Tibbetts, Loucks, A. S. Hillman of Maine, G. C. Kerr of Pittsburg and R. G. Luttman of Harvard. Smith had to be satisfied with eleventh place.

Team honors went to Yale in the freshman race, a three-mile event won by Horace Benson of Cornell.

The Eli yearlings, finishing runners in sixth, seventh, fifteenth, eighteenth and nineteenth places, had low total of 65 points. Other team scores were: Penn State 88, Cornell 93, M. I. T. 95, Princeton 108, Syracuse 121, Pennsylvania 130, Dartmouth 204, Columbia 205, New York University 236, College of the City of New York 304.

DATES ANNOUNCED FOR TITLE SKATING RACES

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 24.—The International Skating Union, in annual session here yesterday, re-elected W. G. Bratton of Pittsburg as president and decided to postpone until today the awarding of the national indoor and outdoor events for the coming season. Pittsburg entered a bid for the indoor events, while Detroit asked that the outdoor program be sent to the Michigan city. It was expected that the indoor meet for men and women would go to Madison Square Garden, New York City.

Other officers named were: Vice presidents, Harry Noah, New York City; D. J. Corr, St. John, N. B., and W. W. Ossmun, Detroit; secretary-treasurer, B. H. Giffen, Pittsburg.

It was announced that the world championship races between Clas Thumberg, Finland; Joe Moore, New York; Charles Gorman, St. John, and others, will be held Jan. 19, 20 and 21 at St. John.

PICKING ALL-AMERICA TEAM TOO GREAT A TASK, ASSERTS YOST

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Fielding H. Yost, for 25 years football coach at the University of Michigan, is of the opinion that selection of an all-America football team is too much of a job to be undertaken by any individual or any group of football experts. He says that no matter what his opinion is, there will be no fewer than 1000 all-American teams chosen.

"As Walter Camp has stated to me more than once, during the last five years of his life, this job of selecting an all-America was growing more and more difficult of the great number of good football men in America.

"I feel there can be no plan of selecting an all-America that would do justice to all the boys in all sections of the United States today.

"I think it will be all right to attempt to select an all-conference team, or perhaps an all-Eastern team, or an all-Pacific Coast team, for a single man or a group of men in those sections has had some chance of seeing and knowing the abilities of the football men included or covered in their sections."

To Form Basket League.

By the Associated Press.

DUQUOIN, Ill., Nov. 24.—Basketball enthusiasts from Percy, Williamson, Franklin, Marion, Jackson and Washington Counties have launched a movement for an independent basket ball league to be composed of teams from cities situated on the various hard-surfaced roads of the state. A meeting will be held at West Frankfort next Wednesday night to perfect the organization and to arrange a schedule for the approaching season.

The teams will be composed largely of former high school stars and will represent nine cities in the various counties named.

Ward Slated to Go to Chicago

Rumors Assert Yankee Second-Sacker Is Due to Be Sent West.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Winter meetings of major baseball leagues next month, besides developing schedules of fewer days than in the past, undoubtedly will produce some rearrangements in various rosters.

Plans for the shohter schedule arose followng the recent world's series, wherein Commissioner Landis obtained some first-hand information on October weather conditions. The fans in Washington were bundled in overcoats; in Pittsburg they adopted every covering imaginable to shut out the rain. The final contest was fought out in a steady downpour.

Aaron Ward, for several years second baseman of the New York Yankees, is the latest athlete to ride upon rumor. He is said to be headed for Chicago, where Manager Eddie Collins and Shortstop Ike Davis are ailing.

The Yankees are well fortified in the infield with Tony Lazarre, home run champion of the Pacific Coast League, and Mark Koenig from the American Association, due to report in the spring.

Billiard Notes.

Allen Hall, graduate of St. Louis amateur ranks, split even in two National Three-Cushion League games with Johnny Layton at Milwaukee yesterday. Hall lost the afternoon match, 49 to 50, in 51 innings, but came back with a victory in the evening, 50 to 47, in 53 innings. Layton had a run of 10 in the evening match, while Hall's best was a 7, gathered in the afternoon.

Pierre Maupome, representing Chicago, is not faring well in the National Three-Cushion League. The Mexican lost two games yesterday to Otto Reiselt at Philadelphia. The scores were 50 to 24 in 30 innings and 50 to 36 in 49 innings. Reiselt, in fine form, had a high run of 9.

In spite of the fact that he ran 10 in one inning, Gus Copulos of Detroit lost the second half of a double-header to Augie Kleckhefer at Detroit yesterday. Kleckhefer ran out in 36 innings to win, 50 to 35. In the afternon, Copulos won, 50 to 47, in 62 innings.

Dr. W. B. Winn was forced to play his best billiards to defeat A. Jacobus in their Perpetual Youth tournament match at Peterson's yesterday afternoon. Jacobus was playing for 25 against the 50 for the doctor. The final score was 50 to 23. Today Capt. L. M. Hall opposes A. Gross.

Challenge Match Dec. 8 and 9.

Dr. L. P. Macklin, persistent challenger for the city amateur three-cushion billiard championship, will get another chance at the title when he meets the champion, Harry Kirk, in a challenge match at Peterson's Dec. 8 and 9. They will play 100 points.

THREE-EYE LEAGUERS WILL MEET ON DEC. 20

By the Associated Press.

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 24.—Representatives from the eight cities of the Three-I League held their annual meeting here yesterday, officially concluding the business of the most successful season in history.

President Gene Wylie of Decatur called the meeting to order. Officials of the order, elected last year for two-year terms, will continue in office until next fall.

Another special meeting to be held in Springfield Dec. 20 was called by President Wylie at which time the rookie rule and the lengthening of the schedule will be discussed and acted upon. Attempts yesterday to eliminate the rookie rule were foiled by a vote of five to three, which was given its first trial in the Three-I League last season.

The number of major league exhibition games was fixed at three and the provision made that regularly scheduled league games on those dates be postponed instead of being played as double-headers on the day of the exhibition.

St. Louis Boy Honored.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 24.—Numerals were awarded a number of members of the freshman football team at the University of Illinois last night by the athletic board of control. Among those receiving the award are S. K. Jones of Kansas City and Gerald Murchison of St. Louis.

48 Dogs Entered In All-Age Stake

Record Number of Competitors for Honors in Southwestern Trial.

By A. F. Hochwalt.

VINITA, Ok., Nov. 23.—The Southwestern Field Trial Club broke all records in its initial trial when it began its all-age stake yesterday with 48 starters. This is the largest number of pointers and setters ever brought together in competition in an event of this kind, run on quail. Out of 48, 24 have run their preliminary heats and with as many more to run, the stake is still in doubt. Yesterday's work was interesting, however, and considerable good work was seen. The pointer, Oklahoma City Jack, owned by Dr. George Blue of Montgomery, handled by Ed Farrior of Letohatchie, Ala., began by making a good find, but marred his work by the flush of a bevy.

Following him was the veteran performer, Comanche Zigfield, owned by Earl Elliott of Miami, Ok., who also did some nice work. This dog is already a champion and has not been seen on this circuit until this occasion, for three years.

Following him was Sir Barton, a setter owned by G. G. Moore of Topeka, Kan., who also made a good bevy find and Warman's Lady, the good little setter owned by C. E. Duffield of Tulsa, Ok., also made a nice race and handled her game well.

The Irish setter Ogalalla Prince, owned by F. J. Lefferdink of Hickman, Neb., made to good bevy finds.

EARTH THROUGH COMET LIKE BULLET PIERCING FOG CLOUD

Dense Air Burns Heavenly Wanderer's Constituents, Sending Up Shower of Meteors.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—The earth passed through what is left of Biela's comet last night and might never have known it except for a shower of meteors which burned up brightly and harmlessly in the upper air.

The earth, a compact body compared with a comet, which is a flimsy affair composed of small rocks and gases, usually of less density than air, went through the heavenly wanderer like a bullet through a fog cloud, the earth's dense air burning the comet's constituents miles overhead, leaving floating luminous clouds to sift slowly downward as cosmic dust.

The comet, named for W. Von Biela, who observed it in 1826, came into the solar system out of outer space ages ago and was "captured" by the giant planet Jupiter. Jupiter, however, did not entrap it, but forced it out of its original orbit so that it never got away into space again but moved around the sun in a computed period of revolution of 6.7 years.

In 1846 the comet separated into two parts, which have not been seen since 1852, but when a meteoric shower occurs in late November astronomers assume that the earth is passing through fragments of the comet.

WILL CHECK UP DEFECTIVES IN HUNT FOR TOLEDO CLUBBER

Chief of Police Orders Strenuous Campaign in Effort to End Attacks on Women.

By the Associated Press.

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 24.—Wholesale arrests will be made by Toledo police in a general roundup in an effort to end the series of attacks on girls and women here recently.

The announcement is made by Chief of Police Jennings that, despite the fact that no more slugings had occurred over the week-end, the Police Department will open a strenuous campaign to protect the women of the city from the supposed maniac who is held responsible for the death of two women and injury to others.

Jennings proposes a complete census of the various hospitals and institutions. A squad of men and women members of the department will be organized immediately for this purpose, the chief said. Twelve suspects have been arrested in connection with the attacks but nine were released. Three others will be turned over to the city physician for examination tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 24.—Striking for the second time within four days, an unidentified stabber who has terrorized the city by his six stabbings of young girls, within a few months, claimed his seventh and eighth victims last night. The girls were cut but not seriously.

RUSSIAN ART CIRCLES VEXED BY CHALIAPIN'S LONG ABSENCE

Press Quotes Him as Saying He Sold Soul to Devil by Singing in United States.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Nov. 24.—Moscow theatrical circles express some resentment over the long absence from Russia of Feodor Chaliapin, famous Russian operatic basso. Many attempts were made by the theatrical authorities, but without effect, to persuade him to return to Moscow this season, but Chaliapin declined to fix a date.

This attitude has aroused bitter comment in the Soviet press, which accuses the singer of having "sold his soul to mammon." A member of the Moscow Theatrical Guild who interviewed Chaliapin in Paris before his departure for the Metropolitan season in New York quotes him as saying:

"I have agreements in America and Australia for several years, and am obliged to carry them out. I left Russia without a cent and found it necessary therefore to sell my soul to the devil. Yes, I sold it, and it is not my fault. As soon as I fulfill these contracts I hope to be able to accept your invitation to come to Moscow and Leningrad."

Chaliapin left Russia toward the end of 1922 and was given a Soviet passport for one year on the understanding that a percentage of his fees would go to the Soviet famine fund. He has since obtained an extension of his passport.

PARLIAMENT HOUSE FALLING TO PIECES, SMOKE IS BLAMED

Members in Danger From Stones, Architect Reports; Repairs to Cost £1,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The towers, cupolas and gargoyles which adorn the House of Parliament, have degenerated into almost shapeless pieces of masonry. But a more serious aspect of the situation is the reported disintegration of the building itself. Sir Frank Baines, architect in charge of public buildings, has informed a committee of Commons that members were in danger, as they walked on terraces, of being struck by falling stone.

There was no fear of the building collapsing, however. It was too well built for that. But owing to the combined effects of London's smoky atmosphere and the crystalization of the stone work the building was in a state of extreme mutilation. Hundreds of tons of loose material had been removed and there were still innumerable masses at great heights which could easily be removed by hand. Sir Frank estimated that it would cost £12,000,000 to erect the building today. He said that repairs would cost about £1,000,000.

W. A. CLARK III IS ENGAGED

WILLIAMS TO RECOMMEND BECKER FOR COLLECTORSHIP

New Senator Will Present Name to President With Many Indorsements.

United States Senator George H. Williams will depart for Washington today to be sworn in as a member of the Senate, succeeding the late Selden P. Spencer, when Congress convenes, Dec. 7.

It is understood one of his first official acts there will be to recommend Louis J. Becker, chairman of the Republican City Central Committee, to President Coolidge for nomination as Collector of Internal Revenue at St. Louis. The office is now vacant by reason of the resignation of Arnold J. Hellmich, who relinquished the office following his indictment in the conspiracy which the Government alleges resulted in the removal of 893 barrels of whisky from the Jack Daniels warehouse in August, 1923.

Becker has received indorsements from virtually every political source and yesterday presented to Senator Williams the indorsement of 250 business men. Becker has not decided whether he will resign as chairman of the City Committee if appointed Collector.

Fine Streets Are Paved with Concrete

Although the big point in favor of paving with portland cement concrete is its moderate cost, wealthy home owners insist upon concrete primarily because of its attractive appearance.

Our free booklet, "Concrete Streets for Your Town," will tell you the whole story. Ask for your copy.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls, or answers by mail, cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

E. F.—Frank Rumbold is Adjutant-General of the Missouri National Guard. The State militia was called out during the railroad strike in the summer of 1922.

J. & G. K.—The plural of "spoonful" is "spoonfuls." In placing the possessive inflection upon else it is proper to say "somebody else's," although some prefer "somebody's else," meaning other than the person previously mentioned.

RED-TOP.—A paste for removing old paint or varnish coats is made of 5 parts sodium hydrate, 3 parts soluble soda glass, 6 parts flour paste, 4 parts water. To remove old enamel lay the articles horizontally in a vessel containing a concentrated solution of alum, and boil them. The solution should be just sufficient to cover the pieces. In about 25 minutes the old enamel will disintegrate and the articles can be polished with emery.

R. D. G.—Maj. Arthur B. Donnelly, who was killed in an automobile accident near Blue Ridge, Pa., July 29, 1919, was at one time Colonel of the First Regiment of the Missouri National Guard, which was mustered into the regular army, and he was later appointed Adjutant-General. He resigned this office and accepted his former title of Colonel in order to be eligible for service at the front and he served overseas as Brigadier-General of the Thirty-fifth Division.

A RESIDENT OF CARONDELET.—The first settlement at Carondelet was made in 1767, when Clement de Treget Delor, a native of France who had served as an officer in the French army, built a stone house at the foot of a rock bluff about 5½ miles south of the site of the St. Louis Courthouse. Gradually other settlers gathered around that place, and in 1804 the village which came into existence in that way contained 250 people. The inhabitants inclined to agriculture more than the neighboring village of St. Louis, who were mostly traders, and since the occupation of agriculture was not a remunerative one and they were less prosperous than their neighbors, this gave rise to the appellation of "Vide Poche," meaning "Empty Pocket," by which name the place was frequently called by the early settlers of St. Louis. The village was first named Prairie a Catalan after Louis Catalan. Later this was changed to Louisbourg, and in 1774 that was changed to Carondelet, the latter name being given in honor of Baron de Carondelet, who was at that time Governor-General of Louisiana. The village of Carondelet was incorporated by the County Court of St. Louis County in 1832, was incorporated as a city by legislative enactment on March 1, 1851, when it was divided into three wards, and James B. Walsh was the first Mayor of the city. Carondelet was annexed to and became a part of St. Louis in 1870.

RESIDENT.—Birth records for the city of St. Louis were started in July, 1870. No record is available for 1856 except possibly a church record, if you know he belonged to a church. Registration of births in cities are customarily also of record at the State capital, Bureau of Vital Statistics.

J. P. W.—It is not necessary for the executors of an estate undergoing administration in court to be present and sign the inventory of the estate at the meetings at which the appraisers affix their signatures. The executors could list the items to be inventoried and then sign the document after it had been approved by the appraisers.

LEGAL INFORMATION

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

IRENE.—A marriage license can be obtained at Chester, Ill.

SALLY.—You can garnishee the defendant's salary after you have gotten a judgment.

MRS. R.—If your husband left no will and no children you would be entitled to one-half of his property.

W. M. W.—It would probably be wise for the young man to obtain an order from the Circuit Court to change his name.

RAY S.—If you wish to find out if a certain article has been patented you only write to the manufacturer of the article, there is no other way.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnosis or treatment of individual cases will not be given.

"ANXIOUS.—Daily alcohol rubs, with gentle massage, followed by dusting with talcum powder, would perhaps aid in preventing wrinkles.

EDW. B.—There is no danger in a plastic operation when it is done by a duly qualified and recognized expert physician in this particular line of surgery. Beware of all others, both as to success and consequences.

BUD.—It might be beneficial to wash the surface of the head on which the hair is becoming thin, with carbolated soap once daily, as this is a mild skin stimulant, or mop on pure grain alcohol night and morning. See answer to Alta which appeared in this column on Friday, Nov. 20, for further information on the care of the scalp.

M. M. P.—Acute rhinitis is generally known as "a cold in the head." It is an acute catarrhal inflammation of the mucous membrane lining the nose and the cavities communicating with it, characterized by feverishness, a feeling of fullness and discomfort in the head, and attended with discharges of fluid, watery mucus, or muco-purulent in character. Chronic rhinitis is a chronic inflammation of the mucous membrane lining the nasal passages, with more or less alteration of structure, characterized by a sense of fullness, increased secretion and a perversion of the senses of smell and hearing. For the acute form the following should be of benefit: Eighty grains salicylate of soda, ½ ounce aromatic spirits of ammonia, ½ dram tincture of belladonna, enough choloform water to make 8 ounces. Mix well and take 1 tablespoonful in a wineglassful of water every 4 hours. For the chronic form of rhinitis the following is beneficial: Eight grains each of soda biborate and soda bicarbonate, 20 drops fluid extract of pinus condensis, 3 teaspoonfuls of glycerine, enough water added to make 4 ounces. Apply with an atomizer three or four times daily.

CHAPMAN WINS NEW DELAY IN EXECUTION

Obtains Writ of Habeas Corpus as Federal Prisoner—Hearing Set for Monday.

By the Associated Press.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 24.—Gerald Chapman, notorious bandit, has escaped death on the gallows at the State prison Dec. 3, to which he was sentenced when convicted of the murder of a New Britain policeman more than a year ago.

A writ of habeas corpus, sought on the ground that Chapman is still a Federal prisoner and cannot be put to death by the State of Connecticut until he has served his 25 years' sentence in Atlanta for mail robbery, was signed by Federal Judge Edwin S. Thomas yesterday.

The writ directs that Chapman be produced before Judge Thomas at State prison next Monday. Chapman's lawyers say the case will go to the United States Supreme Court if necessary.

Chapman, originally sentenced to die last June, obtained one reprieve in order to seek a new trial. His efforts in that direction failed. Gov. Trumbull has indicated that a second reprieve will be granted as a result of the habeas corpus proceedings.

Chapman is taking an active part in his fight for life. In arguments before Judge Thomas it was said that a flaw in the original writ upon which Chapman was brought to this State for trial was discovered by Chapman himself. Defense counsel said the writ was served on "Henry K. W. Scott, State Warden," rather than upon Scott in his capacity as a Federal agent.

The possibility of a presidential pardon for Chapman, as far as the mail robbery is concerned, in order that he may be executed, is under consideration at Washington. Attorney-General Sargent is inclined to the belief that a pardon is necessary in order to give the State jurisdiction.

The case was discussed by Sargent yesterday with Hugh Alcorn, State's Attorney, and George W. Cohen, Assistant Federal Attorney for Connecticut. Sargent later called on President Coolidge. The defense contends Chapman could refuse a pardon.

ARGENTINE CROP NEWS CAUSES 5C ADVANCE IN WHEAT

Strong Liverpool Market and Report of Large European Takings of Wheat Also Influences.

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Nov. 24.—Wheat ranged up widely on the local market today, influenced by 3¾d to 5¾d close at Liverpool, and more than 6c rise at Buenos Aires. Buying was especially started by reports that black rust had developed in the principal wheat areas of Pampas and Buenos Aires provinces, and that excessively wet, hot weather was prevailing in the central section of Argentina. Another report that all export offerings to Europe and North America since last night had been accepted added to the strength of the market. According to views expressed in some quarters, crop failures in many sections of Argentina would largely change the world supply and demand situation. On the other hand, enormous receipts of wheat in Canada were cited.

The close was sharply higher, but at some reaction from top. Report of export sales helped corn.

In the local cash grain market soft wheat was 1c to 3c higher. There was limited shipping demand for selections. The late market was slow. Hard was 1c to 3c higher. Premiums for cash wheat were down. Corn was ½c to 1c higher. Demand was good. Oats were ¼c to ½c higher and slow.

Wheat opened 3c higher on both December and May, the former soon selling over 4c net higher. May reacted some from highest. Liverpool wheat came 4¾c higher and Winnipeg early was 4c higher. Reports were current to effect that crop damage was spreading into the center of Argentine from the north. Corn here was fractionally higher influenced by wheat strength.

December wheat opened at $1.65 to $1.65⅝. May wheat, $1.62¼@1.62⅝. December corn 79c and May corn, 82⅛c.

The three Northwestern markets combined had 2976 cars of wheat, compared with 3010 a week ago and 3138 last year. Minneapolis receiving 341 cars, Duluth 297 and Winnipeg 2338.

Local wheat receipts which were 87,400 bushels, compared with 75,600 a week ago and 133,900 last year, included 39 cars local and 2 through. Corn receipts, 72 cars, were 64,400 bushels, compared with 77,000 a week ago and 79,800 last year, included 43 cars local and 3 through. Oat receipts, which were 42,000 bushels compared with 54,000 a week ago and 96,000 last year, included 9 cars local and 12 through. Hay receipts were 18 cars local and 4 through.

Primary receipts of wheat were 1,873,000 bushels, compared with 1,101,000 a week ago and 2,882,000 last year, corn receipts were 1,187,000 bushels, compared with 619,000 a week ago and 1,068,000 last year, oats receipts were 314,000 bushels, compared with 330,000 a week ago and 833,000 last year, wheat shipments were 1,434,000 bushels, compared with 819,000 a week ago and 1,921,000 last year, corn shipments were 322,000 bushels, compared with 360,000 a week ago and 224,000 last year. Oats shipments were 357,000 bushels, compared with 623,000 a week ago and 580,000 last year.

WIDE PRICE CHANGES IN WHEAT AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—The wild fluctuations of war times and a year ago were recalled by big swing of wheat values on the Board of Trade today.

Better weather reports from the Argentine caused some wheat selling late but prices maintained most of the early gain. The close was 3c to 5¼c higher, December $1.61⅞ to $1.62, old $1.61; new May $1.60⅝ to $1.60⅝; old $1.59 to $1.59¼. July $1.44⅛ to $1.44¼. Corn closed 1⅜c to 1¾c higher, December 74¼c to 74¾c, May 79½c to 79⅝c, July 80¼c. Oats were unchanged to ⅜c higher, December 38⅞c, May 43¼c, July 41⅝c. Lard closed 25c to 32½c higher. Local cash sales: 8000 bushels wheat, 153,000 corn, 51,000 oats, 6000 barley. The seaboard reported clearance sales of wheat estimated at 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 bushels, and corn 1,000,000 bushels.

Advances of more than 5 cents were quickly made early when Liverpool surprised the trade with a jump of 4½ to 6½ cents. When pondering over the big Liverpool price jump, shorts got another shock when Buenos Aires opened 5¼ to 5⅝ higher. Immediately there was a wild rush to buy, with shorts in a distinct panic. After an advance of 5¼ cents on the outside, realizing sales were encountered, but buying again broadened enough to prevent much of a set back. A mid-session new December was $1.63, old $1.61¾; new May $1.60⅝, old $1.59; July $1.43¾.

The bulge in Liverpool was due to Argentine news, to scarcity of nearby wheat and to good sales of parcels and cargo. The advance adjusted prices in the Canadian market to a North American basis. Excessive rains and spreading of black rust through wheat central part of Argentina, according to private advices, caused the Buenos Aires advance.

Winnipeg advised that cash demand was good there and offerings light. The seaboard reported liberal acceptances of offers abroad. The Minneapolis market is again at a shipping difference under Chicago and this may lead to selling of Minneapolis wheat for Chicago shipment. Milling demand was slow.

Corn was higher. Local buying and strength in wheat caused the advance early and then there was heavy purchases. May for a house believed to be buying for export. The amount mentioned is 1,000,000 bushels and tended to confirm recent intimations of a revival of export demand. At mid-session December was 78¾, May 79⅜, July 80⅝.

Oats were firmer with other grains. Cash houses offered hedges from December to May at 4¼ cents difference.

Provisions were higher with hogs.

Seasons Light at Winnipeg.

By the Associated Press.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 24.—Under the impetus of heavy trading and news of unfavorable crop conditions in Argentina, the Winnipeg wheat market today set new high records for the season's prices passing the $1.50 mark. At their highest points prices ranged from 6⅜ to 7¾ cents above Monday's closing figures. The close was strong with November at $1.50½, as compared with $1.44 yesterday.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 24.—Oats, December, 44⅝c; May, 47⅝c. Flax, December, $2.26½.

IRREGULAR MOVEMENT ON NEW YORK CURB

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The market on the Curb Exchange today was again highly irregular but strength developed in many issues after declines and there were many indications, observers said, that accumulation was in progress at the low levels that had been established in many issues. The oil stocks were well maintained, movting and some of the specialties trading in the same manner that they did Monday, some holding close to recently established high levels. Rumors of the strength in these features advancing more than a point, and South Penn, made a gain of 2 points, the supply of those stocks being scant after Monday's late reaction. Lion Oil continued its features in the miscellaneous oil group. Gulf Oil was close to its high level with trading around 84¾.

Many of the Industrials were under pressure during the greatest part of the day. Trade Dat resulted over a point on large trading. Refrigerator stocks at a point were weak. Kelvinator and Nizer both declined over a point. The radio stocks, after early declines, were in fair demand. Freshman rallying half a point from the lowest in the morning. Continental Baking "A" also sold off after an early advance. Nickel Plate moved with the rest of the list, yielding about one point.

Utilities were active trading in the public utility issues. American Superpower shares again were under pressure and Southern Cities Utilities, after falling over 3 points, recovered most of its loss, and United Light and Power "A" after advancing over 2 points, lost all of its gain. United Gas Improvement, which rose over 1 point in the early trading, had this advance turned into a [illegible] Power reacting.

The total Southern crop was estimated at 23,332,000 bushels compared with 30,173,000 last year, the decrease being attributed to a decline in the yield being at-ices Predominate at Close—Advance in Call Money to 5 Per Cent Exerts Influence — General List Lowest Since Reaction Started.

Issued Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

Correction of the technical position of the stock market went on today, carrying prices down sharply in various groups, and establishing the general list at the lowest levels since the reaction followed about a fortnight ago. There was a rather stiff rally late in the day as shorts, sensing the growing resistance to selling pressure, sought to cover commitments made earlier in the day. But throughout the session, the markets have been subjected to recurrent waves of selling which uncovered gross orders in goodly volume. The sharp advance in wheat prices and the slight set of the principal topic of conversation being the likely action on the local Federal Reserve Bank rediscount rate, this will be considered after the close tomorrow. The turn-over was roughly approximated at the 2,000,000-share figure and final changes were generally mixed, with declines, however, predominating.

General List Heavy.

Although the oils showed the greatest degree of resistance to selling pressure, the group was unable to show any appreciable progress. In fact the entire market displayed a tendency to sag as professionals pushed successive drives against the market leaders. Even the rails, which off fractionally but were not affected than the industrials. Allied Plate declined 3 points while the motions in the other carriers were largely fractional. The main feature of the bear drive was directed at Steel common, Chrysler Motor, General Motors, American Can and Studebaker and reached its height when the call money rate was advanced to 5 per cent from the renewal figure of 4½ per cent in the afternoon.

Early Rally Quickly Checked.

All the opening strong support was extended to the popular build issues and a fairly extensive rally took in progress for the greater part of the first hour. The initial rise, however, merely served to facilitate further speculative selling with the result that before long the early gains had been nullified and many stocks had been run down to new low levels for the current reaction. Liquidation of weakened accounts kept up as the session progressed, affecting particularly those industrial and utility descriptions that had been prominent in the recent bull demonstration.

Francs Lower.

Foreign exchanges were firm with the exception of French francs which dipped to a further new low of 3.86c, and Norwegian kroner, also lost more than 10 points. Gains in francs again was light, however.

Commodities Strong.

Heavy buying of wheat, sending the options up 3½ to over 5c a bushel, was one of the features of today's financial market. Unexpected strength at Liverpool, together with reports of increasing damage to the Argentine crops formed the basis for the movement in wheat. Corn and oats were forced to cover heavily. Other grains were fractionally higher in sympathy. The rise brought realizing sales, but demand was more than sufficient to take care of such offerings. Cotton made further progress on the advance, moving up 10 to 11 points.

The Darling of Destiny

by MILDRED BARBOUR

CHAPTER XVIII.

SUE sat for a long time, staring at the sheet of mauve notepaper in her hand, trying to think where and when she had seen that writing before.

Suddenly she sprang to her feet and sped up the stairs. Going to her room, she took from the drawer of her dresser the letter which she had found in the bag the mysterious woman had left with her on the train; she compared it with the note signed "Corinne," which Roger had dropped.

As far as her unpracticed eye could see, the handwritings were identical, although the other letter was not signed. The stationery was the same.

She reread the other letter.

As before, she could make nothing of its mysterious wording, but she was as sure as if an oracle had spoken that the same woman had written both letters, and that woman was Corinne de Verne.

It was puzzling; Sue felt herself caught again in a mystery which it was impossible to unravel, but the intuitive something which she invariably obeyed prompted her to put both letters away and wait for time or circumstances to work a solution.

Her discovery might mean something very valuable, she reasoned. One fact was clear, however, a letter apparently written by Corinne de Verne and worded with a veiled significance had been in the bag of a thief. Sue meant to find out somehow whether mere coincidence had placed it there, or whether there was some relationship existing between the actress whose friendship boded so ill for Roger, and the woman who had had in her possession the famous stolen necklace.

She was still pondering over the matter when Mrs. Blanchard sent her maid to make her ready for Mrs. Darlington's tea. Sue was rather amused by her aunt's pathetic delight over the invitation and her determination that Sue should not be late. When she thought of the delusion under which the haughty Mrs. Darlington was laboring when she extended the invitation, Sue was moved to giggles. With regard to Mrs. Darlington her conscience was quite untroubled, but she experienced a guilty pang or two over the deception she was practicing on her aunt; she had to think very hard of Charley Hinkamp, with his prominent front teeth and loud guffaws, to justify herself. Any subterfuge was permissible that spelled escape from Hinkamp as a prospective husband.

She was giving a last polish to her nails when the sight of her ringless hands awakened an uneasy thought.

If she were the fiancee of Alvin Teall, should she not have the ring? Would it not be the first thing that the other guests at tea would look for on the hand of a girl whose engagement had just been announced?

The more she thought about the situation, the more she realized what she had let herself in for by her unconsidered announcement that she was engaged to a man she had never seen. Then and there, she vowed to tell nothing but the truth, if ever she succeeded in extricating herself from this situation.

Her anticipation of trouble was fully realized at Mrs. Darlington's tea. She met a dozen or more strange girls, all smartly gowned, all ultra sophisticated, who regarded her with hostile eyes. Their attitude said plainly that she was an interloper who had captured the prize which they would have given their eyes for.

"Do tell us something about your fiance," they urged her, one after another. "Is he as deliciously wicked as he writes?" "Aren't you frightfully jealous of him, when women make such a fuss over him?" "Wasn't he really the hero of his last book, 'Wild Youth'?" "Do you suppose he really had all those experiences?"

Sue searched her brain wildly for convincing answers to the host of eager questions which were flung at her. Fortunately, her hesitation and her rising color were put down to the natural shyness of a young and inexperienced country girl who was embarrassed to find herself the center of interest.

"When is Mr. Teall returning from his world tour?" Mrs. Darlington asked finally.

Sue hesitated.

"I—if you don't mind—I promised not to tell."

"What a loyal little creature she is," the older woman laughed. "My dear, you teach us a good lesson—neither our husbands nor our fiances trust us, and they have good reason not to."

As soon as she could decently do so, Sue made an excuse to get away. By this time she was wishing heartily that she had named Tom Sheldon, or some other safe person, as her imaginary fiance. "Why," she asked herself despairingly, "did I ever pick out a celebrity for the object of my ruse?" She could not be entirely sorry, though, when she returned home and saw Mrs. Blanchard's complete satisfaction.

It was evident that her aunt saw the first faint promise of the fulfillment of her lifelong social ambition. Sue hadn't the heart to disillusion her, and she took a silent vow to make it up to her in some way.

On the following day, Sue made good her promise to Joan to visit the settlement house on the East Side. From Pennsylvania Station they took the elevated, and rode for what seemed hours to Sue. It was very hot and dusty, and the glare of the sunlight on brick walls was almost unbearable. When they finally descended from the train, Sue found herself in an entirely different world; the streets were narrow and cobble-stoned and filled with the noise of trucks and clanging surface cars. She was bewildered by the din and the heat and the dust, but Joan, looking as cool and fresh as always, seemed quite undisturbed.

She led Sue down narrow streets, flanked by queer untidy little shops. Dirty half-nude children played in the streets, and from the windows above the shops equally unkempt women called to one another in shrill foreign voices.

"Is it quite safe for you here, Joan?" Sue asked. "I should be terrified to come down here alone."

"But everyone knows me here," Joan explained. "I have been doing this work for years. They like me, and trust me, and are really pathetically grateful for the little I have been able to do for them. I believe that a great deal of the future of America lies right here; this section is the melting pot. If we had real perception, and a real sense of obligation, we could make anything we chose out of these new perspective citizens of ours; they are so eager and naive. I find very few who are hostile—but, there, I am preaching again; you must forgive me. I'm afraid I bore you frightfully."

Before Sue could protest, Joan took her arm and directed her up a flight of narrow stone steps which led to a quaint old doorway in the front of a dingy, red-brick house.

"We are going to get better quarters some day," Joan explained; "but we are managing to do pretty good work, even in this small place."

They stepped into a dark, cool hallway. On one side Sue caught a glimpse of a long room, furnished only with folding chairs and a decrepit piano. A woman was seated at the latter, playing a dance air, and a group of ragged urchins, a little more clean than the ones who were playing on the street, were going gravely through a series of gyrations.

"We have a dancing class here every morning," explained Joan. "It takes the children off the streets. Music and dancing are age-old heritages of these foreign people. There is a final appeal to gather them into our little fold here. Music is inevitable and invincible. Come, let's have a bit of lunch in our cafeteria, then I'll show you about the place."

She drew Sue into a room on the opposite side of the hall, set with neat little glass-top tables. From a long counter in the rear, presided over by a pretty girl with a white apron, there arose appetizing scents. A young man was leaning on the counter, chatting with the girl, who was laughing and making good use of her eyes.

The young man, noticing the girl's change of expression at Joan's entrance, swung around quickly. He was tall and blond, and carried himself with easy, careless grace; he had dazzling gray eyes, that Sue learned later were always smiling; his mouth was humorous, too, and curved up at one corner, giving his face a half amused, half cynical expression. He wore a soft shirt opened at the throat, with sleeves that had obviously been torn off above the elbow for comfort. Both it and his shabby trousers were stained with various paints.

"Hello, Miss Blanchard," he greeted Joan. "I was just hanging around waiting for you. Tilly said you were likely to show up soon."

"I think you were enduring my absence with fortitude at least," Joan smiled at the girl behind the counter, who blushed and lowered her eyes. "Any trouble Jerry."

"Always trouble when I don't see you," he told her audaciously.

Joan shook her head reprovingly.

"You're quite hopeless; will you never be serious? I brought my young cousin here to show her the good results of my uplift work, and here, the first thing, she sees my worst failure."

"I don't want to be uplifted," he told her with twinkling eyes. "I am only a poor, crazy artist; but I glory in my poverty and my craziness. But you might at least introduce me, and I will promise not to spoil any illusions about your work."

"This is Jerry MacDonald. He is an artist and a genius, if he'd only learn to take his work seriously. He has a studio in the attic of the house next door, and he comes here ostensibly to eat at our cafeteria and make fun of our work, but really to flirt with Tilly. This is my little cousin from Virginia, Jerry, the one I was telling you about. You must be very careful not to shock her."

The artist took Sue's hand in a grip that almost made her wince. His keen grey eyes met hers frankly, and she had the distinct sensation of being instantly analyzed and catalogued.

"So this is the inexperienced little girl from the country," his eyes were twinkling. "Delighted to meet you." He turned to Joan. "If I promise to be very good, may I take her up to the famous studio under the eaves? I can fancy her hair against that bit of old blue velvet I picked up at the sale the other day. It makes my fingers itch for a palette and a brush."

"Jerry, I believe you are able to dispense with models, simply because you flatter girls into posing for you."

"Models dispense with me pretty quick because of this," he put his hand in his hip pocket and drew it out again, ruefully revealing several small pieces of silver. "I'm broke, but I'm happy, and Tilly just gave me a cup of coffee in exchange for a kiss."

The girl blushed furiously, but Joan laughed and patted her hand.

"Never mind, Tilly, Jerry is the biggest tease I know."

"With which excellent recommendation I will now carry off your young cousin." He took Sue's arm and guided her to the street. "I'm taking you to a messy place," he told her, "but you may get a thrill out of it yet; all the criminals in New York who are trying to get away from the cops choose my roof as a means of escape. I am treated to the third act of a melodrama almost every day. Come on, let us see what happens."

The Real Makers of Beauty as Nell Br[own] Sees

THEY aren't girls in white uniforms with deeply marcelled hair of bright colors that are rather astonishing in hair, with hands perfectly manicured, who ask you "where you come from, and how long you've been in town, and will you have a hot olive oil treatment, for your hair is really in terrible shape, and you should have a 'facial,' for your skin needs toning up the worst way, and you should take home a jar of their skin food, which is 'reely' different from any other, and would you wish to make an appointment for next week?"

No, not those girls—though I admit they are a restful little crew once in a while when you are very tired of thinking, of washing your own face and hair, have some time to waste, and want to be amused and waited upon. When you are in a sort of Roman frame of mind.

No—the real beauty makers are an invisible people. And they work in mysterious ways. For Beauty herself is a mysterious lady—a quantity that is hard to put your little finger right down upon and say, "This is she, and no other!" Here they are:

Sweet Sleep, a lady without compare, is one of the magicians—the "Hushabye Lady," with "poppies that hang from her head to her feet," with moonshine in her veins and thoughts like dark, velvet pansies, a voice like a rumor of a sigh, and a hand like a mother bird's wing. SHE takes away wrinkles.

Cool Water (Cold, her sister, if she isn't a naiad, a sprite, a child of snow and ice, and verve of the high places where the snow flowers and the blue sky keep company, small bells and a caress like sharp kisses, of the color of the Alpine flowers for your play with her!

DO'S AND DON'TS —FOR— BUSINESS WOMEN

LOANS: DON'T BE THE BANK.

DON'T be the bank that does not charge interest.

Or don't be the hard-as-nails sort who wouldn't lend a penny if it would save a hungry child from starvation or a sick mother from death.

Some years ago, a group of reporters just graduated from a school of journalism, and ready to take their jobs as "cubs" on metropolitan newspapers, were warned by an old newspaper man against the pernicious habit of borrowing and lending money.

"The first day you enter the office," the veteran newspaper man said, "some one will ask to borrow a dollar from you. But after you are bitten a few times, you will learn!

"Lending money," he continued, "except in rare instances does not preserve friendship. Frequently it sunders old ties. You are popular only at the moment of making the loan. When the time comes for payment, you are about as welcome as Shylock. The only wise course for men and women in business," he concluded, "is neither to borrow nor lend."

How many times the members of that little group have recalled those wise words, as they have practiced their profession all over the world, from Seattle to Simferopol!

The dollar loans, which men and women make on Friday, to tide them over until Saturday's pay-day, are the most frequent and the least necessary.

To exceed one's income, by a dollar a week, is ridiculous and childish. But to exceed one's income by fifty or even one hundred dollars, some week—yes, that may be unavoidable and even wise. Sudden sickness, hospital bills, business ventures requiring capital, investment opportunities, or even a wisely-planned recreational trip—all these might easily form the basis of a loan. Education, too, for the younger brother or sister, or one's offspring, frequently brings unexpected need for additional funds.

But why borrow from friends? Banks exist for this very purpose of "selling" the use of money, the same as department stores sell shoes and neckties. Remember, the person who tries to borrow from a friend, in order to avoid paying interest on the loan, is not any too "safe" when it comes to paying back the principal.

Take the middle course. Don't be known as the "easy mark" of your organization, from whom any one can get money at any time. Be just as watchful, too, not to refuse aid in a genuine financial emergency. Lend the hundred dollars, some day if you need to and can. But the "dollar-till-payday," never!

Three-Minute Journeys

By Temple Manning

Where Men Wear Flowers in Their Ears.

POLYNESIA has long been a land of dreams and longings to most people of Western lands. Poets and artists have combined to fill our imagination with vague dreams of beauty. Lands of coral and tropical foliage, of brilliant birds and beautiful people with lithe, supple brown bodies.

The visitors to these islands of the Pacific are usually surprised to find the natives dressed in manufactured cloths. They have adopted the manufactured cotton prints of Western civilizations, although they wear them in a manner all their own. They drape these strips of material about their bodies, fastened under one armpit, just as they wore the tapa of their own manufacture, in years gone by.

The men have adopted the trousers of civilization as a general rule, although they wear little or nothing else. But they retain the custom of wearing wreaths of flowers about their heads or a flower behind the ear.

The native population has been sadly thinned out of late years. Smallpox and tuberculosis have wiped out whole tribes. Within a year a tribe of 400 was left with two survivors to commemorate the memory of a once prosperous community.

This rapidly vanishing people have to a high degree the virtues we esteem in civilized communities. They are loyal, generous, friendly, honest. They have a high conception of justice and honor, and an exceptional capacity for thought and imaginative creation.

The most important staple food of the Polynesians is "poipoi," a sticky, yeasty, doughy substance, made from the root of the taro. The roots are pounded into a paste and then baked somewhat. It is finally served, wrapped in the green leaves of the rauti plant.

Breadfruit is another of the staple foods and there has long been a custom among the Polynesians of planting a breadtree on the birth of each child, that there may be food enough for him.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Making Money at Home.

A married friend who was once a school teacher tells me she makes quite a bit of pin money by coaching backward children of the neighborhood in branches that are difficult for them. The children pay so much a week and come to her on Saturdays or after school hours. Many little pretties are bought for her own children with this extra money so easily earned.

Looking for Trees

To you 'tis nothing but a tree.
'Tis safety, home and food to me.
—Paddy the Beaver.

BEFORE lumbermen begin cutting down trees they send a man to look the land over and judge as nearly as he can how many trees there are to be cut, and just where it will be best to begin cutting, and where the camp for the men shall be built, and where roads shall be cut. These and other important things have to be decided by looking the land over before any work is done.

Peter Rabbit found Paddy the Beaver doing the very same thing. Yes, sir, he found him far above his pond wandering about some distance from the Laughing Brook, farther than Peter had seen him before.

"Hello!" exclaimed Peter, looking the surprise he felt. "I didn't suppose you ever got more than a jump or two away from the water. I thought you didn't consider it safe to be away from the water."

"I haven't said that I consider it safe now, have I?" retorted Paddy.

"No-o," replied Peter slowly. "But if you didn't consider it safe you wouldn't be here, would you?"

"That depends," replied Paddy.

"What does it depend on?" demanded Peter.

"On whether or not what I am interested in is near the water," said Paddy.

Peter thought this over for a minute, trying to think what it could be that Paddy was interested in. But he had to give up and ask. "What is it you are interested in?" he demanded bluntly.

"Trees," replied Paddy briefly.

Peter waited for Paddy to explain further, but Paddy didn't. Finally curiosity got the best of Peter and he asked why Paddy was particularly interested in trees.

Paddy looked at Peter as if he thought Peter might be joking in asking such a question. But curiosity fairly stuck out of the eyes of Peter. It was clear that he really didn't understand why Paddy should be specially interested in trees. "Peter Rabbit, knowing me as long as you have, how can you ask such a silly question?" said he, and looked quite disgusted. "Trees, the right kinds of trees, are the most important things in my life. They furnish me nearly all of my food. They give me safety."

"I haven't said that I consider it safe now, have I?" retorted Paddy.

"Safety!" exclaimed Peter. "How do they give you safety? You don't climb and you don't hide in hollow trees, so how do they give you safety I would like t know?"

Paddy the Beaver looked more disgusted than ever. "I have known always that you are full of curiosity, Peter," said he, "but never before did I think you stupid. Why don't you do a little thinking? If it were not for trees how would I built my dam? How would I build my house? Tell me that, Peter Rabbit."

As usual when puzzled Peter scratched a long ear with a long hind leg. He wabbled his wabbly little nose very fast. "That's so," said he after a bit. "That's so. I hadn't thought of that. But why couldn't you live in a hole in the bank the way Little Joe Otter does?"

"I could if the water was deep enough and there were food trees growing near enough to the water for me to get plenty to eat safely. In some places in the Far North there are Beavers living in just that way. They are called Bank Beavers. They do not build houses and they do not build dams. But the water has to be deep, so deep that it cannot freeze to the bottom in winter. I couldn't possibly live that way here in the Laughing Brook. I must have a pond, and to have a pond I must have a dam, and to have a dam I must have trees. And this reminds me that I cannot waste time. I must be looking for trees."

Better and Blonder Blondes.

Blonds are back in the limelight if indeed, they were ever out of it. The hair dressers hold that blond tresses go much better with the present vogue for pastel shades in evening frocks than do the darker locks. Consequently, they are putting patrons through elaborate shampoos to bring out the lighter tones of the hair or are tinting the locks to a golden hue.

To Raise Basic Minimum of Attendance.

Schools are crowded to the utmost throughout the Philippine Islands except in some Mohammedan communities, and attendance is increasing even there. Three years is the average time spent in the public schools. In his annual message at the opening of the Philippine Legislature, Governor-General Wood stated that special effort had been made for the improvement of the primary and intermediate schools, where 95½ per cent of the children receive their education. He recommended that four years be made the basic minimum of attendance, and that the minimum be raised to five years as soon as possible.

A Clean Cut.

A sharp knife is better for trimming the ends of flowers than scissors as scissors are inclined to squeeze the stems so that they do not take up the water well.

How Good It Smelled!

When golden fields first gave their harvest to the plow, with honest heart the Pilgrim gave expression to Thanksgiving. And well he might when mindful of a table that groaned with its burden of earthly consolation. For how many Pilgrim Fathers, homeward bound, were greeted at their door-step by the tempting breath of viands beyond King George's purchase!

Give your own Thanksgiving pies the rich, tender crusts you will get with this Enterprise recipe.

ENTERPRISE PIE CRUST
1—2—3 Pie Crust
1 cup ENTERPRISE Flour
2 rounded tablespoons lard
3 tablespoons cold water
¼ teaspoon salt
Sift together the dry ingredients thoroughly. Work in lard with edge of tablespoon. Moisten to a dough with cold water. Put lightly on floured board and roll thin ready for use. This will make one two-crust pie.

What food that was! How good it smelled! Mince-meat—wild turkey—pumpkins—Indian corn—and pies and pastries made of flour milled from wheat grown rich in the virgin breast of the Earth. Wheat that will make such baking is scarce today. But only the finest hard wheat—rich in gluten—is used today for Valier's Enterprise Flour. It costs a premium—but it's worth it. It gives Enterprise the abundance of gluten strength that means smooth, even texture—dependable rising quality—and full, delicious flavor in everything you bake.

The Man on the Sandbox

by L. C. Davis

HE'S A BEAR.

I NOTICE in the papers where Red Grange has signed to be a Bear
And play in Windy City;
Where, in one game he hopes to get
Some thirty thousand dollars net,
Then he'll be sitting pretty.

He'll clean up all the football
jack,
Then at the movies take a crack
And raise a lot of thunder.
At forward passing custard pies,
To soak some guy between the eyes,
He ought to be a wonder.

More power to the mighty Red,
Who will not have to use his head
In cleaning up the boodle.
In chasing the elusive dough,
It seems the educated toe,
Is mightier than the noodle.

TOO TRUE.

The pro football promoters in Chicago who are counting on an $80,000 gate on Turkey Day are counting their turkeys before they are hatched.

See where a labor union has drafted a bill asking for an increase in pay for jurymen. We hope there will be no strike. Can you imagine any hard-working yeggman being sent up for ten years by a scab jury?

After cleaning up in the North Red Grange plans to follow the swallow and the money down to Florida.

See where spats are becoming quite popular. But the monocle is still confined to English character actors.

Spats are practical and serve a purpose. But a monocle is always falling out with the owner which gives him a cock-eyed view of life.

Furthermore, the monocle is not a habit easily acquired. You gotta be born to it. Just like "bah jove" and "cheerio."

Henry Ford has summoned the champion fiddler of Maine to play before him. Leaving old King Cole still two up on Henry.

The man on the sandbox says the only sure way to end war is not to start one.

About the only ones really in favor of wars are the professional warriors. They live by the sword, but they don't perish by it. They let Private George do it.

Having a representative in the President's Cabinet is no novelty to St. Louis. But the war portfolio is getting up toward the top shelf, as the feller says.

Col. Mitchell will rest his case this week and the Government will probably rest the following week and then we'll all take a rest.
